Cook Feed Mill. THE TRIBUNE has been taking a fraternal interest in the "Topics of the Times' department of the Lincoln Journal since Calhoun's voluntary abdication and the ascension of Jay to the tripod. That interest has at times assumed a roseate coloring perforce of a reciprocal attention, occasional, epithetic, uncomplimentary, given this humble and modest rural contemporary by the only great, etc. But now our cup of misery runneth over. Lackaday, in an unguarded moment, the "seissor fiend" entered Jay's literary "posy patch," ravishing it of a few select flowers, somewhat withered, to be sure, with age and use, but flowers withal, for all their frailty, failing in the premises to attach the proper credit. This has aroused the righteous indignation of this literary god, who, after making his wonted personalities, charges gross plagiaristic tendencies, which prompts us to remark in the language of Lamb: "To touch a soul to the quick: to wear and weary a life till it is ready to drop, and then step in with mortal instru-
