The old owners get $21,000,000 for their property and a big slice of the $23,000,000 which, in stock and bonds, represent the new company. A Nebraska Land Decision.

Secretary Chandler of the interior department today decided that the commissioner was wrong in dismissing the contest of John C. Pike against the homestead entry of William S. Atkinson for the south quarter of the northeast quarter and the south half of the northwest quarter of section 30, township 12, range 12 west, Grand Island, Neb., district. It appears that Atkinson made a homestead entry for this land March 9, 1885, and in March, 1886, James Hunter instituted a contest. March 27 of the same year Atkinson relinquished the title and gave it to one Roe, attorney for Hunter. June 2, 1886, Pike filed a contest against the entry, alleging abandonment and that the Hunter contest was a collusion between Atkinson. Hunter and Hunter's attorney and was for speculation. On July 1 Hunter withdrew on every evening, the division is enahis contest and it was dismissed. On | bled to tabulate the returns at the rate the day for Pike's hearing he appeared with counsel, and Atkinson being in default, Roe appeared and moved a postponement until final disposition of his (Roe's) appeal from the refusal to reinstate. Hunter's contest motion was overruled and the case passed for decision. On February 21, 1887, Daniel Sullivan filed the relinquishment of Atkinson and filed an application for a homestead for the land, subject to the rights of the contestant, Pike. March 2, 1887, the local officers found in favor of Pike and allowed thirty days' preference right of entry, Sullivan's entry to be cancelled if Pike should make application to enter. Sullivan appealed and the land commissioner, December 4, 1888, held that there was no ground for awarding "preference right of entry" to Pike and dis--Judge Clarkson has overruled the | missed his contest and allowed Sullivan's entry to stand intact. Pike now appeals to the secretary and he decides that although Roe, as attorney for Hunter, had expended some money for his client, yet he has not sufficient interest to entitle him to appeal. A rough official count of the population of New York city completed by the census office shows it to be 1,513,-501, which is an increase of 25.46 per cent over the returns of 1880, which gave a population of 1,206,298, an increase of 28 per cent during the decade. In 1870 the population was 942,-292; in 1860, 805,658.

The senate, on the 16th, took up the nominations of the five appraisers of merchandise recently made by the pres ident under the customs administrative bill, and soon confirmed them as follows: Charles H. A strong effort has been made to defeat the confirmation of the nomination of Prof. Soley to be assistant secretary of the navy. This is in part a revival of the old strife betweeen the line and staff of the navy. The nomination will be opposed on the ground that the law provides the appointment should be made from the civil list and that the spirit of the law was violated when Mr. Soley resigned his commission in the navy for the purpose of accepting this appointment.

Counting Our Population.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—The progress of the count of the population of the United States is being pushed more rapidly than ever, and day after day the capacity of the counting division is increased, until now, with a night force of 2,500,000 names a day, This rate, if kept up, will secure the count of the chasers of land of the Omaha tribe of being made for the introduction into congress of an apportionment bill. In this connection Superintendent Porter supervisor in the country reports relative to the question of mortgage statistics and he is gratified to find that throughout the entire country the enumerators experienced very little difficulty in securing the information in this line against which there was such a protest from various financial newspapers for some time. Now the whole outlook is for a very complete and satisfactory census and in spite of the criticisms which have been heard from time to time, there is really no reason why the department should not congratulate itself upon the result of the work, which was done more promptly

THE MATTER UNDER DISCUSSION IN THE HOUSE.

Consideration of the Sundry Civil Appropriation Bill-The Land Grant Forfeiture Measure-Extending the Time of Payment to Purchasers o Land of the Omaha Tribe of Indians Other Matters in the Senate and House of Representatives.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEDINGS.

