German Syrup

We have selected two or three lines from letters freshly received from parents who have given German Syrup to their children in the emergencies of Croup. You will credit these, because they come from good, substantial people, happy in finding what so many families lack—a medicine containing no evil drug, which mother can administer with confidence to the little ones in their most critical hours, safe and sure that it will carry them through.

Ed. L. Willets, of Mrs. Jas. W. Kirk, Alma, Neb. I give it to my children in the emergencies of Croup and never saw any preparation act like it. It is simply invaluable.

Fully one-half of our customers are mothers who use Boschee's German Syrup among their children. A medicine to be successful with the little folks must be a treatment for the sudden and terrible foes of childhood, whooping cough, croup, diphtheria and the dangerous inflammations of delicate throats and lungs.

The Soap that Cleans Most is Lenox.

PURIFY YOUR BLOOD.

But do not use the dangerous alkaline and mercurial preparations which destroy your nervous system and ruin the digestive power of the stomach. The vegetable kingdom gives us the best and safest remedial agents. Dr. Sherman devoted the greater part of his life to the discovery of this reliable and safe remedy, and all its ingredients are vegetable. He gave it the name of Prickly Ash Bitters! a name every one can remember, and to the present day nothing has been discovered that is so beneficial for the BLOOD, for the LIVER, for the KIDNEYS and for the STOMACH. This remedy is now so well and favorably known by all who have used it that arguments as to its merits are useless, and if others who require a corrective to the system would but give it a trial the health of this country would be vastly improved. Remember the name—PRICKLY ASH BITTERS. Ask your druggist for it. PRICKLY ASH BITTERS CO., ST. LOUIS, MO.

DR. E. C. WEST'S NERVE AND BRAIN TREATMENT.

1110 Goodman Street, OMAHA, NEB.

Man's greatest enemy is the wine-glass; woman's, the looking-glass. But the greatest friend of both is that world-renowned philanthropist, Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

"That was a crack shot," said the boy as he disgorged the show-window with a pebble.

"There's nothing half so sweet in life as 'love's young dream'." Now about this there is some diversity of opinion. Some give preference to a good article of taffy, but there are few things any sweeter than case after a racking pain and this is only gotten by using Salvation Oil.

A Very Absentminded Old Man.

We have some curious customers occasionally. There is one absentminded old gentleman who usually dines at noon at a hotel near by. When he is in a hurry he takes luncheon here. The first time he came here he forgot to pay up. Fortunately, there was some gentleman here who identified him. The next time he came I saw him eat a meal that cost exactly fifteen cents, but he wanted to pay the cashier $1. Probably he was dreaming that he had eaten his table d'hôte dinner. The old gentleman was greatly surprised when I told him exactly what he had eaten, and he thought I was very smart to remember it all. I afterward learned that he always carries his napkin home when he dines at his hotel. His wife has it washed and returned the next day by mail.—Interview in New York Tribune.

The Prostrating Shocks

Of malarial fever are not to be counteracted by quinine with any degree of certainty, or for any length of time. The eradication and prevention of disease of a malarial type are, however, ascertained possibilities. Long experience has shown that there is infinitely more present in the few botanical medicines, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, than in the alkaloids, drugs, or poisons which were formerly the only recognized means of removing and anticipating attacks of fever and ague and bilious repletion. When the system has been depleted by periodically recurring paroxysms, this agreeable restorative renews the funds of energy, and is not only a positive specific but repairs the damage to the general health inflicted by all febrile complaints partaking of the malarial character.

Dust That Is Harmless.

Not long ago somebody experimented with dust gathered from various places to search for microbes. The dust from a city street, that gathered from the sweeping of a hospital ward, some taken from a street car at the end of a trip—these accumulations and more were examined with startling results. What struck terror to the heart of the house mother was the statement in connection with all this investigation that a rug could not be shaken, a curtain dusted out or a carpet brushed in her domain without raising a cloud of organism more or less injurious to the family health. The innocent pastime of parlor dancing was inveighed against as treading out disease germs, and the final sweeping assertion made that it was impossible to make a carpet clean in a hygienic sense.

