A Scrap of Paper Saves Her Life.
It was just an ordinary scrap of wrapping paper, but it saved her life. She was in the last stages of consumption, told by physicians that she was incurable and could live only a short time; she weighed less than seventy pounds. On a piece of wrapping paper she read of Dr. King's New Discovery, and got a sample bottle; it helped her, she bought a large bottle, it helped her more, bought another and grew better fast, continued its use and is now strong, healthy, rosy, plump, weighing 140 pounds. For fuller particulars send stamp to W. H. Cole, druggist, Fort Smith. Trial bottles of this wonderful discovery free at A. McMillan's drug store. 34.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

A Word in Season.
The barking of a pack of hounds may be music, but the barking of the human family is certainly discord. Stop that cough with Humphreys' Specific No. Seven.

Itch on human and horses and all animals cured in 30 minutes by Woolford's Sanitary Lotion. This never fails. Sold by L. W. McConnell & Co., Druggists, McCook. 30-lyr.

NOTICE.
ESTIMATE OF EXPENSES.
At the regular annual meeting of the Board of County Commissioners held January 13th, 1891, the following estimate was made of necessary expenses of the County of Red Willow during the ensuing year, viz, 1891:

UNIQUE SCARF-PINS.

LEONARD GROVER, the playwright and author of "Our Boarding House," wears a scarf-pin made of three suicide bullets.

THE rattlesnake rattle pin of Arthur Wallack has been seen by everybody who is acquainted with him. There are four buttons and a rattle.

BARON HUPMAN is very fond of a facsimile of the student cap worn by his corps in Heidelberg. The Baron won the pin from his corps in a saber duel.

CHARLES STEVENSON, husband of Kate Claxton, wears an amethyst face with pearl edgings, which was presented to him by members of the Lamb's Club.

H. M. SLATER would not part with the little splinter of a gun barrel which he carried in his side for years and now wears in his tie for any sum of money.

JULIUS NATHAN wears a diamond rooster, and he has been known to remark that it glittered on good financial days and appeared dim when money was tight.

Y. M. ONDERDONK, known as young Mr. Onderdonk, wears a pair of crossed sabers. They are made of porcupine quills, and each has a basket hilt of woven gold.

Cecil BARRINGTON is very proud of a cameo in jasper and beryl, an odd combination which George Montague, late Viscount Mandeville and now Duke of Manchester, gave him.

CHARLEY JENKINS, ex-commander of the Larchmont Yacht Club, wears in his neck-tie a green carbuncle which he brought from Burma, where he spent nearly two years. The stone is valuable and unique.

CITO ONATILIA, who poses as Berry Wall's successor in the duchship kingdom, wears three pink pearls on a circle of gold. The pin is rich looking and its owner claims that the proverbial good luck of pink pearls has followed it.

J. G. B. THUMMEL-CLOETE, a journalist who was with the French in Tonquin, was shot by a Chinese soldier and part of his splintered shoulder was extracted by the surgeon. He wears his shoulder blade on his breast, where, gold mounted, it shines in his black scarf.

THE WIFE'S ALLOWANCE.

Mrs. HARRISON thinks every woman should be allowed some settled amount for her household as well as her personal expenses.

Mrs. SENATOR SPOONER doesn't believe in a regular allowance and dislikes keeping accounts. She prefers to be allowed all the money she needs and no questions asked.

Mrs. JUSTICE FIELD is positive in her views that every woman should be allowed a regular income, without which, she asserts, there can be no real domestic comfort.

Mrs. ATTORNEY-GENERAL MILLER considers the question one of vital importance, and declares that more than half of our unhappy marriages are the direct result of this neglect.

Mrs. SENATOR MANDERSON considers that the importance of trusting a wife with a regular sum, according to the means of the individual, is too obvious to be considered for a moment.

Mrs. SENATOR DOLPH thinks that the wife who receives a regular allowance is more economical, and that the husband can better calculate his yearly expenses, thereby benefitting both.

"No woman should be compelled or expected to ask her husband for every cent she spends," declares Mrs. Robert P. Porter, wife of the census commissioner. "It puts her in a false and humiliating position."

"By all means," says Mrs. William W. Morrow, wife of Representative Morrow, "should women possess an annual allowance. How can a wife keep things running smoothly unless she knows just what she has to depend upon?"

THE DEAR PRINCE.

THE Princess of Wales is forty-nine years old and wears a number six shoe. The Prince of Wales has a cabinet containing copies of every style of photograph ever taken of himself.

THE private correspondence of the Prince of Wales is something enormous. He is said to receive four times as many letters a day as does the President of the United States.

PERHAPS it is not generally known that the Prince of Wales is a collector of dogs. He is very fond of the canine tribe, and, among others, possesses some dogs with black tongues.

THE Sandringham parties given by the Prince of Wales are of two kinds. Grave and reverend personages are invited from Saturday until Monday, while royalties and members of the Marlborough house "set" come from Monday until Saturday.

THE English dinner-hour has been getting later during the whole of the present century. When the Queen married it was seven o'clock. She now dines at nine. The Prince of Wales' effort to turning it back to half past seven is supplemented by an appeal for dancing to begin at nine, to be finished at one.

EFFICACIOUS REMEDIES.

FOR nausea, lay a little pounded ice on the back of the neck.

FOR an aching tooth, saturate a piece of cotton with ammonia and lay it on the tooth.

It is reported that a diet of fresh sweet buttermilk has been often found favorable, and even effectual, to the cure of Bright's disease.

FOR stomach worms in a child, mix one teaspoonful of powdered sage in two tablespoonfuls of molasses, and give a teaspoonful every morning.

THE milk and pulp of the cocoanut are such uninviting food to the tapeworm that when a man lives upon them for awhile, Mr. Worm gets disgusted and quits. So says Prof. Pareisi, of Athens.

A VERY good substitute for castor oil, for use in young children, is the aromatic syrup of rhubarb. This contains about one-half as much rhubarb as the aromatic uncture. The dose of the aromatic syrup is one teaspoonful for a child about one year old.
