The Culbertson Sun man does want to get a new "gilderfluke" for his press. Just now he may be printing something in his paper, but no live man can tell what it is.—Lincoln Call.

The invitation extended by the United States to participate in a monetary conference has been accepted by eight European governments, which insures the meeting of such a conference.

FRANK H. SELBY of Cambridge, has been mentioned as a possible candidate for state senator from this, the 29th district. We speak from personal knowledge when we say that this district might go farther and fare a great deal worse than to nominate and elect him.—Culbertson Republican.

THERE seems to be a serious hitch in the negotiations between the people's party and the democracy for division of the plunder they hope to get in Kansas. Each party knows that it cannot trust the other, and each is morally certain that neither can deliver the goods according to agreement. Under such circumstances it is not surprising that the trade should drag.—Journal.

THE failure of the house to do anything with the free coal and iron bills has opened the eyes of the New Englanders to the fact that the democrats of the south want tariff reform to come only as it will affect the highly finished goods produced in Massachusetts and leave the products of Virginia, Georgia and Alabama enjoying a full measure of protection. There must be full reciprocity in this business of reforming the tariff to make it a success, and this selfish course of the south is doing the cause of the great stuffed prophet immeasurable harm.—Journal.

THE anti-option bill passed the house of representatives by a large majority, though hardly two-thirds of the members voted on the measure. It is a distinct and decisive victory, however, over the speculators. The fate of the measure in the senate is somewhat uncertain, but it is thought that the probabilities are favorable to its passage by that body, in which event there is doubtless no question of the bill becoming a law, since the president would undoubtedly respect the nearly unanimous demand of the agriculture producers of the country for this legislation. The speculators may be expected to make a vigorous effort to defeat the measure in the senate, but their failure in the house, where they brought all the influence to bear they could command, will count against them in the upper branch of congress. The outlook for this legislation is certainly improved.—Bee.

The State Reunion, G. A. R., for the year 1892, will be held at Grand Island, August 29th to September 3d inclusive. A rate of one fare for the round trip has been announced from all parts of the State on all railroads. The attendance is expected to be larger than in any previous year. A programme is being arranged with a view to having it particularly pleasing to all Veterans, Sons and Daughters of Veterans and members of the Womans' Relief Corps. It will embrace some new attractive features not heretofore witnessed at any reunion in Nebraska. Camp accommodations will be more ample than ever before in every respect, and the Camp will be located on the same ground it occupied last year. Seating accommodations will be provided at speakers' stand. Full particulars can be had by addressing Seth P. Mobley, Chairman, George H. Caldwell, Secretary, or Harry Harrison, Quartermaster. Communications concerning booth privileges should be addressed to S. N. Wolbach.

THE TRIBUNE sees that J. R. Phelan is at his old tricks up at Alliance, namely, building up the town and making homes for the railroad boys of his division who have a disposition to save their money and make homes of comfort and convenience for their families. This carries us back to the early days of McCook, when J. R. was such an enthusiastic and tireless worker for the upbuilding and the prosperity of our ambitious little city. Mr. Phelan was trustee and manager of McCook's pioneer building association, and as the active agent in that organization, was a powerful factor in the rapid growth of our city during the life of the association, and of McCook's most substantial improvement. He has the credit of building the Dr. Davis residence, Judge Cochran's dwelling, Conductor Burns' house and many others of our handsomest homes; and during the number of years the association was in operation he never had to take back a single house they built. In fact the plan upon which they operated and the character of the work performed was quite universally satisfactory. And many a railroad man had Mr. Phelan and his association to thank in a large measure for the fact that they had acquired homes here, as the liberal terms, (we believe only one-third cash was required down, the balance in small monthly payments,) made it possible for them in a few years to have a deed to a home by paying a sum each month about equal to rent. We observe, too, that the Alliance association, of which the Superintendent is also trustee, is patterned quite closely after the plan upon which the McCook association made so conspicuous a success; and knowing the splendid advantages this city gained from its association under the careful and business-like management of Mr. Phelan, and knowing the possibilities of growth and improvement in such organizations, THE TRIBUNE desires to congratulate the people of Alliance upon the fact that they are to secure the same desirable factor in the future prosperity and upbuilding of Box Butte's best town, railroad headquarters, and county-seat.

THE killing of Wilkens Rustin, the estimable Omaha boy, at Yale college while undergoing initiation into the Delta Kappa Epsilon society, was a most deplorable affair. News of his death came as a terrible blow to his old associates in this city, where he has long been held in affectionate regard. The greatest indignation is expressed that a system of hazing is tolerated to such a length that human life is endangered in many instances and to which the death of Mr. Rustin is directly changeable.—Bee.

Wedding Balls.

MARRIED—At the B. & M. Hotel in Akron, on Wednesday, June 1st, 1892, Mr. Walter S. Stratton and Miss Mary E. McKee, both of this city, Rev. Wm. R. Scott officiating.

The above event that forever united two of our most estimable young people, took place very quietly, there being no cards, and only a very few friends being present to witness the ceremony. Both the contracting parties are too well known here to need extensive mention in these columns. Mr. Stratton has for several years owned a large ranch near town and by his steady careful judgment and management has proved himself a thorough, successful business man. As principal of the Akron Schools for the past three years, Miss McKee has made many friends by her high intellectual powers, her pleasant manner, and her extraordinary success as a teacher. May their wedded life be a happy and prosperous one is the wish of the Republican.—Akron, Colo., Republican.
