

But it looks as if it would be in it soon, and the sooner your foot is in one of our $3.50 or $4.00 Shoes the more fortunate it will be. Because we know this shoe, we want you to know it; because it wears as no other shoe will wear, we want you to wear it. It is absolutely the cheapest thing in shoe-leather and there isn't any limit to the satisfaction that it gives. No matter what you pay, you get no better when you get the best—it is a luxury in footwear and not a high-priced luxury at that. It isn't trying to those who try it. Try it.

There is no excuse for a good healthy man to be out of work. Farmers are needing hands for work in haying and harvest. Soon they will need hands for threshing and shortly thereafter corn huskers will be in demand.

Hon. William Weygant, of McCook, was a welcome visitor who came in to pay his respects to the new paper, last Tuesday, while on business in the city. Mr. Weygant is the old settler who plowed the first furrow in Red Willow county twenty-one years ago. He owns four farms in Frontier county and illustrates in his own person what a farmer can accomplish on these fertile prairies by industry, prudence and economy. It is needless to add that he is a staunch republican like most of the old settlers and confidently predicts the election of Andrews to congress. He thinks a majority of the democrats in his county will vote against McKeighan. —Stockville Republican.

Miss Daisy Stoddard, of Republican City, Neb., is the winner of the first Demorest diamond medal, offered in contest for the best oratorical effort. The contest occurred in Chicago on October 11. Miss Daisy Stoddard, or as she is best known at her home, "Little Daisy" Stoddard, is an oratorical prodigy. At the age of three years she delivered an oration at Alma, Neb., which astonished her hearers, and from that time she has been called the "baby orator of the Republican valley." It was predicted at the time that a blossom had bloomed in the great American desert whose fragrance and fame would extend far beyond the confines of that desert, and the prediction seems to have been fulfilled.

Miss Daisy, after her state victory at Norfolk, in October, had 153 invitations to speak at points in Nebraska, but refused them all, with the exception of an invitation from Alma, where she addressed a crowded house prior to entering the national contest at Chicago.

A gentleman from the Republican valley, who has known the child from her infancy told the Bee that she possessed wonderful elocutionary powers, was a perfect mimic and a wonderful actress. The people of Republican City, he said, were very proud of her, and rejoiced in her victory. To quote him: "The west wins again, and we should be proud of our child orator."

During the evening session occurred the national oratorical contest for the first diamond medal offered in the Demorest series of prizes, and Daisy Stoddard, an eleven-year-old girl from Nebraska, was awarded the prize amid great applause.—Omaha Bee.

Commissioner Graham may have forgotten it; but he counted the money and signed the receipt for $13,200. As a man who values his word he cannot deny it.

THE TRIBUNE desires to make an official utterance: It takes votes, good, honest, straight, responsible votes to settle county-seat removal questions, not columns of newspaper misrepresentations and fakes.

McCook's proposition is lawful and is made in good faith, our Indianola friends to the contrary notwithstanding. The statutes of Nebraska make it lawful; and the signatures of over three hundred business men and citizens are its absolute guarantee of good faith.

THE TRIBUNE is delighted to welcome back to Red Willow county our late and efficient sheriff, W. A. McCool, who arrives here from Missouri at an opportune time, and will doubtless add an item of zest to our county-seat removal canvass and election, which would otherwise be sadly lacking.

Col. George L. Etter of the Commercial House cleverly chaperoned a party of fishermen on the Driftwood, Sunday. The boys dammed up the creek with beer bottles, and with the aid of seines succeeded in landing a number of festive and adult "cats," succulent and juicy, which their chef made palatable in due time and form.

Indianola seems to have but one cry, the old stop thief howl. But there are few voters in Red Willow county young enough to be caught by such chaff. Cash in the hands of the county commissioners talks. Read the receipt signed by Commissioners Bolles, Young and Graham, who received the money and counted it before a number of witnesses.

The signal ability, impartiality and uniform courtesy which conspicuously marks Register Lindsay's administration of the affairs of the McCook land office has won that gentleman hosts of friends throughout the district. Mr. Lindsay assumed the duties of the responsible position he now holds nearly two years ago and The Bee has never yet heard a single criticism charged against his official conduct by any honest man. The Bee predicts that Mr. Lindsay will retire from the McCook land office to a higher position before many years.—Benkelman Bee.

The people of McCook have made assurance doubly sure by depositing $13,200 with the commissioners of Red Willow county. See copy of the certificate of deposit, signed by the commissioners, appearing in this issue.

Wednesday afternoon, C. T. Brewer shipped a special train of nine cars of fat stock to the Chicago market. One hundred and twenty head of the shipment were purchased from Messrs. Hatfield & Son, and were very fine cattle, averaging over thirteen hundred pounds a head.

By actually placing $13,200 in the hands of the county commissioners the McCook people have taken from our Indianola friends most of their thunder; but McCook is trying to thoroughly satisfy the most exacting. She means solid business; and she has enough solid business men to express in spot cash what they guarantee to do. Can anything be fairer?

