ELECTRIC BITTERS.

The remedy is becoming so well known and popular as to need no special mention. All who have used Electric Bitters sing the same song of praise. A pure medicine does not exist and is guaranteed to do all that is claimed. Electric Bitters will cure all diseases of the Liver and Kidneys, will remove Pimples, Boils, Salt Rheum and other affections caused by impure blood. Will drive malaria from the system and prevent as well as cure all Malarial fevers. For cures of headache, Constipation and Indigestion try Electric Bitters. Entire satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Price 50 cents and $1 per bottle at McMillen's drugstore.

People who boast that they never did any harm are generally those who haven't done much good.

CHOLERINE IN PENNSYLVANIA.

Swickly, Penn.: We had an epidemic of Cholera, as our physicians called it, in this place lately and I made a great hit with Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I sold four dozen bottles of it in one week and have since sold nearly a gross. This Remedy did the work and was a big advertisement for me. Several persons who had been troubled with diarrhoea for two or three weeks were cured by a few doses of this medicine.

Religion, pure and undefiled, does not leave all its money home when it goes to church.

RHEUMATISM QUICKLY CURED.

Three days is a very short time in which to cure a bad case of rheumatism; but it can be done if the proper treatment is adopted, as will be seen by the following from James Lambert of New Brunswick, Illinois: "I was badly afflicted with rheumatism in the hips and legs, when I bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It cured me in three days. I am alright today; and would insist upon everyone who is afflicted with that terrible disease to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm and get well at once." 50 cent bottles for sale by L. W. IT SHOULD BE IN EVERY HOUSE.

J. B. Wilson, 371 Clay St., Sharpshurg, Pa., says he will not be without Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, that cured his wife who was threatened with pneumonia after an attack of pleurisy, when various other remedies and several physicians had done her no good. Robert Barber, of Cooksport, Pa., claims Dr. King's New Discovery has done him more good than anything he ever used for Lung Trouble. Nothing like it. Try it. Free trial bottles at A. McMillen's drugstore. Large bottles 50 cents and $1.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

There is nothing in a name, but in a bottle of Wisdom's Robertine there is a world of satisfaction to ladies of taste and refinement. It whitens and beautifies the skin without the injurious effects that attend the use of most cosmetics. The only visible evidence of its use is a beautiful, clear and healthy complexion. Every lady using it recommends it to her friends.

The man who controls himself makes unwritten laws for many other people.

WISDOM'S ROBERTINE

Is the most delightful article ever produced for beautifying and preserving the complexion. Not only removes blemishes but leaves the skin as soft as velvet and as fresh looking as a morning glory. Used and endorsed by the elite of society and the stage, leading physicians say it is not only harmless but positively beneficial to the skin.

The man who chases bubbles will bark his shins sooner or later.

MOTHERS' RECOMMENDATION.

We are acquainted with many mothers in Centerville who would not be without Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house for a good many times its cost, and are recommending it every day. From personal experience we can say that it has broken up bad colds for our children.—Centerville, South Dakota, Citizen. 50 cent bottles for sale by L. W. McConnell & Co., druggists.

The shortest cut to wealth is through the lane of contentment.

FOR SOFTENING THE SKIN.

Allaying irritations, removing roughness, wind tan and like troubles there is nothing equal to Wisdom's celebrated Violet Cream.

The biggest dollars we see are those just out of our reach.

NOTHING ELSE LIKE IT.

When the publishers decided to issue The Journal twice a week at the same price of the old weekly, $1.00 per year, they struck just what the public wanted—something between the old-fashioned weekly and the high-priced daily. The success of The Semi-Weekly Journal has been immediate and continued. It has distanced every one of its once-a-week rivals. It doesn't take long to convince people that a good live paper every Tuesday and Friday is better than only one a week, especially when you appeal to their pocket books, and give it to them at the same price. Readers will testify that it is almost as good as a daily. The markets twice a week are worth the money. Four complete novels each year by "The Duchess," Miss Braddon, and other widely known authors, are worth the dollar. Its legislative news is its strong point just now. It is wide-awake, spends money for news, and is always in the lead. You can see its superiority over the old-fashioned weekly. Everyone who subscribes now gets a Seaside Library free. This offer won't hold good all ways. One of our big offers is The Semi-Weekly Journal and Weekly New York Tribune, both one year for $1.25. Our great premium, History of the United States, Stanley's Book, or Life of Spurgeon, prepaid, and The Journal, $1.40. Either book is worth $1.50 alone. Your choice of these books and the Weekly New York Tribune and Journal a year for only $1.65. What a combination of reading matter! If you send us your own and another new name, we will send you either of the above books free. Subscribe now and get 104 papers a year, which is less than one cent per copy. Address

WONDERFUL!

The cures which are being effected by Drs. Starkey & Palen, 1529 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa., in Consumption, Catarrh, Neuralgia, Bronchitis, Rheumatism, and all chronic diseases by their Compound Oxygen Treatment is indeed marvelous. If you are a sufferer from any disease which your physician has failed to cure, write for information about this treatment, and their book of two hundred pages, giving a history of Compound Oxygen, its nature and effects with numerous testimonials from patients, to whom you may refer for still further information, will be promptly sent, without charge.

