

RUNNING SMOOTHLY.

ONE THOUSAND MEN AT WORK AT HOMESTEAD.

SO DECLARES SECRETARY LOVEJOY.

The Company Confident That the Backbone of the Strike Has Been Broken—Amalgamated Men Make Vague Promises of Surrender—General Snowden Takes a Gloomy View of the Situation.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 30.—"We will have over 1,000 men in the yard of the Homestead mill by to-night," said Secretary Lovejoy this morning. "A large number will go up to-day by train and boat and they are coming into the city from all directions. There are a number of our old men at work—I should think at least fifty. By Monday we will have over 1,500 men at work, among them being skilled workmen, equal to the best of our old men, and we are entirely satisfied with the work they have done and the manner in which they do it, the time occupied and, in fact, everything is satisfactory. We will have enough men on hand Monday to make an excellent start in all departments and are confident there will be no further delay in getting all the departments running full by the end of the week. When this is done we will attend to starting our other plants, but not until we get the Homestead mill in full operation."

Judge Magee's decision in the Critchlow case has caused a small-sized exodus from Homestead. The officers from Alderman McMaster's office have been making diligent search for the other Homestead rioters, but they are unable to find any trace of them about their accustomed haunts.

This is the seventh day since the attempt was made to assassinate Chairman Frick of the Carnegie interests, but there have been no signs of any trouble and the physicians now confidently assert that he is beyond all danger and that his complete recovery is only a question of a few weeks.

At Homestead to-day the household effects of about sixty families were moved from company houses. It was done quietly. The vacant houses are to be occupied by non-union workmen as soon as they can be put in good order. The change is made by the mill people that during the last few days the evicted tenants broke many windows and doors and otherwise destroyed property.

Treasurer Carry said this morning that contracts for thirty-five houses of the new Carnegie extension had been let, and they would be rushed to completion as rapidly as possible. Meanwhile arrangements have been made to accommodate 2,000 men in the works.

The advisory committee is confident that by the middle of next week it can induce one-half of the men now working to come out. Just what the plan to be pursued has not been made public, but a member stated that strong influences were working toward that end.

Chief Murphy of Allegheny and Superintendent O'Mara of this city held a long conference this morning and mapped out a plan of dealing with the anarchists, but refused to give any of the details. It is rumored to-day that the anarchists intended to go after the millionaires in Pittsburgh, but the police do not anticipate any trouble. Threatening letters are still being received by officials of the Carnegie company and special officers are kept on guard about the premises.

The authorities have been notified that New York "reds" will be called upon to take up a collection for Bergman's defense. The impression is growing in police circles that the condemnation of Bergman by the Anarchists was only for effect and that the plans of the proposed assassination were known and the work done at the suggestion of the organization.

John M. Dickson, a clerk in the Homestead mill, who is an important witness in the riot cases, entered suit to-day against Emory Spiers and a number of others for surety of the peace. He alleges that his life has been threatened if he persists in testifying against the rioters. Spiers has been arrested and locked up for a hearing on Tuesday. Other arrests will follow.

SNOWDEN'S GLOOMY VIEWS.

The Present Situation at Homestead Painted in Rather Dark Colors.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 1.—Major General George R. Snowden and a number of members of his staff returned to Philadelphia yesterday from Homestead, and unless the situation there becomes very serious will remain here. In an interview the general said: "There are few people in Philadelphia who understand accurately the situation of affairs at Homestead at present, or what it has been recently. There has been a practical press censorship out there and the newspaper correspondents have actually been prevented from describing accurately the condition of affairs."

"Do you think the trouble is over?" "By no means. The bad feeling is suppressed somewhat, but it still exists, and as long as the situation remains as it is now the Second Brigade will remain at Homestead. So long as the strikers are on the ground now, for many of them have disappeared, are full of threats, and it is common to hear them declare that as soon as the soldiers leave they will have the lives of any men who hold their places in the works. Philadelphia can hardly appreciate the actual communism of these people. They believe that the works are theirs quite as much as they are Carnegie's, and it is obvious how this sentiment renders settlement of the trouble difficult. The ultimate result will be that the owners of the works will regain and operate them with men of their own choosing."

