There was a very pleasant gathering of members and friends of McCook Lodge No. 67, A. O. U. W., Tuesday evening, in the Phillips-Meeker hall, despite the threatening weather and moval case will come up before Referee | the following rain. Although many were deterred from coming by the prospective storm, and the programme prepared was thereby circumscribed greatly, yet the attendance was large and an enjoyable time was had. Rev. C. A. Maston, of Minden, made a short address, which was well received.

Strawberries, ice cream, cake, etc., of a delicious sort were spread in the banquet room of the hall, to which ample justice was done. All the circumstances considered, the Workmen are to be congratulated upon the successful outcome of their social, which will doubtless encourage them to future affairs of a similar nature. There is always much of profit as well as pleasure to be gained from such gatherings. Aid for Bradshaw.
