

Name of Town and Banker	What effect does the law have upon business generally?	How does it affect the banking business? Does it affect the savings deposits?	How does it affect merchandising, groceries, dry goods, boots and shoes, etc.	How, if at all, does it affect collections?
Lawrence...H. E. Benson...	Good.	No regular savings bank here. Banking business only feels diminution of amount check and deposit work of saloon accounts.	It just simply gives more money to pay for those.	Not at all.
Leavenworth...Paul R. Brooks... ...Pepper... ...W. Snyder...	No bad effect that is apparent. Effects are bad; population decreased. Large trade being sent out of state; business is depressed.	Deposits have decreased in last five years $400,000. Thinks prohibition hurts business and banking by keeping out a good class of immigrants. Banking business is depressed on account of loss of population, and excessive taxes made by foolish prosecutions under the law. Not materially, however the effect is for good.	Don't know, but think favorably. Hurts all branches of business. Detrimental.	Favorably. (No answer.) (No answer.)
Lebo...A. G. Tuller...	Good.	None.	Generally good.	With a certain class collections are easier and more prompt. Better—to advantage.
Lenora...George K. Mooney... Leon...G. A. Kenoyer...	Good, Depressing.	Drives deposits to larger towns where law is evaded or openly violated.	For the better. Affects these in same manner it does banking.	Any cause that depresses business of any kind, invariably makes collections in that line hard to make. None. No particular difference either way. (No answer.)
Leoti...T. W. Polham... Le Roy...W. C. Hosick...	Think business rather decreased; keeps out settlers. Certainly does not diminish it.	None I think. If any, it is for good.	[No answer.] Sales about the same. Have no drunken customers to bother with. Every one pays for what they buy. No paupers in our county.	None. (No answer.)
Liberal...Cicero Coomer...	Improves it.	Increases banking business.	Merchants claim it is detrimental to trade. I do not think it affects any business injuriously.	None apparently. Better under the law than they would be without it. Same. (No answer.)
Lincoln...A. Marshall... Lindsborg...A. E. Agrellius...	Does not improve business any. No injurious effects; rather beneficial.	Not any here apparently. Better for the business. City is not large enough for much savings deposits. Never had saloon here. Helps the business. Increases deposits. See no difference.	Same. [No answer.] Good.	Same. (No answer.) We see but little difference as hard times are upon us. At least 100 per cent better. Not at all. (No answer.) Collections are better.
Little River...John A. Swenson... Logan...Burton Fulliam... ...J. J. Willcutt...	Good. Benefit to all legitimate business. Good; parties who got on a spree at least once a week now are sober or take a spree once in six months. Business greatly improved. Cash sales at least one-half. Has not affected business in any way. Can't see that it has any. As good as ever before.	Deposits have gradually increased. No. Yes. Has a tendency to diminish them. Can't see that it hurts any; savings deposits on the increase. Not having done business under license cannot compare. Helps many men to save their earnings and form better habits. Helps the business; have a number of small depositors from that source. In general favorably. Better in every way.	Merchants claim a decided improvement in every way. Not at all here. [No answer.] More and better goods sold now.	Can't see that it has an effect. (No answer.)
Longton...C. A. Emerson... Louisburg...P. W. Goebel... Lury...W. H. Mead... Lyndon...J. M. Hodgson...	Can't say except that parties who would spend money for liquor will have it to use for business purposes. Good.	Increases it. Savings deposits are increasing.	Same as preceding.	(No answer.)
Lyons...J. F. Ralston... ...C. A. Dean...	Good effect; money is saved for necessities and people can pay their debts. A decided improvement in every way. It makes business better as pay is better; taxes are lighter; not a criminal case at last term of court; fewer loafers. Good; money that would go for liquor now goes into merchandise; our jail empty. Beneficial. Times are easier; the money not being drained in the way of drinks.	Increases it. Savings deposits are increasing.	Makes merchandising more safe and desirable. It helps a class to pay their grocer.	As it affects other business—by saving the money. Cannot say. Better in every way. Makes them better. (No answer.)