It is reported that you may be in the defendant, in any prosecution that may be brought in the lams affair." "So I have read in the papers, but know nothing else about it. I think I have explained myself perfectly in that matter. When the offense of Private lams was reported to me I ordered that he be disgraced and drummed out of the camp. It was not my business nor was it necessary for me to write an essay instructing Colonel Streetor how a soldier guilty of such a crime should be discharged."

ALICE MITCHELL A MANIAC.

The Notorious Memphis Case Ended for the Present.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 1.—A large crowd was in attendance in the criminal court to-day to hear Judge J. J. Dabose deliver his charge to the jury in the notorious case of Alice Mitchell, the murderess of Freda Ward, on trial as to her sanity.

The defendant appeared calm and collected during the reading of the charge, the time occupied in its delivery being fifteen minutes, the question of the sanity or insanity of the prisoner at the time being the only question considered. The jury retired at 9:30 o'clock and twenty minutes later returned to the court room with the following verdict:

We, the jury, find the defendant, Alice Mitchell, insane and believe it would endanger the safety of the community to set her at liberty.

M. C. GALLAWAY, Foreman.

Alice Mitchell was then remanded to the custody of the sheriff and will be ordered placed in an insane asylum. Should she be released as sane at any time, she can be then placed upon trial, on the charge of murder, as she was only tried as to her mental soundness or unsoundness, at the time of her trial, the question as to her mental condition at the time of the commission of the homicide not being touched upon.

When the verdict was read by the clerk a faint smile spread over the defendant's features, as if she had been confident of the jury's verdict. She was taken to jail, gaily chatting as she went, and will be sent to one of the state insane asylums.

Captured in Kansas.

WILBER, Neb., July 25.—Sheriff Barton last night brought in from Wichita, Kan., Alvin McGuire, who had been placed under arrest to answer the charge of stealing a team, wagon and harness at Crete in the spring of 1890. McGuire was captured at the time, but after he had been in the county jail a few weeks he effected his escape by sawing through the bars of the steel cage and breaking out a panel of the outer door. He is one of the most expert jail breakers in the country and is the same Alvin McGuire who figured in the Pegleg Griffin affair at the state capital a few years ago. There has been a standing reward of $50 offered for him since his escape. He had been previously heard of in Oklahoma, but before the requisition papers could be secured he moved out of the territory.

The children were all slightly hurt. Both teams ran away and were captured after an exciting chase. The coroner has been notified and his investigation will show if Eschner was to blame for running into the other rig.

NEBRASKA.

Nebraska State Fair at Lincoln, September 2 to 9, 1892.

The management of the Nebraska State Fair and Exposition expect to eclipse any previous effort this fall. The coming year being one of jubilee over the discovery of America and a World's fair it is thought to take the form of the state fair to Chicago. Therefore, every man, woman and child should be a self constituted committee of one towards helping the state fair of 1892. It is a great success. Arrangements have been made for a "special day" for each of the four political parties, together with noted speakers.

An arrangement has been made for the Nebraska state band association to hold its annual reunion on the grounds. This will bring together the most extensive convention ever known in the state, affording the rarest treat in that line our people have ever enjoyed. This feature will continue during fair week, and will be further announced in special publications.

Friday, September 6, is set apart as "Old Soldier's" day, when all soldiers of the late war will be admitted to all parts of the grounds free.

Tuesday, September 6, is children's day, when all children in the state will be on hand and have a good time in sight seeing.

The premiums have been enlarged, in especially for agricultural products and live stock. For county collective exhibits seventeen premiums are offered, running from $30 to $250. Eighteen premiums are offered for the best quarter of an acre of sugar beets, ranging from $50, the first to $5, the low st. Ten thousand dollars is offered for spayed. Some of the best horses in the country have been secured and more are promised. The races will be an immense attraction this year.

There was never a time when all connected with the state fair was more promising than for the coming one, commencing on the second day of September next. The people of Lincoln are preparing to entertain visitors in unusual style. Special evening entertainments are being provided. Railroad facilities for getting to and from Lincoln and the fair grounds have been largely increased, rendering such accommodations unsurpassed in any other state or for any other fair.

For further, more desired or detailed information, write the secretary, Robert W. Furness, Brownville, who is just now devoting himself to furnishing state fair literature.
