FROM THE COUNTY-SEAT.

Hon. J. W. Dolan is in Lincoln.
The scarlet fever scare is about over.

There is quite a demand for farms to rent new town.

Attorney Snavely returned from Denver, Sunday morning.

Mayor Curfman is interesting himself in the new election law.

Attorney Snavely is in McCook trying an important land case.

A few calamities that did not happen: Eli missed Indiana. Indiana missed Eli.

Edward Wyck, a young man living with his father northeast from town, died Tuesday, the 11th inst.

Miss Carrie Ashmore filed on a timber claim a few days before the timber claim and pre-emption laws were repealed.

It is reported that the remnant of the Crumbaugh stock of goods is to be shipped to Chicago. We wish to assure the people of the United States, however, that the World's Fair will go right on.

The legal voters of the north half of Indiana precinct have petitioned the commissioners to be set of in a precinct by themselves. To all of which we (singular number) have no objection, if for no other reason than that they always kick when we (plural number) want to do something for "God and Native Land."

"When the spring time comes, gentle Annie," it has been a custom of ours to congregate along the iron railing in front of Jim Dolan's bank and talk about Nebraska's fine climate and how we used to farm in Indiana and how we would like to farm in Nebraska. Speak of the degenerating influence of riding plows and twine binders and the general dilapidated condition of the agricultural industry of this country since we quit the business. But this spring we get close up to a red hot stove and wonder if the price of coal will continue to go up, if there is danger that the supply will give out, wonder if the Nebraska legislature will ever adjourn and the banks feel safe to loan money.

BANKSVILLE BUDGET.

The cold wave has come and with it some snow. The 6th inst. about two inches fell and the continued cold leaves snow yet, but it has got somewhat warmer.

The writer was at McCook at the distribution of aid, Saturday, and from observation it was evident that the farmers needed the aid or there would not have been such energetic pushing and squabbling to get there. The horny-handed farmer as a rule don't do that kind of work. In their condition of a reasonable success at their calling you seldom find a class of people more ready to depend upon their own resources. But it was evinced Saturday that most of the farmers were left without resources, hence the rush for rations. It is said the trade complains of the farmers getting aid. They ought to rejoice with the farmer for their getting aid, for if the farmers could in any way have a little money and were already supplied with some of the substantial things they would have their money to use to add a few comforts, placing that money to the benefit of the tradesmen. Fear not, time will tell.

OBSERVER.
