SUCCESSORS TO J. C. ALLEN.

THE CASH BARGAIN HOUSE.

Roadmaster Web Josselyn was at headquarters, Tuesday.

Assistant Supt. Harman was down from the high line yesterday.

Mrs. C. E. Pope arrived home, Sunday on a flying visit to Oxford.

Engineer and Mrs. J. F. Heber were passengers for Denver on Sunday.

Assistant Supt. Highland of the Lyons line was at western division headquarters, yesterday.

J. W. Trammell was up from Oxford, Tuesday, on business connected with the sad misfortune of Monday morning.

Mrs. J. H. Burns and family and Mrs. N. L. Cronkite are spending the week drinking in the delights of Denver life.

John and Charles Granger, of Ashland, this state, were both called here, Tuesday, by the sad misfortune of their brother Frank.

Mr. Granger and daughter are both gradually recovering from their terrible burns—a sister of the conductor being here to nurse them back to health.

Engineer Harry Tyler was up from Orleans, Sunday and Monday. His house here will be ready for occupancy in a few weeks, when his family will remove to McCook to live.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Perry and young son left on 6, last evening, for Ohio, to visit two or three weeks at their old home. Mr. and Mrs. Canfield of Harvard, this state, will remain with the rest of the children until the return of their parents.

Conductor Ed. Kane arrived home, Sunday from Hot Springs, Arkansas. He also visited St. Louis and consulted Dr. Green, the celebrated oculist of that city. We regret to learn that the improvement to his eyes has been but slight.

The Boston news bureau states authoritatively that the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad company has made a contract with the Adams Express company by which the latter will occupy all lines of the Burlington system on and after January 1 next.

Mrs. J. R. Phelan arrived in the city, Saturday afternoon, on her way home from California, where she has been with her young son who is a youthful martyr to rheumatism, from which, however, he secured some relief in that balmy clime. She left for Alliance, Tuesday.

Mrs. Helen Slater, sister of Mr. Granger, is here from Ashland, nursing her brother and niece. Mr. Granger's brothers Charles and John of the same place both returned here last night, having accompanied the remains of Mrs. Granger to Ithaca, Saunders county, where they were interred yesterday afternoon.

The State Press.

No independent paper is urging its readers to vote for the constitutional amendment providing for the election of a railroad commission by direct vote of the people. The proposition was once submitted by a republican legislature, and failed. It should not be defeated again. The independents are occupied with their tale of woe, and with the men on their ticket. They seem to have no time for anything else. We now hazard the prediction that a large majority of votes cast for the proposition will be cast by the republican voters, and if it carries it will be carried by republican support.—York Republican.

Thankful for Mud.

It seems rather odd that the officials should welcome the general rain because it will make the country roads muddy and prevent the farmers from hauling their grain to market. The railroads are all blockaded on account of the extraordinary movement of grain and the car famine is the most serious ever known. Nobody seems able to explain why the farmers are rushing their wheat to market at such a rate when prices are so low, but the wheat continues to come and the elevators at all prominent market points are full to overflowing, while millions of bushels are on the railroad tracks awaiting movement.

CANDIDATE ANDREWS in this fifth congressional district will not cast a single vote to the discredit of the district, of the state or nation; but his opponent, Mr. McKeighan, will, just as he did at the last session. Mr. Andrews is for America and American institutions. Mr. McKeighan is for W. A. McKeighan first, last and all the time. District, state or nation are not in it, so far as any effort he may make for their advancement.—Harvard Courier.

PEOPLE YOU KNOW.

Geo. E. Thompson has returned to Omaha. T. F. West is back from his visit in New York State.

Mrs. A. J. Beecher joined her husband here close of the week.

S. N. Cox and wife were the guests of J. D. Robb, yesterday.

Joe Stephens, the nurseryman, was up from Bartley, yesterday.

C. Armstrong, Jr., departed on 6, Tuesday, for Iowa City, Iowa.

Register J. P. Lindsay was in Omaha on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mr. Clark, the Arapahoe miller, was up on a business mission, yesterday.

Mr. McCann, the Perry grain buyer, has moved into the Lindner dwelling on Madison street.

Pastor Stevenson and family are at present on the farm, with M. C. Maxwell on the south side.

E. M. Woods, our next representative, is in the city today. He will attend the grand rally at Indianola this afternoon.

Mrs. E. R. Banks and a lady friend drove up from the present county seat, yesterday, on a little visit and shopping expedition.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Clark of Denver, road their safeties down from Culbertson, last evening, arriving just about supper time.

Clerk Roper tore himself away from the cares of official life long enough, Tuesday, to spend a few hours in the metropolis.

J. J. Lamborn, the republican war-horse of Indianola, spent yesterday in the city, on business and politics energetically blended.

Mr. Nations from Missouri arrived here with a carload of effects, Tuesday night, and will work the McMillen farm east of the city.

Hiram C. Rider was down from Denver, close of last and first of this week, looking after his valuable and extensive interests in our city.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Ludwick arrived home, the latter part of past week, from their sad journey back to Illinois, to attend the funeral of Mrs. Ludwick's father.

Mrs. C. T. Brewer was chairman of a very pleasant dove convocation, this afternoon, in celebration of her thirty-fifth birthday anniversary, at her home corner of Melvin and Douglas.

C. W. Barnes of the Times-Democrat has been in Lincoln, part of the week, having the printing of the tickets for this and two adjoining counties executed. Thus are home industries encouraged.

S. M. Cochran arrived home on 1, Tuesday. He has been enjoying an extended visit in Indiana, Ohio, and other states in the east, and comes home to stand up for Nebraska more firmly, and confident of Harrison's election.

Alonzo and Jesse Yount, students of the state university, brothers of Prof. Yount of our city schools, were in the city, fore part of the week. They visited our city schools a number of times while here and carry home with them complimentary opinions of the efficiency of our public schools.

Stand up for Nebraska. Why not? Nebraska stands among the foremost agricultural states in the union, and if it develops as rapidly in the next dozen years as it has in the same number past, it will lead the world in the productions of agricultural products. It is the duty of every citizen to defend the reputation of the state against the ignominious innuendoes of a certain class of politicians who seek to gain popularity by attributing national misfortune to national misgovernment. In other words sit down on the politician who refuses to "stand up for Nebraska."

Alabama's chairman of the Cleveland faction in that state has instructed sheriffs to arrest deputy United States marshals if they interfere in elections in counties with less than 20,000 population. United States Marshal B. Walker has at once responded by an order to arrest the sheriffs or anyone who interferes with his deputies and a free ballot and an honest count. The Alabama bulldozers seem to forget they once had a tussle with Uncle Sam and got the worst of it. There is fun ahead in Alabama.

A movement is on foot looking toward the organization of a gymnasium and reading room combined in our city, which if perfected may eventuate in securing a branch of the Y. M. C. A. in McCook. Further information may be gotten by inquiring of Joe Wells.

The Dorcas society of the Congregational church will serve supper election day, commencing at 5 o'clock, in the room just vacated by Armstrong. After supper oysters will be served until 12 o'clock. Remember the place first door south of the Famous.

An old friend of Hon. W. E. Andrews, the republican candidate for congress says, "he is not endowed with many worldly goods, having made his way as an orphan boy since eight years of age, but he is rich in honesty and in brain a millionaire."

J. Albert Wells patiently awaits the arrival of the adjusters—but two of the twelve companies involved in the loss having representatives on the ground up to date.

We will have more news and less politics for our readers next week.
