Small, but well selected stock and constantly turning, is why my goods are always fresh. No stale stock in my store. H. H. BERRY.

S. W. Huddleston, who recently purchased the Howard Lumber Co.'s yard here, seems to be starting out with a good trade—a record for fair square dealing always tells.

We don't sell goods at "your" prices, but "ours" are marked so low, and in plain figures, that you will always find them the cheapest.

THE FAMOUS.

The ladies who live too far from the shop to get meat for dinner can notify the McCook Market meat wagon to stop at their houses in the morning.

If you want something handsome in the way of a hanging lamp, call on C. M. Noble. He is just in receipt of the largest and finest stock of hanging lamps ever brought to southwestern Nebraska.

Grocery Hug's day will soon be here, but the Huddleston Lumber Co. are now here, with a full stock of Lumber and Coal. "Shadow or no shadow" we are out to stay. Come and see us, and swap lies, spit on the floor, and be sociable.

A. McMillen is selling Wall Paper Remnants cheap to make room for his large stock of WALL PAPER, just received.

"As the hart panteth after the water ponds" so panteth my soul after the post-office. My tongue thirsteth to lick the stamp and my loins yearn for the salary of $1,200 a year. When shall it come and how long shall that unwashed democrat continue to stand behind the boxes and hand out my mail with a sneer? Have I not prayed day and night for the success of the republican ticket and at the republican rally did I not carry a torch and when someone asked "What's the matter with Harrison?" did I not shout at the top of my voice, "He's all right"? When I remember these things my soul fervish with impatience and even in my sleep I cry out, "How long, O Lord, how long!" EX.

Listen to his tale of woe: It is a sad duty to us to state to the many readers of this paper that we are actually in need of a suit of clothes. We would like to attend preaching, but remain away because we are ashamed to enter the church with the suit that is worn daily. We go occasionally, but have to slip in quietly and take a back seat. This piece is not written for the purpose of soliciting some kind friend to donate a suit of clothes or some free-hearted merchant to sell us a suit on time, but to arouse the sympathies of those owing us. We have spent the last dollar in our possession to accommodate you; now come to us for needed assistance and receive the blessings that only a poor, oppressed newspaper man can bestow.—EX.

We are always ready and willing to answer any question which may be asked us concerning political issues, but when a man writes to know whether a reduction of the wool tariff will effect the price of flannel cakes, he exhibits a levity totally out of place in a campaign of intellect.

And now a meddlesome, interfering doctor has gone and invented some kind of a "scope" or something through which he looks into a fellow's eye without asking him a solitary question, and knows right away whether or not the fellow smokes, how many cigars a day, and about the kind of cigars. It's getting to be so that it's not earthly use to lie to a doctor. And by-and-by the preachers will begin to find us out the same way, and then we'll either have to tell all around or go to the dentist, have our backbones extracted, and join Robert E. Lee.

In a well considered article, the Industrial Journal says: It is a popular but palpable fallacious impression that newspapers are just what their publishers and editors make them. They are not! They are to a very great extent what the business community where they are published makes them. They represent the character and merits of the community far more exactly than they do the energy and enterprise of their publishers or the ability and ambition of their editors. It is within the power of the business men of any community to push their local newspapers forward to a standard impossible of attainment by any effort of the publishers with out their co-operation, and in no other direction can an equal measure of effort and expenditure be applied with anything like effect in advancing the interests, not only of the community at large but of the individual business man himself.

Under the reorganization of the State Bank of Indiana, Mr. C. S. Quackenbush is President; Mr. George Hocknell of McCook, Vice-President; and Mr. Floyd Welborn of Indianapolis is Cashier.

According to the Cleveland Union an old lady's idea of a ballet girl is "an open umbrella with two pink handles."

The Moran store room is being shelved, this week. Messrs. Knights & Suively expect to open it in a week or two.

A destructive fire swept over Culbertson, the first of the week.

Fine stationery, reglet and calling cards at THE TRIBUNE office.

A notarial commission is one of C. F. Babcock's latest acquisitions.

The jack-rabbit market has been unusually "long" the past week or two.

An increase of pension has been granted William P. Parker, of Indiana.

Note the change of advertisement by the Famous Clothing Co., in this issue.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Marshall F. Horrell of West McCook on yesterday morning.

Never reckon a man by what his enemies say of him. The tallest trees are most exposed to storms.

This quiet and orderly municipality was just a trifle lively on West Dennison, Monday night. (Hic.)

It is Councilman Brown now. And F. L. wears his new found honors with becoming dignity and meekness.

See McMullen's advertisement in this issue. He is selling out his wall paper remnants at marvelously low prices.

Canion City, and other grades of soft coal, and both Pennsylvania and Colorado hard coal at Bulard's lumber yard.

Bulard doesn't sell drugs; but it is a caution the amount of hard and soft coal he is weighing out, these chilly days.

Bulard has "the cream" of the coal trade. He keeps in stock a large supply of best grades of both hard and soft coal.

Is your coal bin empty? If so consult Bulard, dealer in "dusky diamonds" of best grades, at the Bulard lumber yard.

Bulard's filling your order for hard or soft coal? "He's all right." So is his large stock of coal. So are his figures. Give him a trial order.

This is how it is in Oberlin, "Oberlin near the Sappa": "Advance and give the countersign." "My arm itches." Guard salutes and retires.

School books, blank books, scale books, letter copying books, legal and land blanks, pens, pencils, tablets, etc., at THE TRIBUNE office.

With Bulard's filling your order for hard or soft coal? "He's all right." So is his large stock of coal. So are his figures. Give him a trial order.

The "Glucinum" pen is undoubtedly the finest pen in the market. Will outwear three other pens. For sale at THE TRIBUNE Stationery Department.

With the electric light plant assured, there will be in successful operation within ninety days. At a special meeting of the city council held on Monday evening, Messrs. A. J. Thompson & Co. of the McCook Roller Mill were granted a franchise for twenty-one years to place and operate a plant in our city, these gentlemen putting up a certified check of $100.00 for the faithful performance of their agreement and to indicate the genuine and substantial character of their intentions in the premises. The projectors inform the writer that operations will be instituted on the plant at once, and that the same will be in shape for business within ninety days, should nothing unforeseen arise to delay. It is proposed to put in both incandescent and arc systems, at a monthly rental of $10 and $1 respectively, which figures are usual and reasonable. The plant for the present will be operated by power from roller mill engine. It is the intention to put in a first class plant in every particular and to give the city and our business men and private citizens a good light at a fair figure. These gentlemen, in the erection of their mill, have exhibited excellent and energetic business qualifications and THE TRIBUNE feels that the enterprise has fallen into good and capable hands, and hopes that our people will give them every encouragement in their power. All hail the electric light plant!

The Flouring Mill.

After a few weeks of unavoidable delay, Messrs. Thompson & Co. are now ready to announce the opening of their flouring mill, fully equipped to do the work of a first-class mill in every respect; to do it promptly and satisfactorily, too. Those in position to know claim that Western Nebraska does not contain a better appomattox mill within its boundaries than the McCook mill. The machinery is of the latest and most approved pattern; heated by steam; scales, bins, and numerous devices of a laboring saving and convenient character. In fine, the mill is a model in every respect, is in the hands of competent millers and good business managers. Success is the portion of A. J. Thompson & Co.

HANDSOME QUARTERS.

Tomorrow, Mr. L. Bernheimer will move into the room lately vacated
