

The McCook Tribune.

SUPPLEMENT.

McCOOK, RED WILLOW CO., NEB., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1886.

BOX ELDER BLOSSOMS.

It looks quite like spring.

Here we are, just thawed out of a snow bank.

Elder Maddox spent the Sabbath hereabouts last week.

J. B. Piper took a trip to Alma, last week, and took in the storm at Indianola.

We learn that Mrs. Turner is on the sick list this week.

The winter term of school at Box Elder commenced Nov. 29th, with N. J. Chrysler as teacher.

Rev. J. B. Piper filled the M. E. pulpit, at Box Elder, last Sunday morning and evening.

Rev. Chapin closed his meetings here on Wednesday last, on account of the condition of the roads. He will commence again on Monday, Nov. 29th.

Mrs. I. J. Starbuck, of McCook, was visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Weygint, the latter part of the week.

A huge wave of pleasant memories come over us as we hear Joe Stephens' familiar ha, ha, ha, and Jim Kinghorn's te, he, he.

The Box Elder literary society is still prosperous, and is becoming quite an interesting affair. No doubt much talent will be brought forth and polished, that would otherwise lie dormant.

The M. E. Sunday School of this place still continues to be well attended by diligent scholars and zealous teachers, a fact which we are happy to note. For we believe that a community that can sustain a good live Sunday school, will never sink into oblivion.

PROSPECT PARK.

Fine weather.

Have you seen Dillon's new sled?

The lake at the Park is not frozen over.

Be sure and attend the oyster supper, Dec. 8.

Bro. Gaston and wife are on a visit to their daughter.

Alton Wickwire has returned from a visit to Wm. Relp's.

Mrs. R. M. Wade is suffering with an attack of rheumatism.

If you get lonesome, call on Jim Kane and spend a leisure hour.

The Prospect Park Sunday School is a grand success. A full house every Sunday.

R. M. Wade is building a stable for the accommodation of the preacher's horses.

Mr. Pade was on his claim, Sunday. He intends to make it his permanent home in the near future.

Miss Josie Menard was the guest of Miss Selia Widgeon, for a few days, last week. It was a pleasant time, long to be remembered.

There will be an oyster supper for the benefit of the Rev. John Morris, at the residence of Squire R. M. Wade, at Prospect Park, Wednesday evening, Dec. 8th, 1886. A worthy cause. A cordial invitation is extended to all. No pains will be spared to make it a pleasant time.

ESTRAY NOTICE.

From my premises, southeast of McCook, 3 two-year-old heifers, branded with a bar on each shoulder and hip, and a cross on jaw. A liberal reward will be paid for their return or for information leading to their recovery.
JOHN EVERTS.

TOWN. 4, RANGE 30.

John McCotter has proved up on his claim.

J. W. Corner has disposed of his tree claim. Consideration, $550 cash.

Wm. Coleman has threshed his oats. It yielded nearly fifty bushels per acre, and is of an excellent quality.

M. F. Horrell is getting in his best licks, this fine weather, trying to fill that new corn crib of his.

Robert Moore has threshed his wheat. He had 345 bushels. Yielded about 18 bushels per acre, and is of fine quality.

M. H. Cole bought a bran new set of harness, which he intends using on that spanking span of blacks he purchased some time ago.

Chas. Chilcote and wife from Washington, Iowa, have rented George Foster's farm. They are well pleased with the country, and contemplate making this their future home. We bid them welcome.

Peter Groves of Newton, Iowa, drove out through this town, last Friday, and he was so well pleased with the country, that he purchased a farm at once, about 12 miles northwest of McCook, paying cash therefor.

Have you heard from the great Corn Show, held in connection with the fat stock show in Chicago, from Nov. 8th to 19th? We have. Illinois takes the lead with 73 entries, while Nebraska is right on her heels with 75 entries. Hurrah for Nebraska! yells a GRANGER.

In the recent "permeious political activity" putterings of Grover Cleveland we have the measure of the administration to a nicety. It will be recalled that the president, sometime since, issued a circular threatening to suspend any federal officer who participated in politics. Under that order he suspended two United States district attorneys, Benton of Missouri, was a democrat, and Stone of Pennsylvania, a republican. Recently, President Cleveland reinstated Benton. Thereupon Stone, whose case was identically the same, applied for reinstatement. President Cleveland refuses Stone's application. Grover takes the bakery in making cute discriminations, in distinguishing the subtle difference between tweedledee and tweedledum. He has the distinction, too, of being about the only man in the nation who sees the lack of exact identity in the cases. In other words, Col. Stone has chased the administration up a stump, beautifully.

"YOUNG man," says the Boston Post, "If you would be wise and successful, strive to go through life seeing, but not too much seen; hearing, but not too much heard; knowing, but not too much known. Have grit, but not too much gall; be fly, and not too fresh."
