SOUTH SIDE SAUCE.

Another picnic, Sunday. Will Cooper was down at Indianola, Sunday. The Lutherans picnicked at Boyd's grove, last Friday. The old soldiers held a picnic at W. S. Fitch's, last Friday. W. A. Brown was down on the South Side, last Saturday and Sunday.

School in District No. 8 commenced, Monday, Miss Haddie Critzer at helm.

Frank Cuyler, brother of Billie, was up from Coaly Kan., on a visit, last week.

Bob King came down from Denver, last Thursday, and stayed until Saturday.

W. H. Cooper has sold his farm. There are good many buyers in here, this fall.

Messrs. Crabtree and Bolles, county commissioners, were out on the South Side, last Thursday.

A good many are sowing rye and other fall crops, the recent rains putting the ground in fine condition.

Col. C. H. Jacobs is out this week working the roads, building bridges, grading, and fixing up generally.

Mr. Stewart of the Burtless ranch is making a fine lot of improvements and buying stock. Such men as he are just what are needed here.

The contest at District No. 8 for the Demorest medal took place last Friday night, Miss May Whittaker winning the medal and Miss Florence Johnson the second prize.

In spite of this being an off year, shrewd business men are looking far enough ahead so that they are coming here and investing a goodly amount of their surplus capital. In fact there is more land sold, this fall, than for some time and still there are more to follow.

GENERAL GRIST.

The effects of the last rain are strongly felt: The grass has started anew, some garden truck which had suffered from the hot winds is reviving, and with sufficient moisture may yield a crop yet, although it may be small, still it will help considerably.

The school sessions have begun, and it is to be hoped that all who have young minds under their care will see that every child who can go to school will attend promptly and if possible without any interruption. Interruption in the course of studies may prove detrimental to the progress of pupils, it is calculated to throw them back and discourage them as to future efforts to regain their place in the class they left. Education is the child's best legacy, the security of his success and prosperity through life, and should by no means be treated with neglect and indifference. Parents are responsible to God for the future of their children.

This thing of leaving the country as unfit for settlement because one unfortunate year has struck it, is the result of another rash judgment and in many cases, the other places referred to as a shelter from misery were found as bad if not worse than here, and the means spent in the removal would have helped wonderfully this coming winter. The adverse winds of misfortune and disappointment are felt wherever we go, they are the inseparable attendants of our fallen and sinful condition. These hard times and failure of crops are the scourge of Divine Justice for our pride, ingratitude and neglect of God's service, but with justice there is mercy, and all who seek refuge in the arms of providence and trust in God will come out all right. REPORTER.

BANKVILLE BUDGET.

The most of the farmers have reduced their surplus of hogs and one farmer sold so close that he will have to buy again to feed for family use.

It seems to me that the republican newspapers are showing the white feather or weakness on republican principles and thereby injuring the republican cause by the course taken in sounding an alarm concerning government legislation when that legislative body is only carrying out the principles in legislation that those county papers advocated in the last campaign. If the republican legislators in position. If the republican county papers would take up the instructive side of the questions now at issue and back up the republican views as earnestly as they did the campaigning part it would be some encouragement to the legislative body to carry out what the party promised in the campaign. If protection was good for campaign it is good for legislative work and if the election bill was good campaign thunder why not encourage the men that were elected on such powder to fulfill the promises of the party. It is a sorry sight to see so many discouraging remarks by many that claim to be republicans when almost every republican convention that has met has endorsed the protective clause, and the right of citizenship irrespective of color. If we wish to remain a republican party the leaders must perform as they have promised. OBSERVER.

COUNTY CLERK'S OFFICE,

Indianola, Neb., Aug. 29th, 1890. JUSTICES OF THE PEACE, Red Willow County, Nebraska. GENTLEMEN: Owing to the partial if not total failure of crops, this year, it becomes necessary for the commissioners and overseers of the poor to use discretion in issuing supplies for the poor. And you will now take notice that from this date the board of county commissioners will allow no claim for supplies until the same has been duly certified to as having been ordered by you as overseer of the poor. You will also notify the merchants of your precinct to issue supplies to no person unless upon written order from you. And each order as written by you must accompany the claim for such supplies. And you will order only the following named goods for the poor: 3d grade flour, beans, salt, soda, bacon, butter and soap. A claim for anything else will not be allowed by this board. By order of the Board of County Com. HENRY CRABTREE, Chairman, STEPHEN BOLLES, Commissioner, ISAIAH BENNETT, Commissioner. GEO. W. ROPER, Clerk.