Manhattan...Geo. S. Murphy... ...Jno. W. Webb... Mankato...J. P. Fair... ...D. C. Smutz... ...D. H. Stafford... Mapleton...John Enfield...	Salutary. If all towns would prohibit, it would be a great help. A good effect. [No answer.] Can't tell. It enables people to pay more promptly and they buy necessities instead of liquor. The Germans that come stay for a short time. Does not affect business either way. Good. The law is a good thing for business.	Increases it. Savings deposits are increasing.	Less debts and failures than where the prohibitory law is enforced. It improves all kinds of trade. Money which would otherwise be spent for drink is now paid for goods. Women who formerly supported their families by going out to service are now supported at home by their husbands. More goods sold. Decidedly for good. Don't know. Fine trade. Leaves more money for shoes, etc. Can't say. Sobriety improves business in the above lines.	Increases the chances for the collection of debts. Do not think they are any worse. (No answer.) Collections are better. Collections are affected for good. It helps. Collections good. (No answer.) Can't say. As a rule, liquor drinkers are slow pay. (No answer.)
Marion...C. S. Winslow... ...Wm. H. Dudley... Marysville...S. A. Fulton...	Salutary. If all towns would prohibit, it would be a great help. A good effect. [No answer.] Can't tell. It enables people to pay more promptly and they buy necessities instead of liquor. The Germans that come stay for a short time. Does not affect business either way. Good. The law is a good thing for business.	Increases it. Savings deposits are increasing.	Less debts and failures than where the prohibitory law is enforced. It improves all kinds of trade. Money which would otherwise be spent for drink is now paid for goods. Women who formerly supported their families by going out to service are now supported at home by their husbands. More goods sold. Decidedly for good. Don't know. Fine trade. Leaves more money for shoes, etc. Can't say. Sobriety improves business in the above lines.	Increases the chances for the collection of debts. Do not think they are any worse. (No answer.) Collections are better. Collections are affected for good. It helps. Collections good. (No answer.) Can't say. As a rule, liquor drinkers are slow pay. (No answer.)
McCune...W. B. Evans... ...J. L. Ward... McDonald...D. L. Gruver... McLouth...Matt Edmonds... McPherson...Amos E. Wilson... Mado...Ormand Hamilton... ...A. H. Heber... ...M. J. O'Meara...	Salutary. If all towns would prohibit, it would be a great help. A good effect. [No answer.] Can't tell. It enables people to pay more promptly and they buy necessities instead of liquor. The Germans that come stay for a short time. Does not affect business either way. Good. The law is a good thing for business.	Increases it. Savings deposits are increasing.	Less debts and failures than where the prohibitory law is enforced. It improves all kinds of trade. Money which would otherwise be spent for drink is now paid for goods. Women who formerly supported their families by going out to service are now supported at home by their husbands. More goods sold. Decidedly for good. Don't know. Fine trade. Leaves more money for shoes, etc. Can't say. Sobriety improves business in the above lines.	Increases the chances for the collection of debts. Do not think they are any worse. (No answer.) Collections are better. Collections are affected for good. It helps. Collections good. (No answer.) Can't say. As a rule, liquor drinkers are slow pay. (No answer.)
Medicine Lodge...C. Chandler... Miltonvale...Edward Weck... Minneapolis...Adolph Gilbert... ...B. F. Bracken... ...Walter Scott...	Salutary. If all towns would prohibit, it would be a great help. A good effect. [No answer.] Can't tell. It enables people to pay more promptly and they buy necessities instead of liquor. The Germans that come stay for a short time. Does not affect business either way. Good. The law is a good thing for business.	Increases it. Savings deposits are increasing.	Less debts and failures than where the prohibitory law is enforced. It improves all kinds of trade. Money which would otherwise be spent for drink is now paid for goods. Women who formerly supported their families by going out to service are now supported at home by their husbands. More goods sold. Decidedly for good. Don't know. Fine trade. Leaves more money for shoes, etc. Can't say. Sobriety improves business in the above lines.	Increases the chances for the collection of debts. Do not think they are any worse. (No answer.) Collections are better. Collections are affected for good. It helps. Collections good. (No answer.) Can't say. As a rule, liquor drinkers are slow pay. (No answer.)
Moline...Geo. E. Martin... Moran...S. C. Varner... Mound City...H. W. Underhill... ...C. I. Long... Moundridge...J. Toevs... Mound Valley...J. O. Wilson... Mount Hope...W. O. Munsell...	Salutary. If all towns would prohibit, it would be a great help. A good effect. [No answer.] Can't tell. It enables people to pay more promptly and they buy necessities instead of liquor. The Germans that come stay for a short time. Does not affect business either way. Good. The law is a good thing for business.	Increases it. Savings deposits are increasing.	Less debts and failures than where the prohibitory law is enforced. It improves all kinds of trade. Money which would otherwise be spent for drink is now paid for goods. Women who formerly supported their families by going out to service are now supported at home by their husbands. More goods sold. Decidedly for good. Don't know. Fine trade. Leaves more money for shoes, etc. Can't say. Sobriety improves business in the above lines.	Increases the chances for the collection of debts. Do not think they are any worse. (No answer.) Collections are better. Collections are affected for good. It helps. Collections good. (No answer.) Can't say. As a rule, liquor drinkers are slow pay. (No answer.)
