Elsewhere in this issue we publish the premiums offered, etc. The class, of necessity, is in the form of sweepstakes.

The Probst Bros. of the City Bakery desire to call particular attention to some plain facts that may not be generally known to the public. Firstly, they not only sell MORE (18) loaves of bread for One Dollar, but their loaves are HEAVIER, than any other bakery in the city. Secondly, while they run their bread wagon but once a day, in the morning, there bread is always fresh from the oven.

Danbury Times: James Minnear got into a den of rattle snakes a short time ago, and for the space of an hour must have had a lively time, as he dispatched no less than 35 of the venomous reptiles in that time. He was armed with a club, and corn knife, and after the battle counted eight heads hanging to his boot legs. Strange to say, Jim came out unscathed. He says one such encounter is sufficient for a life time.

The time for holding the county fair is rapidly approaching, and every effort in its behalf should be made now. We desire particularly to suggest to the ladies of the county the advisability and desirability of their lending Mrs. I. J. Starbuck, superintendent of the fine art department, their every assistance, in order that that department may present a fair showing of the skill, ingenuity and taste of the ladies of this county. Your exhibits will be cared for and protected. Bring them along and thus add a very important item of success to the fair.

A change of tactics. During the past three years it has been S. L. Green's particular delight to antagonize THE TRIBUNE, both in his official capacity and in private, though he claims the name of republican. Notwithstanding this opposition, THE TRIBUNE has increased in popularity. This fact seems to have excited his striker to a frenzy. He attempts to do by violence what his smoother partner's opposition of years has failed to accomplish. This latter method will succeed no better than the other, but will, like a boomerang, rebound upon its author.

It is at one and the same time amusing and disagreeable to be copied and imitated by inexperienced competitors in the job work line. Evidence of this unfortunate fact is on our table, in the form of a letter from an irate fraternal gentleman of the Hayes Centre, Neb., News, informing us in curtly language that some alleged letter heads, purporting to be the product of THE TRIBUNE job department, are at the Centre, subject to our orders. As the specimen sent of the work contains four glaring errors, and is the offspring of our Main Avenue contempt, we refrain from further remarks, hoping that Bro. Peters will be more considerate of our feelings in the future.

At a meeting of the Co-operative Library Association held at the school house, Tuesday evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing term: President, J. B. Meserve; Vice President, Dr. B. B. Davis; Secretary and Treasurer, H. T. Anderson. Thos. Colfer, Esq., and H. Trowbridge were also chosen directors, they in conjunction with the officers composing the Board of Directors. The above-named board, together with J. S. LeHew, were selected to draft constitution and by-laws for the direction and governance of the association, they to report at a meeting to be held at the same place of assembly, next Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock, mountain time, when it is hoped and desired that a large membership will be present. Over $300 have already been subscribed by our generous citizens toward the furtherance of this commendable enterprise, which is now on a firm footing and an assured fact. Remember the meeting next Monday evening, and be present.

BE ECONOMICAL.

The Public School Savings Bank of McCook, Nebraska.

The School Board of this city at its last meeting adopted the system of school banking, and appointed a committee to prepare necessary rules and regulations. A statement of the considerations which led to its adoption, will at once meet with popular appreciation. The great and gratifying changes which have brought about the progress and achievements of the present age are, for the most part, the result of the education of the masses. The methods of developing the nature of the young were never so normal. Instruction in one important virtue, however, has been ignored in the system of popular education. Savings by which is meant the excess of receipts over expenses, is the chief means of increase of all kinds of wealth. To husband one's resources is a condition of successful living. The object of the School Savings Bank is to train children into a proper estimate of the value of time and money. The small sums which fall into their hands are not associated with value but are mostly devoted to useless and often injurious purposes. Wise economy by all men, has been regarded as the basis of the highest prosperity. Its inculcation should begin earlier than twenty-one years. The teaching of this practical economy in connection with the early instruction of children has engaged the attention of eminent European educators and statesmen for more than half a century. More than one hundred thousand schools in Europe have the system of banking. So successful and gratifying have been the results that our own country is looking into the matter with much interest. The National Bureau of Education has already issued circulars in relation to it, and a few eastern schools have it in satisfactory operation. Those who are informed in the premises have confidence that its introduction will be rapid and widespread till every important school in America will enjoy and exhibit its beneficent results. This city is doubtless the first to inaugurate it in the west. The innovation will be watched with interest, but under the careful attention of the official management of the school and the co-operation of parents, its merits will speedily be demonstrated. The mode of operation may be described in a few words. Every Monday morning at roll call, each pupil names the amount of savings to be deposited, passes it to the teacher, receives credit on the Roll Book and also upon the weekly card with which pupil depositor is provided. If nothing is saved, the pupil answers "no"—a mark to that effect being entered on the roll. No extra book is required by the teacher, the ordinary roll book sufficing for all purposes. The whole amount is then placed in the hands of the principal who in a special book provided for the purpose, gives due credit to each pupil for his savings. After the close of the schools in the afternoon he (the principal) places the total amount in the bank in the usual manner and receives credit for the same. Once a month he furnishes to the bank an individual list of the depositors to be recorded in the journal of the bank and entered in the pass book, with which each pupil is provided. These are the chief features of the system. Necessary details being left to the determination of the teachers and discretion of the school board. It will be observed that the pupil has thus opened a personal account at the bank, and that sufficient checks and balances are provided to give all reasonable security. The First National Bank of this city has kindly consented to open an account with the school and give six percent interest for not less than three months time. It is hoped that a beginning can be made on the first of next month.