The senate on the 14th took up the sundry civil bill. Among the many amendments agreed to was one inserting $333,500 for improving, extending and repairing the vaults in the treasury building and for constructing new vaults or safes there. The amendment to insert an item of $500,000 for establishing in Washington a Latin-American memorial library, the site to be selected by the secretary of state and the building to be erected under his direction and supervision having been reached, Mr. Vest opposed it as part of a sentimental program to secure commerce with the South American states. The amendment went over without a division. Having disposed of 15 pages of the bill it was laid aside. The senate bill to further suspend for 10 years the statute in relation to the Guano islands was taken from the calendar and passed. The house bill opening to settlement a portion of the Fort Randall military reservation in South Dakotn, with amendments, was passed. In the house the day was given up to District of Columbia matters and nothing of importance was accomplished. In the senate on the 15th, Sherman reported a substitute for the bill introduced by him on the 16th of May to reduce the amount of United States bonds to be required of national banks, and to restore to the channels of trade the excessive accumulations of lawful money in the treasury. Placed on the calendar. It provides for the compulsory requirement in deposit United States bonds with the treasurer of the United States by national bonds to be limited in amount to $1,000 of bonds for each bank, provided that the voluntary withdrawal of bonds for the retirement of national bank notes shall not exceed $3,000,000 in any month, and it also provided that the act shall not apply to the deposit of bonds to secure the deposit of public moneys. In the house Cannon moved the house go into committee on the whole on the bill appropriating $636,189 for additional clerical force to carry into effect the provisions of the dependent pension act. Pending this amendment he moved the general debate be limited to two hours. Agreed to-yeas 114, navs 60. The previous question was then agreed to-yeas 135, nays 37, and the house went into committee of the whole. Houk of Tennessee offered an amendment providing that persons employed under this bill shall be apportioned among the congressional districts of the several states and territories not now having their quota of employes under the existing law. The senate went into executive session and at the re-opening of the doors passed a bill to establish a national military park at the battlefield of Chickamaugua. The senate then resumed consideration of the sundry civil appropriation bill and adopted the pending amendment increasing the approprriation for surveying public lands from $200,000 to $600,000. The next amendment that provoked discussion was one increasing the item for teleegraphic surveys from $200,000 to $300,000. The discussion was continued until 6 o'clock, when the senate adjourned without action on the pending amendment In the house the journal having been read, Mr. Breckenridge of Kentucky objected to its approval and the yeas and nays were ordered on the ques-"Shall the journal be aption. proved?" It was agreed to. The house then went into committee of the whole on the land grant forfeiture bill. After a brief discussion the committee rose. Mr. Sweney of Iowa presented the conference report on the nois and eighteen other states within | bill authorizing the construction of bridges across the Iowa river at Wapelo, Ia. On agreeing to the report Mr. Rogers of Arkansas raised a point of no quorum and a call of the house was ordered. Only 142 membersless than a quorum-responded. On motion of Mr. McKinley, a resolution was adopted directing the sergeant-atweek to week he was made to agree arms to bring to the bar of the house such members as were absent without In the senate on the 17th consideration was had of the sundry civil appropriation bill, the pending question being on an amendment to add to the appropriation of $300,000 for a topographic survey provisions that onehalf of that sum shall be expended west of the 10th meridian and that the act of October, 1888, reserving irrigable lands, be repealed. Mr. Call conagreed in favor of a continuance of the Hogs-Mixed irrigation surveys. The repeal of the irrigation law would open that vast area of lands of 200,000 square miles to the operations of foreign syndicates. who would seize much of it under the desertland and timber land laws, and the people would be deprived of their use and occupation. Mr. Reagan spoke in opposition to the amendment and in favor of irrigation surveys. Without finishing his remarks Mr. Reagan yielded the floor for a motion to adjourn, no progress having been made with the bill. In the house the land grant forfeiture bill was considered in committee of the whole. Mr. Holman of Indiana offered anamendment forfeiting all land not earned within the time limited by the granting act. Lost. Mr. McRae of Arkansas offered an amendment directing the atterney general to institute suit against persons holding lands opposite to the constructed portion of roads which was not constructed within the specified time. The amendment was defeated and the bill reported to the house. Mr. Holman moved to recommit it with instructions to the committee to report it back with a proviso forfeiting all lands not earned within the time limited in the granting act. Lost. The bill then passed. The bill, which is a senate bill with a house substitute, therefore, forfeits all lands granted to aid in the construction of a railroad opposite to and coterminous with a portion of any such railroad not now completed. In the senate on the 18th Dawes, from the committee on Indian affairs, to which was referred the president's message vetoing the bill to change the boundaries of the Urcomphagre Indian reservation, reported it back without recommendation, and at the same time reporting a new bill for the same purpose. The bill and message were placed on the calendar. Consideration of the sundry civil appropriation bill was resumed, and Reagan continued his argument. After discussion the bill was laid aside. In the house Cannon of Illinois, from the committee on rules, reported a resolution providing that the house shall immediately proceed to the consideration of the "original package bill, the previous question to be considered asordered Monday, after the reading of the journal, and that the house shall consider the bankruptcy bill, the previous question to be considered as ordered Wednesday, after the reading of the journal. The house decided to consider the resolution. After the debate the resolution was modified so asto provide that the appropriation bill shall not interfere with the consideration of the two bills, and the resolution was then adopted. The "original package" bill was then taken up. E. B. Taylor said never had such a blow been given to state rights as by the ascertainment that under the constitution citizens of a foreign state might take into another state any property that was subject to taxation, and there sell it without the liability for taxation. While he preferred the house substitute, he feared its adoption would endanger the legislation, consequently he advocated the senate bill. Culbertson, of Texas, said if Iowa could prohibit the importation of intoxicating liquors it could go further than guaranteeing the health and morals of its citizens; it could protect its own products against those of other states. It. would be better to amend the constitution than to mangle it by such makeshifts.

Not Many Indians Will Vote. CHAMBERLAIN, S. D., July 16 .- It. is not probable that many of the Sioux Indians will be entitled to cast their votes at the election this fall. In order to vote it would be necessary for them to take their allotments, renounce their tribal relations and declare their intention of becoming citizens of the United States. When it is considered that as soon as they do this the government will cease giving them rations, it cannot be expected that very many of them will endeavor to become full-fledged citizens of the. greatest republic on earth. When it. comes to a choice between voting and free government feed, the "Injun" will take feed every time.