Mulvane...L. D. Hill... Muscatine...W. C. McClain... Neodesha...R. P. Carpenter... Neosho Falls...C. H. Goodrich... ...W. W. Sain... Ness City...G. A. Pawlik... ...E. C. Merrill... Newton...Chas. R. Munger... ...E. H. Hoag... ...A. B. Gilbert... ...C. R. McLain... Nickerson...L. C. Brown... ...H. P. Aldrich... Norcat...Freeman Doyle... North Topeka...Peter Smith...	Salutary. If all towns would prohibit, it would be a great help. A good effect. [No answer.] Can't tell. It enables people to pay more promptly and they buy necessities instead of liquor. The Germans that come stay for a short time. Does not affect business either way. Good. The law is a good thing for business.	Increases it. Savings deposits are increasing.	Less debts and failures than where the prohibitory law is enforced. It improves all kinds of trade. Money which would otherwise be spent for drink is now paid for goods. Women who formerly supported their families by going out to service are now supported at home by their husbands. More goods sold. Decidedly for good. Don't know. Fine trade. Leaves more money for shoes, etc. Can't say. Sobriety improves business in the above lines.	Increases the chances for the collection of debts. Do not think they are any worse. (No answer.) Collections are better. Collections are affected for good. It helps. Collections good. (No answer.) Can't say. As a rule, liquor drinkers are slow pay. (No answer.)
Norton...M. Heaton... Nortonville...O. W. Babcock... ...John Campbell... Norwich...P. N. Wright... Oberlin...R. O. Kindig... Oketo...Z. H. Moore... Olathe...M. G. Miller... ...J. B. Bruner... ...W. H. Betts... Onaga...J. W. Dunn... ...Harry Hagaman... Onida...F. E. Wikoff... Osage City...D. C. Lake... ...T. L. Marshall... Osage Mission...Wm. May... ...C. N. Post... Osawatimie...J. B. Remington... Osborne...S. P. Crampton... Oswego...H. C. Cook... Ottawa...A. Dobson... ...C. C. Minton... ...L. A. Payne... ...Peter Shiras... Overbrook...E. J. Hilkey... Paola...C. F. Henson... Parker...W. W. Smith... Parsons...E. B. Stevens... ...G. W. Hawk... Pawnee Rock...J. W. Ratcliffe... Peabody...J. E. Tressler... ...W. H. Ellett... ...Willis Westbrook... ...S. S. Findley... Perry...Frank Eakin... Phillipsburg...J. F. Morse... ...A. W. Robertson... Pierceville...G. W. Wright... Pittsburg...Frank W. Lanyon... ...A. L. Chaplin... ...C. P. Hale... Pleasanton...G. R. Saunders... Pomona...A. S. Benton... Pratt...Gust Carlander... ...A. E. Munch... Quenemo...F. E. Bodley... Randolph...V. E. Johnson... ...James H. Dow... Rawanna...J. F. Crocker... Republic...David Bedell... ...W. W. Stover... Richfield...B. C. Mitchell... Riley...J. W. Lowdermilk... Rossville...A. C. Sherman... Rush Center...E. F. Augir... ...O. S. Holt... Russell...Yorall... ...V. K. Hoover... Sabatha...Roy Hesselbine... Salina...A. S. Scott...	Salutary. If all towns would prohibit, it would be a great help. A good effect. [No answer.] Can't tell. It enables people to pay more promptly and they buy necessities instead of liquor. The Germans that come stay for a short time. Does not affect business either way. Good. The law is a good thing for business.	Increases it. Savings deposits are increasing.	Less debts and failures than where the prohibitory law is enforced. It improves all kinds of trade. Money which would otherwise be spent for drink is now paid for goods. Women who formerly supported their families by going out to service are now supported at home by their husbands. More goods sold. Decidedly for good. Don't know. Fine trade. Leaves more money for shoes, etc. Can't say. Sobriety improves business in the above lines.	Increases the chances for the collection of debts. Do not think they are any worse. (No answer.) Collections are better. Collections are affected for good. It helps. Collections good. (No answer.) Can't say. As a rule, liquor drinkers are slow pay. (No answer.)