THE Senate bill for the allotment of lands in severalty to Indians was pass ed by the House recently, with amend ments recommended by the Committee on Indian Affairs. It provides for the allotment of reservation lands in sever alty to the Indians located thereon, or their application, in quantities as fol lows: To each head of a family, one quarter of a section; to each single person over eighteen years of age, oneeighth of a section; to each orphan child under eighteen years, one-eighth of a section; to each other person un der eighteen years one-sixteenth of a section. If there is not sufficient land on the reservation to allot to each individual the quantity as provided, then the land shall be alloted to each individual pro rata. The bill prohibits for the period of twenty-five years the conveyance of any such alloted land; makes the allotees subject to State and Territorial law, and prohibits any Territory from passing any law denying to any equal protection of the law. The rights and privileges of citizenship are conferred upon every Indian born within the territorial limits of the United States, to whom allotments have been made, and upon every Indian who has voluntarily taken up his residence apart from any tribe of Indians and adopted the habits of civilized life. The bills does not apply to the civilized tribes in the Indian Territory, to > TOBOGGANING is the latest sport to naturalize itself in Omaha. It is one of the few Canadian ideas which have taken root and flourished in this country. Canada gave us the toboggan slide and blanket striped suits, and we have reciprocated by presenting them with a large and varied assortment of bank cashiers and presidents who have slid over the border to escape striped suits at home. The exchange is all in our favor.

THE late King Alfonso of Spain is not yet officially buried, although he has just been dead a year. According to rigid Spanish etiquette royal personages must become "mummified" before being finally laid to rest, and so their coffins are placed in a special chamber in the rock, where water falls constantly upon the corpse until it is completey petrified. So the body of the late King is still undergoing the process.
