Another of those Double Numbers which the publishers of "The Youth's Companion" seem to delight in offering as a pleasant surprise to its readers comes to us this week. THE TRIBUNE understands that the state seed is expected next week. This county will receive $4,000 worth. Of this amount $2,000 worth will be distributed from McCook,—the other half from Indianola.

To the sundry patriots who are standing around with mouths wide open for a county office, next fall, we must respectfully and tearfully dedicate the old saw "that everything comes to him who waits."

Says the Inter-Ocean "three things will improve this climate, trees, water detained in ponds and irrigation. It will be some time before irrigation is extensively used but nearly every land owner can plant some trees and make some small ponds. Every little will help."

The coming city election in McCook will be held under the new system as provided in the Australian ballot law. It will be necessary to make nominations at once; and our citizens should bestir themselves in order that they may comply with the provisions of the new law.

Last evening Squire Colvin spoke the words uniting in wedlock Mr. Eugene A. Bellinger and Mrs. Kate Neal, the ceremony taking place at the residence of Barney Lewis, a cousin of the bride. There were but a few relatives and friends present. A marriage feast followed the ceremony. THE TRIBUNE wants to see every farmer in Red Willow county, who has a canon or draw on his farm, dam the same in time to hold the spring rains. Impound every gallon of water that comes. Let it sink into the ground. Shortly your stock will tramp the bottom of the pond so that it will hold water the season through. Try it.

Only a short time ago Miss Ida Hollister accepted a position in the United States Land Office in this city, and came here with her aged mother from Nebraska. Yesterday morning she was bereft of her mother who sickened only a few days ago and died yesterday morning. She had only been here some two months. The sympathies of all will go out to Miss Ida in her hour of sorrow.—Salt Lake City Tribune, Tuesday, Feb. 24th.

While the whole trend of thought and talk is toward irrigation in some form, THE TRIBUNE takes the present opportunity of gathering a thought wherever found for our readers. One from an exchange is here stated, and will be useful for every citizen of the semi-arid region, which is how to take the level for an irrigation ditch: "Take two pieces of 2x4 about 16 feet long and pin them together at the top, and near the bottom nail a board across so that the bottom of the crossed pieces will just be one rod apart. Then from the apex hang a good plumb line, level it and mark the line on the board at the bottom; also, by calculation, find the position of the plumb line on the board at the grade of your ditch and mark on each side of the center mark, and you have the entire machine, which can be walked along, sticking a stake at every rod, and by means of the plumb line the grade is kept accurately." Irrigation may not be generally practiced in this county, but this simple knowledge is of benefit to every practical man.

It is not often that the Hub offers an apology or has anything to apologize for. Just now, however, it is in a deeply penitential mood, and makes humble apology to a large number of righteously indignant citizens who have thronged this office for several days for the purpose of making a display of their injured feelings. And this is the how of it: About a month ago the Hub mirthfully notified the public that the backbone of winter was broken. This was not true; but the public, which had long since learned to accept this paper's statements as true in all respects, at once began to govern itself accordingly. Spring dry goods and millinery appeared in the show windows, winter overcoats were placed in pawn, the street sprinkler was put in repair, lawns were cleaned up, the hydrants gargled, grass seed put in soak, and early vegetable seed put where it would do the most good. Farmers began to sow spring wheat, got their corn ready for planting, uncovered the potato bins, began to set hens, and did many other things that they do with every recurrence of spring, gentle spring. Never before, perhaps, were the actions of so many people governed or directed by a simple newspaper announcement. This was all creditable to the Hub, of course, but upon what followed we must tearfully but respectfully draw the veil. There was some mistake about it. The backbone of winter has, in short, resisted the insinuation. It is all there, and has suffered neither fracture nor abrasion. Hence this apology.—Kearney Hub.

I will pay a suitable reward for the recovery of my shepherd dog. He is young, shaggy coated, yellow haired with white spots. Has been gone about two weeks. Leave word at this office. C. G. HOLMES.

THE HAND OF AFFLICTION.

The hand of affliction rests heavily upon this community. Death has been a sudden and terrible visitor in a number of devoted homes, during the past few weeks, and loved ones have passed out into the life eternal, where sickness and pangs of parting are unknown. Mr. and Mrs. A. Campbell have with others felt the sting of the unsparing one in the sudden loss of their little boy Leslie, about two years of age, who died last Friday in the early evening, with malignant scarlet fever, after a brief illness indeed.

The funeral occurred at the hour of 2 o'clock, Saturday afternoon, from the residence, the Rev. Samuel F. Myers of Holdrege officiating. By request and on account of the nature of the disease, the services were brief and the attendance restricted.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Campbell are profoundly grieved over the sudden taking away of their dear one, and in their sorrow must feel the responsive touch of sympathy coming from all loyal and loving hearts in this city.

JUDICIOUS ADVERTISING

Creates many a new business, Enlarges many an old business, Revives many a dull business, Rescues many a lost business, Saves many a failing business, Preserves many a large business, Secures success in any business.

So says a man of business, and we add that judicious advertising, for this section of the country, includes THE TRIBUNE as one of the mediums, because it is read by the best people, those who know what they want and pay for what they get. We challenge comparison with any country paper in the valley in this respect.

NOTICE.

