ALL HOME PRINT.

A PARTY that would live must accept the people as voting as they wished to.

CHURCH HOWE introduced the first seven bills presented in the house of representatives.

OUR motto: Permit none but Americans to sit in the executive chair.—Fremont Tribune.

SECRETARY-OF-STATE ALLEN has retained ex-Secretary Cowdery as his assistant for the present.

It looks very much as though Mr. Ingalls would be his own successor in the United States senate.

THE Lincoln Call refers to Mr. Boyd as "a citizen of Great Britain sojourning on these foreign shores."

THE legislators will pay for their own newspapers. They will thus set a good example for their constituents.

THERE is not much fuss and feathers being made over inaugural messages and balls in any of the states this year.

THE county alliance in Frontier county met the other day and they declared that 4,500 people in that county must have help to tide the winter over.

ACCORDING to the reports of the mercantile agencies, the failures in Kansas in 1890 summed up $4,500,000. This amount was nearly double the losses in 1889.

THE newspapers who gave currency to the unfounded report that Gov. Thayer is "a raving maniac" are guilty of an act which will condemn them in the eyes of every citizen.

GEORGE BANCROFT, the venerable historian, died at Washington, Saturday, at the ripe old age of 80 years. He was ill but three days, and his death will be a shock to the whole country.

BARBED wire manufacturers held a meeting in Chicago last week, to form a trust, but after getting legal advice decided to still continue on their own hook, as the anti-trust law proves too much for them.

ALL parties seem to have settled down at Springfield for one of the deadlocks for which Illinois is noted. The balance of power men have the situation well in their own hands, and it looks like a contest of endurance.

THERE will be no security on the frontier as long as the Indians, friendly or hostile, are permitted to keep their guns. The government fully understand this fact, and failure to disarm them now would be unwise and cowardly.

THERE is one good thing about it all, citizens of few other states can point the finger of scorn at the Nebraska legislature's wild proceeding. Most of the states have legislatures of their own which are likewise indulging in a great deal of unseemly hilarity.

REPRESENTATIVE MODI is to be commended for his course during the turbulent organization of the legislature. It may be said to his everlasting credit that while many of his colleagues were putting their brogans into their mouths, Andy was exhibiting his steady good sense by silence.

KING KALAKAUA, of the Hawaiian Islands, who came to the United States some weeks ago in the hope of benefiting his health, and for the purpose of effecting arrangements for the improvement of the financial condition of his realm, died, Tuesday, in San Francisco. It is not uncharitable to say that the dead ruler was not a heroic figure, and that his life was devoted largely to the pursuit of pleasure and to self-gratification.

The Appointment Made.

On Wednesday of this week, President Harrison sent into the senate the nomination of Hon. James P. Lindsay of Beaver City, to be Register of the McCook land office, vice Hon. S. P. Hart, whose term of office expires on the 28th of February. The appointment is a thoroughly good one and will be highly acceptable. Mr. Lindsay has served two terms as a state senator for this district with conspicuous ability. He is a rising young lawyer, a clever gentleman, and the office will fall into good and capable hands when the ex-senator assumes charge.

MODI is all right.

SENATOR KOONTZ is all right.

REGISTER LINDSAY is all right.

CONGRESSMAN LAWS is doing some quiet but hard work.

THE TRIBUNE is awaiting the initial appearance of the Hastings Daily Democrat with an earnestness born of desperation.

MUCH talk has been indulged in by the press and pulpit of the east concerning the keeping open of the World's fair on Sunday. A Chicago minister has solved the question by stating that if the fair is held open on Sunday it will keep thousands of persons from attending worse places.

BECAUSE Mr. Thayer has vacated the executive apartments in response to the order of the board of public works it does not follow that he admits Mr. Boyd's election. On the contrary he maintains vigorously his original position that he (Thayer) is governor, and that until the question of Mr. Boyd's eligibility is settled any executive act by the latter is null and void. Thayer's relinquishment of the office does not, of course, effect the proceedings begun by him in the supreme court.

THAT eminent peanut politician, David B. Hill, was Wednesday elected to succeed Senator Everts of New York. The deal was carried through according to the arrangements made by the party bosses without the slightest variation from the published programme. The goods were wrapped up and delivered and the new senator was made. No investigation into the qualifications of Mr. Hill to fill such an important position was made. The rank and file of the party had nothing to say. It was simply a business transaction engineered for the benefit of the professional politicians. New York is ostensibly under a republican form of government, but in the trifling little matters of electing public officers and saying what shall be done with the public funds the people are "not in it."—Journal.