This book aside from its great merit as a medical work, giving as it does, the result of years of study and experience, you will find a very interesting one.

Smallpox is not any more contagious than a good example.

"What's in a name?" Well that depends. For instance, the name of "Ayer" is sufficient to guarantee that Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a genuine scientific blood-purifier, and not a sham, like so much that goes by the name of "sarsaparilla." Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the standard.

The nickel plating does not give any power to the engine.

The trouble with most cough medicines is that they spoil the appetite, weaken digestion, and create bile. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, on the contrary, while it gives immediate relief, assists rather than impairs the assimilative process.

Do not wear impermeable and tight-fitting hats that constrict the bloodvessels or the scalp. Use Hall's Hair Renewer occasionally, and you will not be bald.

Thought in spring poetry does not wear well.

The Captain's Sight.

It is sometimes a fault of young people to rely too fully upon their own opinions or impressions, and there are grown people who are quite too sure regarding matters to which they have given little attention. A passenger on a French steamer tells this story:

The wind was fresh, and we were running at the rate of 12 knots an hour. Our mariners were deceived in their calculations, and as the lead did not indicate the proximity of the coast they were expected to approach they concluded that the currents had carried us into the channel. One morning at break of day I heard the captain exclaim:

"I see breakers through the mist." M. de l'Aiguille, an officer of superior merit, who nevertheless displayed sometimes too much of the confidence of youth, replied with a smile, "Those breakers, captain, are nowhere but in your glass."

"Young man," said our old captain, with a tone of anger, "you are major general to the squadron and may give it the orders you think proper, but I know what I have to do. It is I who answer for the safety of my ship. I shall therefore give orders to tack, for there is not a moment to be lost."

He accordingly gave that order, and during its execution, the fog having suddenly cleared away, we perceived at about 200 yards from us the rocks against which our fleet would inevitably have perished. Fortunately the whole squadron imitated the movement of our vessel, and all danger was over.

The young officer lost no time in thanking the captain for his wise reproof, and for his adherence to the duties of his position.—Youth's Companion.

An Electric Elevated Road in England.

No misgivings need apply to the case of the new railway at Liverpool. In size and power, as well as in the ingenuity of its details, it surpasses the best American models. It extends along the quays of the great line of docks on the Mersey for nearly seven miles. Its carriages are of full size, not arranged like a tram car, but like the ordinary passenger car of the United States, each being in two compartments and capable of seating 57 persons. Beneath each car is an electric motor of from 100 to 70 horsepower, and the speed will be as high as 30 miles an hour.

The power to work the trains, and with them the accessories of signals and light, is the same, and generated from a single point on the system. The whole runs upon an "overhead railroad" or continuous bridge of iron. That is not, however, the essence of an electric railway, though the lightness of electric rolling gear makes such an arrangement cheap and suitable for the purpose.—London Spectator.

An English Boy's Knowledge of Literature.

Every one who is not a schoolmaster is aware that a young Englishman knows almost nothing of the literature of his own land, and what little he does know he dislikes, because he has had at school to translate it into Latin. It is most humiliating to hear an American youth discourse upon this matter while our own sons sit mum and glum. Efforts have been made of late to find out what our boys do read for their own pleasure, and the result of these inquiries seems to be that they read the accounts of prize fights.

One headmaster tries to prove that this is derived from the influence of Homer, but it is much more likely that it comes from a perusal of the sporting newspapers and the general devotion to athletics. From whatever cause it arises, it is certainly true that while there is no deficiency of good poetry and good fiction among us the rising generation cares for neither.—London Illustrated News.

England's Banking Center.

Threadneedle street is a corruption of Thridnal street, meaning the third street from "Chepeyde" to the great thoroughfare from London bridge to "Bushop Gate" (consisting of New Fyssh streete and Bushop Gate streete, Anglo-Saxon, thridra, thrid). Another etymology is Thirig-needle (three needle street), from the three needles which the Needle Makers company bore in their arms. It begins at the Mansion house, and therefore the Bank of England stands in it. The directors of the Bank of England were called "The Old Lady in Threadneedle Street" by William Cobbett, because, like Mrs. Partington, they tried with their broom to keep back the Atlantic waves of national progress. After giving the foregoing, Brewer notes the following extract from Dickens' "Dr. Marigold": "A silver curl paper that I myself took off the shining locks of the ever beautiful old lady of Threadneedle street" (a bank note).—Brooklyn Eagle.

A Little Absentminded.

It is told of a prominent clergyman that when writing his sermon for last Sunday he became so engrossed in his subject that he made it much longer than usual. When delivering the sermon, he noticed that the congregation was becoming somewhat wearied. He was anxious to close, but could see no possible place to stop until through. He became so nervous that when he stepped into the chancel to pronounce the benediction he said the grace he is accustomed to say at table. The effect was electrical, and the congregation was well awakened.—Indianapolis Journal.

Electric Currents in Dentistry.

