The coroner visited the spot, which was found to be on the south side of the large ice house of Miller & Baker, and, sure enough, there were the bones of a human body in all their ghastliness exposed to view. But they had evidently laid secreted in the sand a long time. Whether Indian or white person is a matter of doubt. As the skeleton was found on land that had been used for years as a camping place for both Indians and emigrants, the conclusion arrived at by Dr. Shey, the coroner, is that no inquest could elicit any information about either the time or cause of death, and he took charge of the bones and gave them an interment in the cemetery. follows: The reasonable solution is that it was the river bank and was buried near by.

WEST POINT special: About five years ago a man died in this county. He was a quiet, secluded old bachelor. His surname was Moegal, and he rejoiced in the christian name of Henry. He left several thousand dollars. No one knew of any heirs. The thing slept for several years. A year ago last January Bryant, the present county judge, instituted an investigation, which resulted in the discovery of heirs in Dresden, Germany. Frederick W. Melcher, of Omaha, is the executor.

As Miss Annie Duffy of Platte county, was driving home from school near Lost Creek where she is teaching, she was thrown from her buggy, the horse taking fright. Miss Duffy sustained severe injuries, having both arms broken and contusions on her head and breast.

FAIRMONT citizens are excited over the prospect of a new railroad, the Omaha and Kansas City. A mass meeting was recently held at the opera house and everybody was in favor of voting bonds.

CITIZENS of Grand Island held an enthusiastic meeting in the interest of establishing a large canning establishment.

THE York Democrat says that Orrin B. Hobbs was brought in from Lincoln by Deputy Sheriff Aillerbach, to answer to the charge of bastardy preferred by Annie B. Pringle. The case was continued and the defendant was bound over to the district court. The matter was subsequently settled and the case dismissed.

YORK Democrat: The oratorical contest of the Athenian oratorical society of the college was held at the M. E. church last Thursday evening. There were three contestants: W. L. Frew, "America's Mistakes;" J. N. Plumb, "Ecclesiasticism," and C. H. Bartholomew, "The Nether Stone." Mr. Bartholomew knocked the persimmons, and is the orator sent to the state contest. Mr. Frew came next and was selected as the delegate to the state association.

The Rev. Henry Ward Beecher Lies Unconscious as Death Advances Step by Step.

A New York dispatch of the 5th says: Rev. Henry Ward Beecher had a stroke of apoplexy this morning and at this hour lies in a critical condition. Between 2 and 3 o'clock Mr. Beecher awoke. He com- avenue elevated road, which extended far up 8,400 00 something for him to drink. He began to which was blocked a few hundred feet from vomit freely and then lay back upon his pillow apparently exhausted. In a short time he fell asleep. Mrs. Beecher concluded 12,200 00 that he would feel better in a few hours. The first breakfast bell rang but did not they were doing so the blockade was relieved awaken him. The second bell passed also and the trains began to start. The motion unheeded. Mrs. Beecher had been up for shook the pathway to such an extent that a some time, but did not wish to disturb 13,000 00 him. Becoming alarmed she made an attempt to arouse him but could not do so. She called her son and daughter-in-law. 11,200,00 They tried to arouse him. He tried to 4,000 00 speak, but his voice was thick and his articulation indistinct. Dr. W. P. Searle, 6,400 00 the family physician, was called in. He pronounced Mr. Beecher quite ill, but did not apprehend immediate danger. During the day Mr. Beecher seemed to improve, 20,600 00 and hopes were entertained that he would rally. Medicine was given and every change noted.

This morning he appeared to be worse. 3,400 00 It was decided to call Dr. W. A. Hammond of New York, in consultation with Dr. 96,000 00 | Searle. Before noon Mr. Beecher lapsed into unconsciousness, and was in that condition when Dr. Hammond reached the 28,100 00 house. Dr. Hammond pronounced him in a critical condition. He thought that as the patient was naturally a strong man, 10,400 00 he might rally. He assured the family that there was some hope.