NEBRASKA'S ENEMIES.

THE WHISKEY ANARCHISTS WILLING TO STAB THE STATE.

Editor Calhoun Criticizing the Fools of his Party.

Special to THE McCOOK TRIBUNE.

LINCOLN, NEB., Sept. 2.—Under the unscrupulous leadership of saloon anarchists, the whiskey campaign is being conducted to the injury of the state of Nebraska abroad. A few of these treacherous finkies for the saloon are loudly proclaiming that prohibition if carried will ruin the financial prosperity of the state. Even the real estate exchange of Omaha is reported by the leading saloon sheet of that city as getting ready to "take some plain and emphatic action to aid in the defeat of prohibition." This course will injure Omaha more than anything else that can be done. Conservative capital will not invest in crime. Prostitutes, gamblers, footpads, thugs, tramps, drunken loafers, saloon keepers and vermin of that character will flock to a city that insults the business world, but men who build blocks and supply the wants of the producing and consuming masses will be discouraged from making investments. Men who build factories and work large numbers of workmen are growing more intense in their hatred of the saloon, that degrades and debauches such a large number of laboring men. The false and infamous cry that capital will be withdrawn from the state has been shown to be the slogan of the brewers and distillers. This scheme is only a fraction of the conspiracy against the workmen and farmers of Nebraska. By yelling "Stop thief!" these villainous plunderers hope to divert public attention from the fact that the saloons of Nebraska are robbing the people of $24,000,000 every year. In fourteen months the expenditure for liquor by the people of Nebraska amounts to as much as the total assessed valuation of all our railroads.

JOURNALISTIC GRAPE SHOT.

The Syracuse Journal calls a halt on the unwise editors who are jumping onto the Prohibition party for putting a ticket in the field. The Journal although a strong Republican paper insists that the foolish threat to knife the Prohibitory Amendment because the Prohibits exercise their political rights and privileges is too contemptible to be patiently endured.

All the old residents of the newspaper profession recognize J. D. Calhoun as the embodiment of the best manhood and brain in the Democratic party of this state. His reputation as a political writer is National. He has been attacked by the saloon element of his party because he positively refuses to become the political slave of the saloon. He is personally in favor of the Prohibitory Amendment for business reasons. He has not been slow to say so. Since the Democratic party renewed its declaration for the saloon on the personal liberty line, Mr. Calhoun has, in a dignified yet incisive style, criticised his party's position. The saloon element has accordingly undertaken to wipe him and his able paper (The Lincoln Herald) from the face of the earth. Not desiring to go unresisting to the dungeon of a scourged slave, Mr. Calhoun has filed a masterly brief against the real enemies of his party and the foes of the state's welfare. The following extract from Saturday's Herald will give an idea of what the whiskey-worshippers must meet by way of argument:

IT IS UTTERLY IMPOSSIBLE

in this age of human progress to build and maintain a great party founded upon the saloon. To assert it can be done is to deny all the evidence of history. And if it could be done, if it were possible, the men who should accomplish it are criminals too deep for any conceivable damnation. A people that would consent to it would be unfit to exist, and would cease to exist as rapidly as Nature could wield her deadly engines of destruction. Their downward course would be as rapid and as sure as that of other people who have forfeited their right to be.

The forces that sustain a people are virtue, intelligence, sobriety, energy, judgment, perseverance, honor, honesty, manliness, endurance, fidelity, truthfulness and industry. Alcohol is the foe and destroyer of all these. There is not a good quality it does not subvert. There is not a weakness or a vice that it does not develop and foster.

But the race will grow upward. It will put alcohol and all other great curses under its feet, and any party that links itself to any obstacle to progress will be crushed to powder. This is a feeble, tame and imperfect presentation of the case but it is enough to justify every democrat in disavowing any responsibility for the disgraceful blunder perpetrated by his party at its late state convention. And should a wicked and reckless subserviency to the rum power become the permanent policy of the party it will justify every self-respecting citizen in shaking its dust from his feet.
