I WILL

Is the key-note to success. The firmness of our resolution to

LEAD THE TRADE

In Boots and Shoes is symbolized in the noble figure here given. THE BOSTON SHOE STORE has already set the fashion

IN McCOOK

Of making people talk about their goods and prices. A visit to their store will convince you of this.

A Big Drive

Is now being made by us on many lines, but especially on a fine line of

LADIES SHOES.

Ladies will find the selection very desirable, while the shoes themselves are admitted to be

EXTREMELY

COMFORTABLE.

There is nothing new under the sun—not even mince pie is modern. Mince pie is emphatically a New England institution, but it is a Saxon invention. Before their conversion to Christianity they used to make a stew or porridge consisting of everything held sacred to their gods, as the flesh of birds, animals, grains and dried herbs which had been gathered at the full of the moon.

A Mr. Rumford of California has discovered a new and cheap elixir of life. He eats nothing but raw wheat, ordinarily, but occasionally varies his diet by chewing on rolled oats. His bill of fare never exceeds ten cents a day, and he claims he was sixty years old when he reformed his diet and now he doesn't feel to be past forty. What he wants to do now, is to get together some women and start a new church.

The independent county convention, Saturday, was poorly attended, scarcely half of the precincts being represented. The delegates elected, we understand, favor Powers for governor, Modi for state senator and Ruggles for representative. Three poor selections.—Hayes Centre Times.

We met Sam Welder, late assistant operator in the Northwestern depot at Oxford, Sunday. He has charge of the baggage department in the B. & M. depot there. Sam says he soon expects to have a position as baggageman on one of the B. & M. runs.—Superior Guide.

At the residence of Mr. Gilchrist in West McCook, Wednesday evening, July 13th, 1892, Mr. Alfred H. Bagley of Akron, Colo., and Miss Ollie Cook of Oxford, Neb., were married in due form by Justice of the Peace J. E. Kelley. Mr. Bagley is in the company's employ at Akron; Miss Cook has been employed in the Oxford dining room.

The Western Burned Clay Ballast and Paving Co. has fifteen acres of ground that they are burning into ballast for the B. & M.; their contract being to furnish 150,000 yards. They employ at present eighty men and turn out 800 yards, consuming four cars of coal daily. The patentee is Jesse Stubbs, who burns the clay, furnishing nothing but the labor, and gets forty cents per yard at the kiln. One man can turn out twelve yards of ballast per day. This kind of clay has been successfully used as ballast in stock yards, for walks, stable floors and for street paving. The B. & M. have a contract with Mr. Stubbs at Utica and Atlanta, in Nebraska, and another one is to go in at Table Rock and have already contracted for over 700,000 yards of ballast. D. Watson is the foreman of the Sutton plant and will burn the first kiln on contract. Chas. Falkner is state supt. and burned the first test kiln on Mr. Stubbs' farm in Iowa.—Sutton Advertiser.

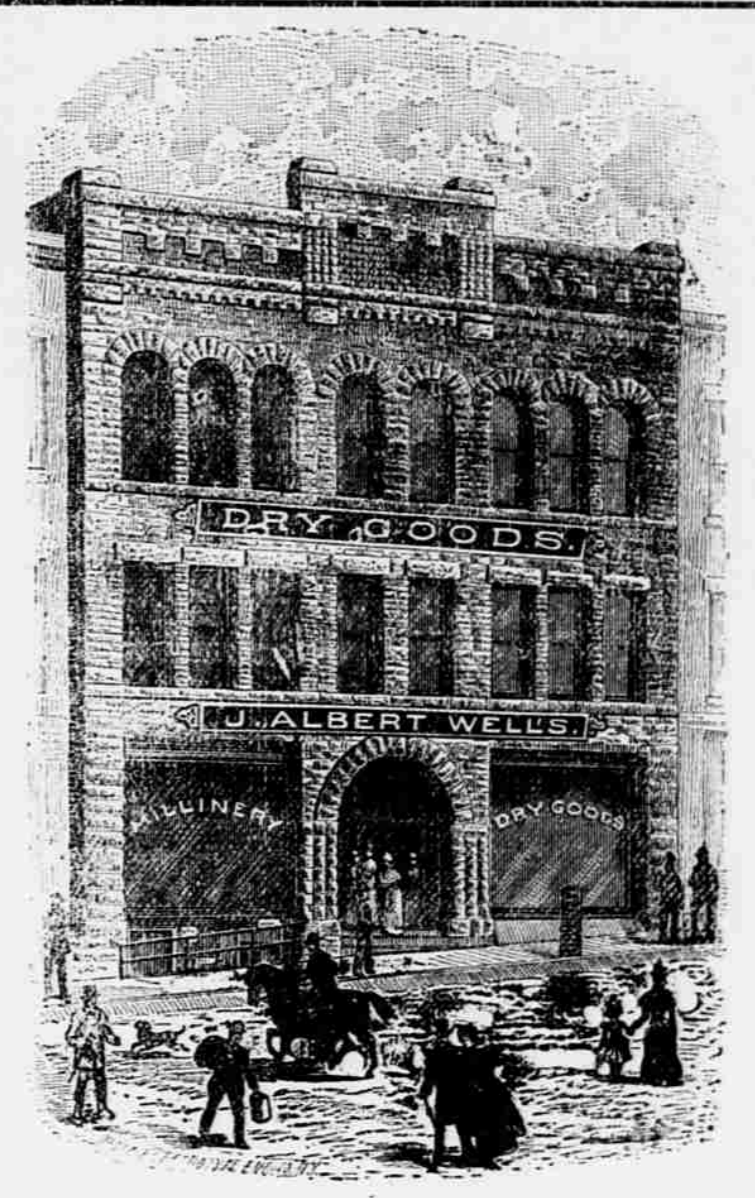

A most peculiar and distressing accident happened in the B. & M. yards here at an early hour, Tuesday morning, in which engineer H. H. Meyers was severely scalded about the lower limbs and hands. No. 41, the west bound passenger, had started to pull out of the yards and just as it reached one of the upper switches, the yard engine, that had been standing on an opposite track, suddenly shot forward and plunged into the side of the head passenger coach, wrecking the cab of the yard engine and doing considerable damage to the coach. Engineer Meyers, the injured man, was in charge of the yard engine and when the crash came, was caught in the wrecked cab and terribly burned by the escaping steam before he could be rescued. The engine that caused the trouble was No. 217 and why it happened to start forward just at that time is a mystery. The engineer thinks the jar of the passing train open the throttle, but whether this is a true theory or not will probably never be known. The injured man was removed to his home in Westlawn and is getting along nicely under the care of Dr. Barr.—Alliance Times.

A physician who has given the subject attention and observation thinks that the healthiest children are those whose mothers have not reached the age of 35 years. Those born of mothers between 35 and 40 years of age are 8 per cent weaker, and those of mothers over 40 are 10 per cent weaker. The children of aged fathers and younger mothers have as a general thing, a strong constitution; but if the parents are of the same age children are less robust.

It is customary in the town of Quito when a visitor takes off his hat on entering a room to beg him to put it on again, and in absence of permission leave is generally requested. This, it is said, arises from apprehension that cold will be taken by remaining uncovered. The same persons upon going out of doors take off their hats to flashes of lightning, no matter if rain is falling.