A late Brooklyn dispatch says: The 8,000 00 anxiety of hundreds of citizens of Brroklyn 8,400 00 to learn the condition of the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, led them to visit the residence of his son, Col. Henry Beecher, at Clark and Hicks streets, at an early hour this morning. Only the immediate friends 10,000 00 of the family were admitted, but as any one emerged from the dwelling where the great preacher was lying at the point of death, each was eagerly questioned by the throng, who surrounded the house. They 14,000 00 had no word of encouragement in regard to his condition for he had lain in an unconscious condition since Saturday afternoon, and had not since that time given any evidence that he recognized any person about 8,640 00 his bedside. Up to that time he had been able to raise his right hand to his head and give them to understand that he was suffering considerable pain, but in the evening he seemed to pass into a comatose state; his breathing was hard and he lost the power of moving his body. Since the doctors informed the members of the family that it was only a question of time for the end, they have remained in the sick chamber, awaiting every movement. The eldest daughter, the wife of the Rev. Samuel Scoville of Stamford, Conn., arrived at the house Saturday and her huslow. Other members of the family in the house now are, Mr. Beecher's eldest son, Col. Beecher, his wife and two daughters and son, Henry Ward Beecher, and W. C.

A DISASTROUS BLOCKADE.

Several People Killed by Falling from the New York Elevated Railway.

New Yonk, March 8 .- The large tailoring establishment of "Nicoll the Tailor" on the Bowery was destroyed by fire this morning. The flames caused a blockade on the Third plained of being sick. His wife arose to get above 17th street. The conductor on a train the Seventeenth street station and several passengers left the train and started to walk over the narrow plank beside the track and thus make their way to the station. While number of passengers were thrown to the street below. Three of these were instantly killed and seven others badly injured.

When the 7 o'clock train came to a standstill between Fourteenth and Seventeenth streets, Patrick Mathews of 417 East Twentyfourth street, was standing on the platform of the third car, opened the gate, got out on the narrow platform and started to walk to the Fourteenth street station. He was followed by a number of men who were anxious to get to work. When they were within fifteen feet of the station the train started. Mathews was panic stricken, and supposing that he was going to fall off the platform to the street bew, he clutched a man who was standing beside him and they both fell to the ground and were instantly killed, while other men became panic stricken and jumped into the street.

The greatest excitement prevailed and spread among the passengers, and it was as much as the train hands could do to keep them in the cars and prevent them from jumping from the train. Women in the cars screamed and fainted. At last the train was brought to the station and most of the passengers got off and took surface cars down

The distance which the men fell was about thirty feet. The dying and wounded were taken immediately in ambulances to the New York, Bellevue and St Vincent's hospitals. Hundreds of people gathered around the scene of the accident, but Captain Clinchey was on hand with a squad of twelve men and kept the crowd back. The sidewalk and street were covered with blood.

The killed were Patrick Mathews and two unknown men, one about 10 years of age.

The wounded were George McCartney, injured hip and back: Robert Shoemaker, injured back and leg; William Kennedy, back and side hurt; James Lyon, arm, back and head injured; Jose Gradandin, injured in the back and ribs and generally contused; Emil Weiler, injured in the head, back and side.

The narrow walk from which the people fell was about two and one-half feet wide. When the passengers left the blocked cars and opened the platform gate the men of the train offered no objection, as they should have done. The long cortege of men was picking its way slowly when suddenly the trains started up and began to move and shook the track with a convulsive movement that nearly shook the foremost man off his feet. Shrinking back in fright from the moving wheels he crowded against the man ochind him, on the very edge of the narrow plank walk. The man seized wildly at a neighbor in terror. The latter drew back. But the crowd behind was pressing on, the train was moving on the ight, and those behind saw a momentary band and two children will immediately fol- | banching of the crowd in front, and then half a dozen men were seen falling over into the street below, from which arose a frightened wall, that turned into shricks of terror and despair as man after man struck the pave-
