Senatorial Committee Meeting.

The Republican Senatorial Central Committee of the 26th Senatorial District of Nebraska will meet at McCook, Neb., on July 26, 1890, at 2 o'clock, P. M., for the purpose of calling the Senatorial Convention and for the transaction of such other business as may come before the committee.

C. H. MARTIN, Secretary.
C. T. BREWER, Chairman.

AN EASY WINNER.

AFTER political honors, as well as in things material, McCook has struck a gait which is at once the pride of her people and the envy of the state. Again one of our citizens has been honored with the nomination to an office among the highest and most responsible in the gift of the people of this commonwealth, and that, too, by a highly complimentary vote indeed. Mr. J. C. ALLEN did not enter the race for the secretaryship of state with the violent flying of banners and tuneless tooting of horns that have otherwise signalized the campaign for nominations before the republican state convention. His "boom" was a substantial growth. His merits were modestly sung and his selection in the nature of a spontaneous action is the more flattering. Mr. ALLEN comes from the native hearth of the tribe of Eli and is a winner.

REPUBLICAN STATE TICKET.

THE following named gentlemen are the nominees of the Republican state convention held at Lincoln, on Wednesday: Governor, L. D. Richards of Fremont. Lieut. Gov. T. J. Majors of Peru. Secretary of State, J. C. Allen of McCook. Auditor, Thos. Benton of Lincoln. Attorney General, Geo. H. Hastings of Crete. Commissioner of Public Lands and Buildings, G. R. Humphrey of Custer county. State Superintendent, A. K. Goudy of Webster county. Treasurer, J. E. Hill of Beatrice. It is a winner.

GILBERT L. LAWS FOR CONGRESSMAN.

GAZE at the list of congressional aspirants in the second as against Mr. Laws and then talk about brilliancy. Bah!

If the reader is at all curious, a glance at the head of this column will disclose to him the winning ticket in this county in November.

THE people of this district will do the right thing, next Wednesday at the Hastings convention, by renominating Congressman Laws.

THERE is not a man in the congressional field the equal of Mr. Laws in the essential qualities that go to make up a congressman. He is naturally with the people.

It was a great convention. Only the strongest and most active political parties can get up such a gathering. Nebraska republicanism is as full of fire and determination as ever.—Journal.

THE prohibitionists of the state of Nebraska are called to meet in delegate convention in the city of Lincoln, Wednesday, August 27, 1890, at two o'clock, P. M., for the purpose of placing in nomination, candidates for the various state officers. Red Willow county is entitled to six delegates.

ANANIAS of the Goosetown Banner admits that his failure to receive an appointment at Congressman Laws' hands is the cause of his mendacious, malignant and cowardly opposition to the congressman's renomination, this year. Ananias is a self-convicted blackguard and blackmailer, whom the congressman owed nothing, promised nothing, and expects nothing from—except abuse, misrepresentation and falsehood.

COLONEL WEBSTER would like to go to congress, but he is not making the effort or the showing that he did last year. Hitchcock, his own county, will send a delegation that will vote for him on the first ballot or two, and then try to find the winner.—Bee.

Hitchcock county's delegation will give the wily old colonel a complimentary ballot and then go to the winner—Gilbert L. Laws.

THE CONVENTION.

As was foreshadowed, the republican county convention held at Bartley, Saturday last, was a warm one,—to use a very mild term. In the first time in the history of Red Willow county, the west end had a clear, unshakable majority in the convention; this interesting fact was highly colored by the threat of the Indianola gang to bolt the convention—a threat they put into execution in most indecent haste and under the most exasperating circumstances soon after the convention was called to order, and it had become plain to them that the majority would not be bulldozed or intimidated, nor the noisy minority allowed their outrageous demands, regardless of their idiotic showing of "righteous indignation" assumed by the bolters. Unusual and unreasonable motions were made and insisted upon with most clamorous persistency by the bolters. McCook, the west end, her friends and the chairman of the central committee were insulted and maligned without stint by them, amidst the most turbulent demonstrations ever witnessed in this county's political history. And all this to the end that the slightest grounds for a pre-arranged bolt might be established.

