HOME MARKET.

Col. R. G. Ingersoll says: "The farmer who raises wheat is always poor because he only gets one profit and that is generally a loss. The farmer who raises wheat and beef and horses makes a second or a third profit and gets rich.' Col. Ingersoll here makes a statement that every experienced farmer knows to be true, yet every farmer has not the means at first to engage in diversified farming, and necessarily must go slow on the start. Let us look into the Ingersoll proposition a little farther. The country which grows raw material will grow poor, while the country to which it sells it and which manufactures it into fabrics and sells them back to it again will grow intelligent and rich. The south raises cotton and sells it. Just so long as the south does this it will be poor. There can be no dissent from the above statements and yet they lie at the basis of all the current discussion in regard to tariff and transpor-tation. What kind of a tariff will build up manufactories in America is the precise thing our people wish to find out. Remedy is the most successful preparation The people have discovered long ago ever produced for Summer Complaint, Cholera that exclusive wheat raising is possible and Chronic Diarrhoea, Bloody That only for a short time and on virgin soils sons will certify that they believe their lives and that the capacity of a soil to produce have been saved by this great remedy. It is wheat is no criterion of its ultimate the one preparation that every family and value. They have discovered that ex- every traveling man should be provided with, clusive corn raising is profitable only cases of Chronic Diarrhoea that had resisted where cattle feeders furnish a home all other treatment and baffled the skill of market. The farmer who is ever alive to his own interest is beginning to see that the husbandman needs a home market for more than corn and wheat McLeod, druggist, Hemingford, Neb., says: "I and oats, and hence the desire to be near keep in stock a great variety of so called cures town and cities. The farmer has learn- for diarrhoea and cholera morbus, but from ed from experience that the nearer he can get to towns and cities, work shops and factories, the better his market, rhoes and all bowel complaints. It saved the the less his transportation, hence the greater his profits. If we had no protective tariff, and our raw material was sent off to England to be manufactured Mr. W. D. Haller, druggist, Blair, Neb., says, into fabries, where would the farmers "I have used Chamberlain's Cholic, Cholera profits come in on his produce, after and Diarrhosa Remedy, and do not hesitate to tay, that I think it the best of all medecines for diarrhosa and bowel complaints generalducted. If the democratic system of low tariff or free trade-which is the same thing-should obtain, the farmer, wool grower or miners who sell their summer drinking, at Strasser's. articles, would on receiving back, have to foot three freight bills. They who purchases the raw material pays the family use at Strasser's. Delivermarket value therefor, less the cost of freight to destination. He sends his grain beef and pork and produce to market in order to raise money with which to buy some articles manufactured from the pleton's American Cyclopedia as good raw material he sent away and on which as new and at a greatly reduced figure, he pays transportation. Of course the should call at this office at once. The cost of freight is deducted from the sixteen volumes complete. All in exprice received for his produce, and he cellent condition. The administration will not appeal to the voters this fall empty handed.

THE price of hogs at South Omaha Thursday of last week touched the remarkable figure of $6.50, which is the highest point ever reached in that market, with prospects of a still further advance. In Chicago for the same day the best grade of hogs fetched $6.65, while in Kansas City the prices did not rule above $6.35. From such evidence, taking everything into consideration, it is evident that South Omaha is the leading hog market of the country today.
