HON. J. W. DOLAN.

The press generally throughout this senatorial district have expressed their preference for Hon. James W. Dolan, of Red Willow county, for State Senator. The Pioneer has not heretofore expressed a preference for any one—neither has it any yet candidates for any of the offices to be voted for this fall. It has been the province of the Pioneer to build up Dundy county and its people; and as our people are mostly new settlers, we feel it our duty to express our opinion in regard to who is fit to serve them in both branches of our state legislature, as well as state and county offices. The gentleman whose name appears at the head of this article is a resident of Red Willow county, long a resident of the state, and one whose interests have been identified with not only his own county, but with western Nebraska generally. He has already served the people of this district two terms in the state senate at Lincoln. His popularity for honesty and for hard labor in behalf of his constituents has been favorably spoken of throughout the state. No charge of his being bribed by any moneyed corporation has ever been intimated, and no fault has ever been found by his constituents against his efforts to maintain their interests. We have no intimate personal acquaintance with Mr. Dolan, but have known him from reputation for the past five years, and our position has been such during that time that if anything against either his private or public career should have been mentioned, we surely would have heard it. There may be other good men in the district, who are aspirants for the same position, who they are we do not know, but we do know that if J. W. Dolan procures the nomination and he is elected (which there is no doubt of) the citizens of Dundy county will be represented by an able and honest senator whose great aim will be to serve his constituency in everything which is right and to their interests.—Benkelman Pioneer.

The Prohibition Convention.

Agreeably to call, about a dozen gentlemen met at the court house on Saturday last, W. O. Norval, of McCook called the meeting to order, whereupon C. T. Livermore was elected chairman, and I. T. Birdsall of Valley Grange, secretary. Considerable speaking was indulged in, mostly to the effect that the grand old republican party was equal to the occasion and that a new party was not needed to accomplish prohibition. Among those who spoke in this strain were Judge E. S. Hill, S. R. Smith, Rev. C. S. Harrison and Ora Clark. Rev. J. Leonard, Messrs. Norval, Livermore, Birdsall and one or two others thought differently and proceeded to elect five delegates to the prohibition state convention as follows: C. T. Livermore, I. T. Birdsall, W. O. Norval, J. A. Taylor and —McGrue. The following county central committee was then chosen: Willow Grove—W. O. Norval. Red Willow—J. A. Taylor. Valley Grange—I. T. Birdsall. Indianola—C. T. Livermore. Driftwood—Lewis Faus. East Valley—E. T. Ellis.

On motion the committee was empowered to fill the balance with one member from each precinct in the county not already named.—Indianola Courier.
