Republican Senatorial Convention.

The Republican electors of the 26th Senatorial district of Nebraska are requested to send delegates from their several counties to meet in convention in the city hall at McCook, Neb., on SATURDAY, AUGUST 16TH, 1890, at one o'clock, P. M., for the purpose of placing in nomination a candidate for state senator of the 26th district, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the convention. The several counties are entitled to the following representation:

Chase	1	Gosper	2
Dundy	5	Hitchcock	2
Frontier	8	Hayes	4
Furnas	10	Red Willow	9

It is recommended that no proxies be admitted to the convention, and that delegates be authorized to cast full vote of delegation. Your committee further endorse the holding of the state central committee in the matter of the contest from Red Willow county.

C. T. BURVEN, Chairman.
JOHN C. HAYES, Secretary pro tem.

A MORE devoted friend and servant of the common people than Gilbert L. Laws never stood in the halls of Congress, but the fortunes of politics were against him. The people will yet find work for him. Gilbert L. Laws is worthy of all esteem and confidence. While we say this for Mr. Laws, we are at the same time heartily pleased with the choice of Mr. Harlan, who is a friend of Mr. Laws and sound on the questions that most interest the people at this time. Three cheers and a tiger for Harlan and the republican party.—Friend Telegraph.

IN THE death of John R. Clark, the city of Lincoln sustains a loss well nigh irreparable.

CONGRESS should take prompt and effective action on the recommendation of President Harrison concerning the lottery curse.

ONLY three hundred and fifty-two miles of new railroad have been constructed in the Northwestern states during the past six months.

WESTERN Nebraska demands a congressman. Now the question arises, what has Western Nebraska got to say about it?—Kearney Hub.

WALT M. SEELY holds his cinch on the secretaryship of state central committee with a firm hand. He was reelected at the committee meeting in Omaha, Tuesday night, by a complimentary vote.

"If the democrats wanted to name a man of some ability to aspire to Jim Laird's brogans, why didn't they pick on Joe Cordeal, Judge Lucas or W. C. Bullard of McCook," asks the Beatrice Express.

J. C. ALLEN, nominee for Secretary of State, is the first traveling man in the state that has ever been honored with the nomination for a high political position, and the knights of the grips are swearing by him.—Red Cloud Republican.

THE prediction that the half holiday in New York would injure business and increase crime by reason of the idleness of working people, has been proven without foundation. The law works without a jar, and thousands of hard-working men, women and children are benefitted. Professional idleness increases crime, but honest working men and women can appreciate and properly utilize a holiday.

SENATOR PLUMB has introduced an amendment to the McKinley bill which provides that when protected articles shall be arbitrarily advanced in price by a combination, as proved before a federal court, the importers shall be entitled to receive competing foreign goods at one-half the established duty.

"MR. LAWS can now proceed to take possession of the vacant McCook land office, a plum that has remained hanging on the tree for just such an occasion as this."—Arapahoe Mirror, dem.

We hope the fate of Ananias will not overtake Mr. Reed before the above falsehood comes home to roost with him.

"THE lodge" and "the church" don't travel in the same speed class, evidently, a fact more or less deplorable. Recent figures, carefully compiled, show that Boston has 243 churches to 599 lodges; Washington, 181 churches to 316 lodges; Brooklyn, 355 churches to 695 lodges; Chicago, 384 churches to 1,088 lodges, and the same proportion obtains in other cities.

It is stated that the Farmers' Alliance of America contains four million members. This vast army of producers would be a power in the land, if it were not for the fact that the most prominent officers are no sooner chosen than they become possessed of an epidemic of office itch. When a leader of a reform movement becomes a candidate for office his motives are naturally called in question.

JOHN C. ALLEN, the republican nominee for secretary of state, was for several years a traveling man in the employ of Raymond Bros. & Co. As a representative of the republican party he will have no occasion to "pad" his orders, for the whole state of Nebraska will be his customers after the 4th of November. The traveling men will see that Mr. Allen gets a big support from their ranks.—O'Neill Item.

THEY have built a huge barn near the tomb of General Grant in New York covering the very plot of ground that they promised to turn into a beautiful flower garden. It is evident that the country is getting ripe to take the monument enterprise away from New York and rescue the bones of the old commander from the greedy population of Manhattan. A resolution has been introduced in the senate looking to the removal of the remains to Arlington with the consent of the family, and there erecting a suitable memorial to the hero.

THE democratic press of Nebraska support two tickets and two platforms without the least embarrassment. It is easy enough when the "hoss gets used to it to carry double." The only regret of the veteran democratic editor is that the prohibitionists are refraining from putting up a ticket this fall lest they should drive off the supporters of the amendment. If they could only carry a prohibition ticket also, the democratic editors would feel natural and reasonably happy.—Lincoln Journal.

