A Scrap of Paper Saves Her Life.

It was just an ordinary scrap of wrapping paper, but it saved her life. She was in the last stages of consumption, told by physicians that she was incurable and could live only a short time; she weighed less than seventy pounds. On a piece of wrapping paper she read of Dr. King's New Discovery, and got a sample bottle; it helped her, she bought a large bottle, it helped her more, bought another and grew better fast, continued its use and is now strong, healthy, rosy, plump, weighing 140 pounds. For fuller particulars send stamp to W. H. Cole, druggist, Fort Smith. Trial bottles of this wonderful discovery free at A. McMillan's drug store. 34.

Acknowledgment.

In behalf of the four southwestern townships of Frontier county I want to make this public acknowledgment of the courtesies freely extended us by the Frees & Hocknell Lumber Co. of McCook, in storing and weighing our coal for us.

IRRIGATION IN AUSTRALIA.

Her Pastoral Areas More Valuable Than Her Mines.

Australia has in her vast pastoral areas sources of wealth as great and more permanent than those of her mines. Already she has nearly one hundred million sheep, which in the mild climate and under the sunny sky of the country require no shelter throughout the year and no food beyond what they get on the open plains. It is true that the sunny sky may change to a sky of brass, and that drought is the dread of the Australian shepherd, herdsman and farmer. Occasionally there is a succession of dry seasons, and then sheep have perished by millions and cattle by thousands on the more remote stations. To master recurring droughts is the great question of Australia's inland future. Here, as elsewhere, nature challenges man's free advance and places some special obstacle in his way. Australians are facing their task with energy, confidence, and the promise of much success. They have learned the art of drawing wealth even from scrub land of which a single sheep requires several acres for its support. Irrigation works on a large scale have been begun in Victoria and South Australia. The storage of water in reservoirs is being carried out in a large way by municipalities and private companies. Throughout New South Wales and Queensland the boring of artesian wells has met with satisfactory success. Once given the certain means of carrying the flocks and herds through the occasional periods of drought, there seems no limit to the pastoral capacity of such immense provinces as New South Wales and Queensland. With completed systems of irrigation Australia promises to become one of the greatest grape and fruit growing countries in the world. The many difficulties with which men are confronted on this great continent are more than matched by its wonderful possibilities.—George R. Parkin, in February Century.

SOUTH SIDE SAUCE.

It is thumbs up with Child.

Bert Brewer has his summer's ice up in good shape.

George Dillon has rented Jerry O'Neil's south side farm.

The survey for the irrigation ditch is progressing slowly.

Squire Whittaker held court again, last Thursday, for McCook parties.

The Alliance is still gaining strength over here. Ten new members joining at last meeting.

Jim Nelson has gone to Denver. We understand his prospective bride will join him there and they will assume the double harness.

Mrs. S. W. Sellers left last Sunday for her old home in Iowa in response to a telegram stating that her only sister was dead. By the way what is the matter of the delivery system in McCook? The message laid 20 hours in McCook before delivery. UNO.

"The Greatest Thing in the World."

Prof. Drummond's famous address on "Love: the Supreme Gift," sometimes called "The Greatest Thing in the World," which has had a wonderfully large sale at 35 cents a copy, and has undoubtedly done a great deal of good, is now published by Allen, unbridged, in large "Flea" type, for THREE CENTS! It ought, now, to circulate by the million. The same publisher issues Drummond's "Natural Law in the Spiritual World," in large type, fine "half seal" binding, for 35 cents, plus postage, 10 cents. These are two items characteristic of the 132 page catalogue, which is sent free on request, by the publisher, JOHN B. ALDEN, 333 Pearl Street, New York.

The usual treatment of catarrh is very unsatisfactory, as thousands of despairing patients can testify. A trustworthy medical writer says: "Proper local treatment is positively necessary to success, but most of the remedies in general use by physicians afford but temporary benefit. A cure cannot be expected from snuffs, powders, douches and washes." Ely's Cream Balm is a remedy which combines the important requisites of quick action, specific curative power with perfect safety and pleasantness to the patient.