The Board of Directors and the Executive Committee of the Agricultural Society, together with all who feel interested, are requested to meet at the court house in Indianola, Saturday, March 7th, for the purpose of fixing time of the fair of 1891, revising the premium list and transacting such other business as may be necessary. Will the ladies attend and assist in arranging the premiums for the ladies departments. The Board will meet at 10 o'clock, the ladies in the afternoon at two o'clock. A. P. DAY, Pres.

C. W. BECK, Sec.

RESOLUTIONS

Passed by the Congregational Sabbath School on the death of Helen Hocknell:

WHEREAS, It has pleased our Heavenly Father to call to Himself our beloved member, Helen Hocknell, therefore, be it

RESOLVED, That, while our hearts are saddened by the thought that we shall see her bright face no more, yet we reverently bow in submission to God's will: knowing that He doeth all things well.

RESOLVED, That, in this dark shadow of affliction we would tender our deepest sympathy and condolence to the bereaved parents. They may be comforted by the memory of a loving child, an emblem of one of the beloved little ones of whom it was said "Of such is the Kingdom of Heaven."

REPEALED.

One of the last and most important acts of the late congress, as effecting this country, was the repeal of the timber culture and pre-emption laws. The following telegram to the officers of the U. S. land office at McCook will explain itself:

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 4th, '91. To Register and Receiver, McCook, Neb. Timber culture and pre-emption laws this day repealed. Allow no further entries thereunder of claims hereafter initiated. LEWIS A. GROFF, Com.

Kalstedt, The Tailor.

Will hereafter be found in his new quarters in the old Bump restaurant building opposite the Frees & Hoskne Lumber Yard, where he is better prepared than ever to accommodate his trade. He guarantees stylish work, and his prices are reasonable. They will be the latest and most stylish.

REMOVAL!

We have moved our stock of jewelry, watches, clocks, etc., into new quarters in the Smith brick, (formerly the First National bank building), where we have increased room and facilities for displaying our line, and where we will be pleased to welcome customers old and new. FRANK CARRUTH & SON.

To Let.

A 13 room house on the hill, two blocks from the post office. Can rent to two parties in four and nine rooms. RYAN & NOBEN.

THE COMMERCIAL HOUSE SOLD.

There will be general regret in McCook upon learning of the sale of the Commercial House, which occurred this week, Mr. H. M. Wolf of Culbertson being the purchaser. From a small beginning Mr. Johnston has built up a hotel business second to none in Western Nebraska. His popularity and the excellence of his service have made this the favorite stopping place for the commercial men of the Republican Valley; while his praises are on the lips of the genial public, with whom the Commercial has been a prime favorite and headquarters.

The transaction involves a half interest in the Culbertson mill, some land and cash, and is one of the heaviest deals ever made in McCook. Mr. Johnston retains his farm near McCook as well as his other real estate interests in this part of the state.

The new proprietor will take charge some time next week, and THE TRIBUNE can perhaps wish him no better fortune than a continuance of the patronage and prosperity accorded to the late owner.

Socially Mr. Johnston and his estimable family have endeared themselves to a wide circle of warm friends in this city, who fondly hope that McCook may continue to be their abiding place. This will be their home at least, this summer, Mr. Johnston, having rented the Lindner dwelling.

BARTLEY NOTES.

O. L. Campbell of McCook was in Bartley on Tuesday evening.

Isaac Vandervort, our blacksmith, has received notice of a pension.

E. R. Moon and family returned from Decatur, Decatur Co., Kans.

John Weeden and O. Frost seem to be having a game of hide-and-go-seek.

Many people in Bartley are joyful over the findings of the supreme court.

Commissioner C. W. Hodgkin is busy this week distributing aid coal to the needy.

S. W. Clark, O. Frost and Commissioner Hodgkin were in McCook, on Wednesday.

If the signs of the times are correct Bartley will witness a well developed scandal ere long.

A. H. Barnhart has been very sick for several days; also has his little daughter with la grippe.

S. W. Clark, our energetic hardware merchant, has received the appointment as postmaster at this place.

I. W. Stevens and family arrived from Lenox, Iowa. Mr. Stevens and family come highly recommended as good energetic citizens and what is our gain is Iowa's loss.

The chief mogul of the Bartley L. F. W. makes trips weekly between this place and the capital city. Undoubtedly he is a little nervous over his pending libel suit as time passes.

We understand that while the "devil" and the "short man of Bartley" were at work last Sunday the "devil" became unmanageable and has not returned as yet. This is very good for a member of the church for fifteen years.

M. N. Eskey seems to feel slighted over the fact that he was not personally consulted as regards the postoffice appointment. But it is consoling to hear him say: "Wait till McKeighan gets in." However no attention is paid to him any more.

March Weather Forecasts.

6 to 12—Very changeable, then rainy, then cold.

13 to 19—A hard snow storm followed by changeable winds and snow flurries.

20 to 27—Very changeable and stormy, with rain and snow.

28 to 31—Variable winds and rain.

The New Register.

Register Lindsay, though still suffering from an attack of the grip, assumed the duties of his office on Monday morning, with F. L. Brown as clerk; and THE TRIBUNE wagers right here at the outset that the affairs of the office will be conducted with conspicuous neatness, dispatch and ability.