THE adoption by the house of Mr. Shrader's resolution inviting co-operation of the states west of the Mississippi in the revision of their usury and stay laws is a move in the right direction. The wisdom of this course is obvious. If the usury and stay laws are revised in a manner to appear unduly hostile to capital, capital will endeavor to retaliate by withdrawing from the state or states in which such legislation is enacted. If Nebraska should be more arbitrary than Minnesota, Kansas or Colorado, investors and capitalists would give them the preference over Nebraska. If, however, an agreement can be reached by which all the granger states in the northwest would enact laws that were uniform as regards the legal rate of interest, penalties for usury and right of redemption after foreclosure, the results desired by the debtor class would be achieved without bringing them into a conflict with their creditors.—Bee.

THE McCOOK TRIBUNE makes a bid for your patronage on the high business ground of merit. Look it over and see if we don't deserve your support during 1891.

More aid is now being sent to this point in care of Rev. J. T. Roberts than comes any other way.

W. S. Phillips has gone to Unionville, Mo., to look after the title to the land he bought near there.

Some of our real estate men are receiving inquiries every day as to the price of land in this county.

A company will be formed to tap the Red Willow and irrigate all the bottom land from the Willow to Bartley.

Mrs. S. F. Daily, relative of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Rand, has been visiting them the past week. She went to Denver, Tuesday morning.

J. Byron Jennings, said to be the handsomest attorney in the eleventh judicial district, was doing business in the county-seat on the 19th inst.

D. R. Carpenter's preliminary trial came off Wednesday before Judge Keyes, Attorneys Starr and Berge appearing for the state and Attorney Frank H. Strout for the defendant.

County Treasurer Henton could not have selected a man in the county as his deputy who would have been more acceptable to the people of this community than Foster Stilgebauer.

F. A. Godell of Haverhill, Mass., an old schoolmate of Attorney Strout, on his way to California, stopped off a few days to visit Frank. Mr. Godell is one of three brothers who run a large stove manufacturing establishment at Haverhill.

Brother Carpenter has at last rendered an account of himself, during the first days sessions of our highly uproarious state legislature. We had been creditably informed that the talented editor of the B.-L.-F.-W. had gone down to Lincoln after hayseed and expected that he would distinguish himself beyond regulation. But seeing no special mention of him in the great metropolitan press of this state we thought he might have gone on down into Kansas where hay is more abundant and preachers less numerous, else why had he not taken Sheriff McClay by the nap of the neck and the seat of his breeches and thrown him over the dome of the capital. Why had he not like the Le Noir Faineant at the tournament of Ashby-de-la-Zanche swung in at the supreme moment and tied Meiklejohn and McClay in a knot and stow them away under the Speaker's desk. Imagine our surprise when Richard himself steps to the front and explains that while the storm was at its highest he was calmly but firmly making peace between two contending guardsmen. Shades of departed peace makers! what an ameliorating influence city life has on our auburn haired editor.

THE McCOOK TRIBUNE.

OFFICIAL CITY AND COUNTY PAPER.

TO BUSINESS MEN GREETING:

THE TRIBUNE is a zealous, active representative of your interests and of every worthy interests of the city. It aims to give McCook one of the best newspapers in Nebraska. From a financial standpoint it is doing all that it can do to keep McCook where the city rightfully belongs, in the very front rank of the enterprising young cities of the state. It is ever doing more than it can afford to do. It therefore asks the support of every business man, be it much or little, in order that it may continue during the coming winter months to keep up its standard of excellence that has been so frequently alluded to and complimented by the press of the state. It is common among merchants to discontinue their advertising, or nearly so, at the beginning of the year, a mistake from a business point of view and a policy of serious import to newspaper business. THE TRIBUNE, with the leading circulation in the city, offers actual inducements to advertisers, and believes that it can make it appear to their advantage to pursue a comparatively liberal advertising policy during the next ninety days. THE TRIBUNE can give you good value for your business, and will thereby be enabled to promote your business interests, and the interests of the city generally by means of support that will make it a power for good in and for the community.