It appears that in 1840 the city of New York contained one Protestant church to every 2,000 people; in 1880, one to 3,000; in 1888, one to 4,000. In some of the uptown wards, where the best showing was made, one sufficed for 5,000 people, while there was one saloon to 125 people. The total population of the city was about 1,500,000, and the total membership of the Protestant churches only about 100,000.

COLONEL BOB INGERSOLL said the other day to a reporter of the Rochester Union: "I believe in protecting what are called the infant industries, but after those 'infants' get to be six feet high and wear No. 12 boots, it is about time to stop rocking the cradle, especially when the infant tells you that if you stop rocking he will get out of the cradle and kick your head off."

AN amendment to the interstate commerce law has been favorably reported, which will give reduced rates to theatrical companies. This gratifying information comes like the resurrection trumpet of Gabriel to the double mammoth Uncle Tom's Cabin companies which have been stranded during the past two years.

THE sensible nomination of Hon. N. V. Harlan of York for congress in the Second district places a genuine anti-monopoly republican in the field against a doubtful anti-monopoly democrat. There is no question where Mr. Harlan stands. For years and in fact ever since he entered politics he has been an unwavering, consistent friend of the people. He was elected speaker of the house in the teeth of the corporations who fought desperately to defeat him. His record as speaker was unassailable and since that time he has been in every contest with the people and against the corporations. He was chairman of the anti-monopoly republican conference held in this city in May and he has been in touch with his people at home in their efforts for good government. There is not an alliance man in the Second district but that can find in Mr. Harlan a staunch friend and supporter. They can vote for him with even more confidence than for their own nominee. The nomination of Harlan means the saving of the Second district to the republicans and the election of a man in every way in sympathy with his constituents.—Lincoln Call.

THE TRIBUNE is not unmindful that the spirit of the times is scarcely tolerant of anything savoring of monopoly defense. We are not forgetful, either, that there are grievances to be adjusted—wrongs to be redressed. And yet we desire to warn our readers against the dangerous tendency of the day—the blind following of irresponsible demagogues, whose ensanguined hands are ever uplifted to strike capital or corporation, regardless of results or justice. Western Nebraska is especially interested in a conservative solution of the railroad question—it means more lines and development to this section. Radical, extreme measures will retard the growth of this part of Nebraska, in particular, and compromise her prosperity. A little caution and deliberation, together with a modicum of brains and sound horse sense, will work righteousness and justice to all. But beware the demagogue.

WHEREAS, God Almighty has given every man one mouth to be fed, and one pair of hands adapted to furnish food for that mouth; If anything can be proved to be the will of heaven, it is proved by this fact, that that mouth is to be fed by those hands without being interfered with by any other man who has also his mouth to feed and his hands to labor with. I hold, if the Almighty had ever made a set of men that should do all the eating and none of the work, He would have made them with mouths only and no hands; and if He had ever made another class, that He intended should do all the work and none of the eating, He would have made them without mouths and with all hands.—Abraham Lincoln.

THERE was something of the independent spirit of the untrammelled West in the speeches which senators PLUMB and TELLER made yesterday in Congress against the BLAIR resolution. The proposition to introduce gag-law in the Senate is more than the statesmen who have drunk in the free inspiration of the prairie can stand. They will not submit to the curb which the Senator from the contracted state of New Hampshire proposes to place upon the members of the Upper House. It outrages the sense of liberty which every man feels who knows what it is to live and move where there is plenty of room.

A GROWING interest is felt in the possible action of congress with reference to Blaine's reciprocity proposals, which if adopted will leave the McKinley bill in a badly battered condition. Speaker Reed, who cracked the whip for the McKinley bill, is opposed to the Blaine innovation, as its adoption would perceptibly dim Reed's star of leadership, which has shone so brightly. It is probable that the Senate will do some work on the reciprocity line. The action of the House is altogether uncertain. Meantime the sentiment of the country is with Secretary Blaine.—Kearney Hub.

NEBRASKA is reported at the census office to be out of debt, having neither a bond out nor a warrant for which there is not cash in the treasury for the holder whenever he presents it.

WILSON of Iowa rather squelched the "farm mortgage" weepers in the senate the other day who were going over the old bogus statistics about the way the west was saddled with farm mortgages, by informing them that whereas the "statistics" gave the aggregate of farm mortgages in Iowa as $567,000,000 the actual count showed up only $51,000,000. The statistics fiend had multiplied by ten and carried $56,000,000, that was all. What they added after multiplying by ten was more by six millions than the original amount. It is very probable that all the other states were misrepresented by the "statistics" in about the same proportion. A more brazen fraud on the public was never perpetrated than the publication of these bogus statistics. But they have been used with great effect by cranks and democrats in school house addresses to the farmers.—Journal.

SYMPATHY and free lunch for McKeigan, votes and respect for Harlan, describes the situation in the Second district, according to the Sutton Advertiser.