"MOSTISM."

It may be possible for S. L. Green, though his chosen minion of violence to make an unprovoked, cowardly personal attack upon the editor of this paper, and that, too, under the most dastardly circumstances that ever disgraced a tough-ridden community, as was that made by one, A. M. Kelley, last Friday morning; but he should not for one moment entertain the idea that such a ruffianly course ever answered an argument or changed a fact, or that his chances for election to assembly are thereby improved. The people of Red Willow county, and Northwestern Kansas, as well, know the records of these two worthies, and will show their disapproval of such border toughism by relegating Mr. Green to the seclusion of private life, which he richly deserves, as the course he is pursuing, coupled with reputation (?) and an utter lack of the qualities of a representative, indicate.

R. A. Cole, Merchant Tailor.

TO THE PEOPLE: I have received, complete in every line, my new fall stock, and assure to all who call upon me, fine goods, elegant fits, at very reasonable prices. Drop in and be convinced. R. A. Cole, first door west of Citizens Bank, Dennison street.

Register G. L. Laws and daughter, Miss Gertrude, went down to Lincoln, Tuesday evening, where Miss Gertrude will pursue her studies in the State University.

Dr. Z. L. Kay went up to Trenton, Sunday noon, to see Mrs. C. N. Peck, who has been dangerously ill, the doctor being a consulting physician in the case. Mrs. Kay accompanied him.

E. E. Lowman goes, this week or the first of next, to St. Louis to participate in the Knights Templar convocation, which opens there on Monday. He will also visit other points during his absence.

Conductor Hugh McGinn left, yesterday morning, on an extended visit east. He will visit his old home in New York state, and a brother, whom he has not seen for years, in Vermont.

James C. Drury returned, Saturday noon on No. 39, from Chicago, and has taken up his residence on his farm a few miles north of the city. Mr. Drury expects his family to join him in due time.

Geo. Roper returned, Monday evening, from his visit to Crete and Lincoln. He reports the state fair, now in progress at the Capital, as simply immense, and worth going a thousand miles to see.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Ballard returned, this morning, from McCook, where Mr. Ballard has charge of a stock of goods. Mrs. Ballard will remain here while Mr. B. goes back to attend his business.—Gazette-Journal.

Messrs. P. Penner and P. Blatt, of McCook, were at the Centre, Monday. The former looking after the interests of his harness shop; the latter is proprietor of the McCook bottling works.—Hayes Centre News.

Joseph A. Snyder, of McCook, called on Monday and dropped $125 into our empty cash box. While here Mr. S. let the contract to Geo. Hughes for the construction of a frame house 16x26 on his farm northeast of town.—Arapahoe Mirror.

Call at THE TRIBUNE office for cheap stationery, pen holders, pens.

Rev. W. S. Wheeler, of the M. E. Church, went, Monday, to attend annual conference of this district.

Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Hunt, Miss Dora and one of the smaller children left for Atchison, Kansas, yesterday morning. We understand that Miss Dora will attend school at Atchison, this winter. The others will be absent some little time on a visit to old friends.

William Coleman went down to Lincoln, Tuesday evening, armed with 5,000 circulars, with which he will enlighten the visitors to the State fair concerning Red Willow county. Mr. Coleman is indefatigable in his work, sparing neither time nor money in his efforts to advertise this county.

A. E. Merritt, the Gilman immigration agent, arrived in town, the latter part of last week, with a party of land seekers from Illinois. Mr. Merritt informs us that the party that left Leoria, Ill., numbered sixty detachments from which gradually straggled off at different points along the "Q" to this station. Two or three other cheap excursions will follow, during the fall.

Last Thursday while driving cattle, B. E. Ashton met with an accident that might have cost him his life, had it not been for the prompt interference of little Sid. Wm. Kendall's bull became unruly and turned on him, knocking him down and goring him in a frightful manner. At present writing he is resting easy.—Danbury Times.

From William Coleman, who returned on Sunday noon last, from the Iowa State Fair, we learn that the exhibits made by him at that fair, of farm products from Red Willow county, were absolutely the finest on the grounds, and so pronounced by the hundreds who saw them, and that the only thing that stood in the way of his returning home with at least seven blue ribbons, was the fact, an unfortunate one, indeed, that he did not have enough of each article to properly enter them for competition under the rules of the fair which required one-half bushel of grain, etc., in each exhibit. One large head of cabbage, Mr. Coleman avers, was lifted by at least two thousand astonished Iowans, many of whom stoutly insisted that it must be loaded with lead. While the rye and oats and husked corn were objects of especial attention and praise. These were sent by J. F. Helm, of Red Willow. A bucket of Red Willow county soil was also with the display, and it was pronounced equal to any Iowa soil. Altogether, Mr. Coleman feels that a most favorable impression was created, one that will bring many desirable and well-to-do settlers to our county. Particular interest centered on the specimen of corn on the stalk, which composed part of the display. It stood over thirteen feet high, while the highest shown from Iowa was about ten feet. Epitomizing, Red Willow county at the Iowa State fair took the cake, bakery and appurtenances.