The London Lancet, however, comes to the rescue. That authority pronounces carpet microbes not to be feared. The air of a wholesome, well kept house is not on sweeping day the poison laden atmosphere which is depicted. Dust is found in carpets and microbes are found in dust, but all dust is not so impregnated, and it is safe to assume that most dust found in carpets is harmless.

The Very First American Railway.

The first railroad built in the United States was three miles in length, extending from the granite quarries at Quincy, Mass., to the Neponset river. It was commenced in 1826 and finished in 1827. The gauge was five feet. The rails were pine, a foot thick, covered with hard oak, which was in turn strapped with iron. In January, 1827, a short coal road was completed from the mines to Mauch Chunk, Pa. The rails on this road were also of timber, with flat iron bars. The first locomotive for use on a railroad was invented by Richard Trevithick in 1804, and first tried in Wales.

A Time to Be Silent.

"Do you know," said a matron whose married life extended over a score of years, "that I attribute in a considerable degree the happiness of our life to a custom which my husband and myself have unfaithfully respected—we never do any talking, hardly speak to one another, indeed, before breakfast. He was quite a confirmed bachelier when I married him, and he told me soon afterward that until he had taken his breakfast coffee he held the most morose and gloomy views of everything.

"I thought at first this was a little peculiar, but when my attention was thus called to it I discovered that I, too, found life much more agreeable, and small burdens much more bearable after I had broken my night's fast. Many wives tell me their most available time to 'talk over things' is during the dressing hour. I always feel like begging them to try some other time. It is a mental exertion to discuss the ways and means of this exacting existence of ours—too great a one. I think, to be indulged in before breakfast."—Her Point of View in New York Times.

Two Dogs and a Drowning Man.

The instinct of Newfoundland dogs to save a drowning person has been somewhat painfully tested by an unlucky Frenchman. He was walking in the country with a man who possessed a magnificent Newfoundland, and incautiously questioned the truth of the animal's sagacity. The dog's master, vexed at the sur cast upon his favorite, gave his friend a push and knocked him into the shallow river. Turk immediately sprang in, and seized one of the tails of the immersed man's coat, commenced to swim for land.

Unfortunately another Newfoundland, trotting along on the other side of the river, saw the affair and also came to the rescue. Dog number two immediately seized the other tail of the coat and wished to swim back to his master. Turk held fast and struggled for his side, and the owner of the coat cried in vain for help. At last the coat gave way and each dog swam proudly home with a piece of cloth in his mouth, so that Turk's master was forced to plunge in himself to save his friend.—London Tit-Bits.

Do you wish to know how to have no steam, and not half the usual work on wash-day? Ask your grocer for a bar of Dobbins' Electric Soap, and the directions will tell you how. Be sure to get no imitation. These are lots of them.

A Gold and Silver Well.

There is a wonderful well down in Del Norte. It is an artesian well, with an abundant flow of pure water, sufficient to irrigate a considerable body of land. That would be enough for any one but a San Luis man, but this is mineral water. It is effervescent, very palatable and extremely healthful. Nor is this all. The force of the water brings up from the depths an occasional lump of native silver or a gold nugget. The frugal farmer has placed a sack of wire netting over the mouth of the well to catch the metal and prevent it from choking the cows. Local scientists claim that at a great distance down, and under an enormous pressure, the water is washing away a ledge of rock, whose softer parts go into solution and give the water its mineral qualities, but whose gold and silver, not being dissolved, are brought to the surface in a metallic shape.—Pike's Peak Herald.

When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Why Fowls Welcome Fair Weather.

The deprivation of light, which affects all animals so much, is particularly depressing to birds; and this may be a reason for their unwillingness to move in the frost fog. Naturally they are the first to welcome its departure. As the mist lifts from a Scotch hillside the cock begins to crow, and in the English fields the rooks caw, the small birds twitter and the cocks crow in the barnyards. These sounds are as certain to proclaim the lifting of the fog as the "London cries" to begin when the rain stops.—Spectator.