S. H. Colvin was in Omaha, Monday evening, to attend a meeting in the interest of the Nebraska exhibition train which will start on a tour through the east in about four weeks. Mr. Colvin is making a heroic effort to have Red Willow county represented in the train, which will exceed that of last year in every respect. He should be assisted and encouraged by all in his laudable ambition, which will require great labor and much expense in its preparation. By all means Red Willow county should be a part of "Nebraska on Wheels," when that notable train pulls out of Omaha for its eastern tour on September 15th, over the Burlington; and if we are not in it, it will not be S. H. Colvin's fault, he assures us.

The fool killer is getting in his work in various ways and the fools are really passing away. The breed is running out. Take a walk through any of the cemeteries throughout the country and you will believe with us that the fools are slowly but surely passing away. You pass the last resting place of the man who blew into an empty gun. The modest tombstone of the hired girl who lighted the fire with kerosene. The grass-carpeted mound that covers the mortal remains of the boy who took the mule by the tail. The tall monument of the man who jumped from the cars to save a ten rod walk. Side by side lies the ethereal creature who kept her corset laced up to the last hole, and the intellectual idiot who rode a bicycle nine miles in ten minutes. Here reposes the doctor who took a dose of his own medicine, and the old fool who married the young wife. Right over yonder in the northwest corner the breeze sigh through the weeping willow that bends over the lowly bed where lies the fellow who told his mother-in-law she lied. Down there in the potter's field with his feet sticking out to the cold blasts of winter and the blistering rays of the summer sun, is stretched the earthly remains of the misguided regulator, who tried to lick the editor, while the broken bones of the man who would not pay for his paper are piled up in the corner of the fence. Over by the gate reposes the boy who went in swimming on Sunday, and the old woman who kept baking powder side by side with strychnine in the cupboard. The fool killer still gathers them in, one by one, and by and by we will have a pretty decent world to live in.—Exchange.

A Plea For Fair Play.

The stabbing affray at the Red Willow school house, last week, and the outrageous treatment accorded Supt. Bayston at Indianola, yesterday, are samples of the savage spirit cultivated by our Indianola friends, to whom the idea of fairness seems to have absolutely and entirely given away to intolerance and bulldozing. Emissaries of Indianola daily parade the streets of McCook unmolested charging our people with all manner of crime. But the friends of McCook are daily subjected to insult and threatened violence at Indianola and in the adjacent territory. Such a spirit and such treatment are below the people of McCook and are a disgrace to those who harbor and practice them. THE TRIBUNE makes a plea for fair play and honorable, manly treatment of McCook people and of their friends by the people and the friends of Indianola.

The independent senatorial convention will be held in our city, Tuesday next, August 2d.

Ready, August 1st, Latest Fall Styles Men's and Boys' Soft and Stiff Hats; this will compose the largest and most complete line we have ever shown. THE FAMOUS CLOTHING CO.

It is hardly probable that Commissioner Sam Graham will deny his own signature, when he comes to consider the matter carefully and prayerfully. It is hardly probable that he will.

The glorious soaking rain which prevailed throughout this section, Wednesday afternoon, came in time and quantity to practically guarantee a corn crop, at least that portion of the crop which was well advanced. It came softly and profusely. It was of almost incalculable value to Red Willow.

Two of the handsomest and most convenient court houses between Hastings and the state line are those of Harlan county at Alma, and of Furnas county at Beaver City. The former cost $13,000; the latter $12,000. The sum of $13,200 will build Red Willow county a splendid building which will last her for years.

One of the pleasing features of the county-seat removal question is the spirit of sociability manifested by our Indianola friends, who daily swarm our city, to assist us in deciding how to vote upon the absorbing question before us. It also demonstrates the existence among our Indianola friends of some of the nerve and gall which stood them in hand in the early seventies, when they swore in sufficient illegal votes to rob Red Willow of the county seat.

The August issue of Romance is the midsummer number of that popular magazine of complete stories, and contains a large proportion of the light and bright stories which are most appropriate to the season. There are sketches of adventure, love stories, ghost stories, and descriptions of curious and amusing episodes in many lands, besides a strong and characteristic story of the supernatural. In this single number are grouped tales of life in America, England, France, Spain, Germany, Corsica, Italy, Africa and Japan. The roll of authors represented includes such names as Count Tolstoi, Octave Thanet, H. Rider Haggard, Guy De Maupassant, Ouida, Alexander Moszkowski and George Le Faure, besides a number of new American writers. Altogether the midsummer number fully justifies the remark of a discriminating critic, that "as a companion for the hammock, canoe or piazza, Romance cannot be excelled." The magazine is issued by Romance Publishing Company, Clinton Hall, Astor Place, New York. The price is 25 cents a number; subscriptions, $2.50 a year.
