

Enormous Fortunes.

Notwithstanding the enormous fortunes accumulated through the use of printer's ink, large sums of money are annually wasted in ineffectual and unremunerative advertising.

The merits of a really valuable commodity properly portrayed in the columns of an influential and widely read newspaper, like this, will speedily become generally known and appreciated.

The advertiser sought for a lost relative, and giving his name, said: "I am ill and friendless. My last half crown is expended in paying for this advertisement. Write me at..."

On the other hand, the public is quick and meriting to detect deception and charlatanism, and accordingly, no amount of "puffery" will force a vile nostrum into public esteem and patronage.

Valuable medicines, however, like Warner's Safe Cure and Warner's Log Cabin Sarsaparilla, carry their own best commendation in their power to cure the particular diseases for which they are a specific.

They require no labored panegyric to convince the people of their power and efficacy, for they have been tried and found perfect.

Nature's remedies, by their own intrinsic merits have conferred a lasting boon upon mankind, and they have secured an enviable reputation and unlimited sale throughout the civilized world.

The possession of an intelligent dog in the family may be a very useful means out of emergencies. Not long ago some members of a family returning from an evening entertainment were unable to gain an entrance into their house.

Abraham Lincoln's Clock. Private Secretary Halford has in his room the clock which is dearest to the heart of the nation.

He was One of Them. "You would hardly hit," said the yellow haired man who sat on the fence and whittled a stick.

Life Everlasting. Dr. Hammond and Dr. Campbell announce that man never dies, except by accident, or his own disobedience of hygienic rules.

A Bitter Consolation. Emperor Francis Joseph received among his many letters of condolence on the death of his son one letter signed "The Mother of Oberdanek."

Consumption Surely Cured. To the Editor:—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for consumption. By its timely use thousands of hopeless cases have been permanently cured.

Food for Convalescents. Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, with Hypophosphites, is a most marvellous food and medicine. It heals the irritation of the throat and lungs, and gives flesh and strength quicker than any other remedy known.

ORATORS. I prescribe and fully endorse the only specific for the certain cure of the disease known as Consumption.