In order to avoid the appearance of prejudice, the minority were allowed the unparliamentary and unusual privilege of voting contesting delegations in the convention's temporary organization. And then, when the chair refused to recognize a motion to elect their bibulous champion for temporary chairman—two nominations having already been made for the office—they deliberately pretend to put their own motion and attempt to foist the chairman of their unlawful choice upon the convention. Failing in driving Dr. B. B. Davis, the nominee of the legal majority, from his post of duty by their dastardly tactics, they leave the hall heaping abuses and curses upon all who dared to stand bravely for their rights in the premises.

And then, to add the finishing touches to the scheme hatched by them in the Indianola Peoples' convention, the preceding Saturday, the bolters afterwards assembled and ratified the nominations made by the Peoples' convention, with the exception of the office of representative.—M. N. Eskey, the professional office-seeker from Bartley, supplanting A. C. Modi, the farmer candidate from the west end; the county attorney being left vacant—for trading purposes. A central committee and delegates to the various conventions were also placed in nomination to contest the regular republican nominees. The action of the state republican central committee in seating the regular delegation places an effectual damper on this part of the unholy scheme, every feature of which will be as effectually defeated by the people of this county in November.

The outrageous course of the bolters previous to and since the convention completely unmasks their presumptuous pretenses and places them before the people of Red Willow county in their true aspect and in an unenviable light. Their self-righteous hue and cry of "stop thief" has not diverted the public attention from their own questionable practices so far in this campaign; but has the rather focused the public gaze on the offenders, who in the garb of sanctimonious saints have been traveling up and down this country seeking most of all to disparage the people of the west end and their friends in the east end, and singing ever the only great and good moral excellencies of Indianola and her votaries. For "ways that are dark and schemes that are vain" the bolters may properly claim the championship. They are entitled to it, and THE TRIBUNE moves that it be awarded.

CONVENTION CHAFF.

Did you hear the Indianola gang roar? What boisterous, blustering "righteous indignation" to be sure!

The Colonel and his STEENOGRAPHER were there. Mr. Chairman! MR. CHAIRMAN!! MR. CHAIRMAN!!!

"Deacon" Moore of the Tyrone delegation should be translated. He is too utterly nice for this earthly abiding place.

The bolters sought a pretext for a bolt, but failing to secure it, through the fairness and magnanimity of the regulars; well, they just flew the track anyhow.

The Indianola gang hurled their choicest maledictions upon Chairman Jennings in most reckless profusion. But the chairman held the reins firmly and blocked up the bulldozing tactics of the Indianola filibusters most effectively.

The bolters were completely knocked out before the state central committee, notwithstanding the wind sighed and sighed through the Colonel's adult whiskers while he exhibited his majestic hirsute development before the admiring eyes of the committee.

Failing to coerce the Chairman into seating Spain by a vote of a packed house, instead of by the delegates present, the Indianola gang incontinently fled the Convention hall, amid the most scandalous riotry ever witnessed in Red Willow county's political history.

The hellbroke loose gang have the reputation of acting the "righteous indignation" dodge with reasonable success in the past, but their patient, over-worked animal fell down on top of the gang, last Saturday, to their intense chagrin and complete discomfiture, at the Bartley convention. It was too palpably thin.

The "Goosetown Banner" evidently had in mind the ignominious bolting of the Republican county convention by the Indianola gang, at Bartley, Saturday, when it used the prophetic and suggestive headlines, "Hell Broke Loose," in its last issue. It looked quite like what we imagine a mutiny in the nether regions might be.

"Reporter Kimmell," says Ananias of the Goosetown Banner, "couldn't see why reporters should be excluded from any caucus, until E. Peterson explained to him that he had no business there and they did not need him." In this instance, Ananias is an unmitigated liar in fact and as to specifications. Reporter Kimmell had no conversation with Elias on that topic whatever.

The hellbroke loose gang at Indianola are evidently "good republicans" only when they are in the majority—as they have been in every county convention, save the last one,—since the organization of Red Willow county. Not succeeding this year, in breaking the west end majority by the exercise of all their well-known means and measures, they bolt the convention like a drove of stampeded cattle.

"Taken as a ticket," says Ananias, speaking of the republican county ticket, "it is the strangest outfit ever offered to the voters of this county, and should, as it will, meet the indignant condemnation of all just men without reference to party lines or to county-seat matters."

Shades of sedate, sightless Bacon, gaze upon this sublime spectacle of gall and infamy and congratulate yourself that death divorced you!