Much is expected of the use of electricity to deaden sensibility in teeth that are to be filled or extracted. As to extraction, it is announced that already the use of an electric current delivered through electrodes containing cotton saturated with cocaine or ether has produced complete local anesthesia, so that teeth have been extracted without pain.—Hartford Courant.

A man in Bridgeport wears a wig that was worn also by his father, grandfather and great-grandfather in their turn. It's a regular family hair-loom.—Philadelphia Ledger.

HE WOULD NOT LEAVE THE COLONY.

A Prisoner Who Climbed a Coconut Tree and Escaped a Regiment.

It is the custom in the British army that whenever a regiment is transferred from one colony to another prisoners who may be in the jail are handed over to the outgoing corps and continue their sentences at the new station. In one case one of these jailbirds made up his mind that he would not leave the colony.

Private Johnson was one of the smartest men in the corps, and furthermore he was an excellent groom and almost a "cordon bleu." He had one sad failing. He was a thief. His speculations had, however, been generally small, and he had escaped serious punishment. One night a large store in the town was broken into and a considerable amount of money stolen. It was conclusively proved that Johnson was the thief, and he was sent to jail. When the regiment was leaving the colony, Johnson, with some other soldier prisoners, was to be handed over according to custom. When, however, his cell was visited, it was empty, and there was not a sign of Johnson anywhere.

A search was made in every direction, and at last a prisoner pointed to a coconut tree which grew in the middle of the prison yard, and there comfortably seated among the tuft of leaves was Johnson. The warden at first tried to get the man down by quiet persuasion, then he threatened, then stormed and swore. Johnson laughed contentedly at every mood, but did not move. The fact was reported to the colonial secretary, who recommended that the fire engine be called out and the man washed down. The chief of the fire department hardly thought it was consonant with his dignity to wash a prisoner out of a coconut tree and reported that there was not pressure of water enough to get a stream to the top of the tree. This was probably true, for the tree was a tall one.

The case was again referred to the colonial secretary, who took it before the governor. His excellency was having luncheon with some of the departing officers and their friends and was having a good time. He was vexed that at such a time he should be troubled with official work, as he hastily glanced over the document he added the following instructions: "Cut the fellow down. I mean the tree."

This could only be done by the engineering department, so orderlies were sent out to find the chief engineer. While all this was going on, time was slipping away. Almost all the troops were on board the troopship, and as these vessels wait for no one the escort which had been sent to bring Johnson down to the ship had to hurry off, not to be late itself. Johnson bellowed a farewell, and despite the strong language of the warden still laughed and did not move. Before the engineer department had come to a conclusion as to how to cut down the tree and lower it gradually, the troopship had up anchor and was steaming out of the harbor.

Then Johnson climbed down the tree and finished his sentence on the island, to which he had taken a fancy. His conviction had carried with it his "discharge with ignominy." He settled in the island and was soon in easy circumstances. He had undoubtedly hidden his stolen property, and after his release dug it up and started in business. When Johnson was last seen, he was flourishing and had a large coconut grove around his cottage.—New York Tribune.

Business Enterprise.

"Talk about business enterprise," said Frank L. Perley, a circus man. "Away back in 1885 we had a young fellow with us who was getting $15 and his board. The night Jumbo was killed in St. Thomas this boy developed himself. We were all sympathizing with poor old Jumbo and wondering how we could replace him. The youngster was thinking of something else. You know the tail of an elephant has at the very tip a bunch of thick hair very much like a brush. This boy got under the fence and had pulled every hair out of Jumbo's tail. His business at the circus was to sell balloons to children. Well, there were 76 of those thick hairs, and at the show the next afternoon he was selling them for $1 apiece as relics of the great giant. He sold 75 of them and practically found $75. The other one he kept for himself and still wears it as his mascot."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Ruth Said Her Verse.

Little Ruth can read very nicely, and her mother is anxious that at an early age she shall become familiar with the Bible, so that when she was obliged to leave home to be gone five months she told Ruth she would bring her home a muff if she would say a Bible verse every night before she went to bed. Ruth promised that she would. Mamma came home at the end of the five months. Before presenting the muff she said: "How ab: the verses, Ruth?" "I said one every night, mamma." "That's mamma's nice girl. You must have learned a good many in five months, dear." "Why, I always said the very same one." "The same one all the time! What was that?" "Jesus wept," said Ruth. It wasn't just what mother expected, but Ruth got the muff.—Boston Globe.

Billiard Rooms in Houses.

Houses will soon be all top. Men will go up stairs to play billiards when they will not go down. Up stairs there is greater freedom of conversation. Fathers have discovered that if there is a well equipped billiard room near the roof, with good air, an unrestricted outlook, adequate privacy and satisfactory means of refreshment, their sons, after business hours, are much more apt to come home and bring their friends with them to play until dinner than to go to their clubs.—San Francisco Argonaut.

Money Easily Made.

Wall space for advertising purposes commands very high rentals in popular business thoroughfares in this city. There is one man who obtains an annual income of several thousand dollars out of one side of a house which is conspicuously exposed.—New York Herald.
