Mrs. Herman Pade is confined to bed with an attack of inflammatory rheumatism.

A promising boy made his appearance at the Noble residence, on Sunday morning last.

Work has been inaugurated on the J. W. Hupp residence on north Manchester street, this week.

On the first day of May Miss N. Shaffer will open a kindergarten school at 302 Marshal Street. Tuition reasonable.

Call and inspect Kalstedt's immense stock of new goods. The finest selection ever exhibited in the city. Don't wait until the line is broken.

There has been no cause for complaint of lack of water since Supt. Meeker has been given the enforcement of the water ordinance. None whatever. All are getting a full allowance, all the time.

Charley Young, a "young" Chinese laundryman, has applied for full citizen ship papers. He took out his first papers at Indianola, while living at McCook and cast his first vote,—democratic—in Red Willow county in 1886. He won't make a bad citizen either.—Hastings Democrat.

The new Nebraska state band, authorized by the legislature, made its first appearance last Saturday evening and delighted the thousands who saw and listened to it. It is a matter of public congratulation that this city is headquarters for the official state band that will be an organization soon known beyond the confines of the state.—Lincoln Call.

Mr. Hunter, the advance man of F. J. Taylor's show, which gave such splendid satisfaction here last summer, was here yesterday arranging for the appearance of the show again this season. Mr. Hunter assures us that the show is very much larger and finer than it was last year, and promises us a highly satisfactory performance on June 7th.

This week C. F. Babcock sold his handsome residence property on corner Dodge and Madison streets to W. H. Edwards for $3,500, possession to be given on the 15th of June. Mr. Babcock will temporarily occupy rooms in his brick block, which will be shortly vacated by U. G. Mosher who will occupy the dwelling soon to be vacated by J. T. Bullard in the northeastern part of the city.

The B. & M. meat market has just put in an Acme patent cooling room which has no equal in this section of Nebraska. It is large, convenient and is constructed on scientific principles, and meats are kept cold and solid as long as may be desired. It is a splendid addition to their fine equipment and largely increases their storage and cooling facilities.

REMOVAL.

J. F. Ganschow may now be found in his Elegant New Quarters in the Union Block, where he is exhibiting one of the finest and largest stocks of LADIES' and CHILDREN'S SLIPPERS to be seen in Southwestern Nebraska. Remember the "OLD RELIABLE" when you need anything in the shoe line. His goods and prices are always right. Be sure to remember that he has removed to the Union Block and is now located in the old Lytle store room.

We regret not receiving the copy for the district court proceedings in time for publication this issue; but will give it complete and officially next.

The Sutton Register remembers McCook as being the city wherein is published "one of the comeliest weeklies in Nebraska—the McCook TRIBUNE."

The band gave the first of their open air concerts, Saturday night, to a delighted and numerous audience. None of the boys have lost their cleverness or cunning.

E. C. Ballew expects shortly to open an office in rear of the First National bank for abstracting, real estate loaning etc. P. A. Wells will occupy other quarters.

Sunday evening, H. H. Berry, justice of the peace, united in marriage Frank W. Bennett and Rhoda A. Cooper, both of this city, at residence of the bride's parents in south McCook.

The Benkelman News will please observe that the decision of the district court in the Red Willow county-seat contest was in favor of McCook, and not of Indianola, as stated last week.

The Walker versus Elliot case came up before Spuire Berry on Monday for the fourth time, but was dismissed. Elliot was charged with stealing lumber from Walker's house during the owner's absence from the county in 1890.

Last Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. John Kummer invited in a large company of neighbors and friends to help them celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage. A most bountiful table was spread, and all enjoyed themselves immensely. They received quite a number of handsome presents from the guests, who hope to be able to celebrate with them their golden wedding in due time.

The young man who sows wild oats will not enjoy himself worth speaking of when he comes to garner the sheaves in after years. Any sort of a crop is better as an investment, though none is surer of big returns, such as they are. Wild oats, my son, will make a straight man crooked, the strong feeble, the bright stupid and the pure unclean and repulsive. The harvest is sorrow and remorse unspeakable. What ever else you sow, don't tamper it with wild oats. "Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth," and let the oat crop out on shares. If the thing must be sown let somebody else do it.

Superintendent Goudy has sent the teachers of the state the following: Attention is called to the arrangement for the state examinations as outlined below. It is the intention of the department to hold four examinations for professional certificates within the present term of office. The first of the series will be held on June 13 and 14, 1893. The second will be held on Monday and Tuesday immediately preceding the annual meeting of the state teacher's association, 1893. The third will be held on June 12 and 13, 1894. The fourth of the series will be held on Monday and Tuesday immediately preceding the annual meeting of the state teacher's association in 1894.

F. J. Taylor's magnificent circus and menagerie put in an appearance at this place on Tuesday as advertised, performing in the afternoon and evening to fair audiences, yet not such as their merit deserved, as the verdict of the public is unanimous in according them the honor of being the best performers, having the largest and finest animals, the nicest and fattest lot of horses and ponies, the neatest and best equipped and arranged canvass and seats, together with the most gentlemanly appearing attaches, ever found traveling with similar establishments in the western states. They are justly entitled and should receive the generous patronage of the public at large and we trust in the future at least while exhibiting in Nebraska, such may be their good fortune.—Nelson (Neb.) Herald. At McCook June 7th, 1893.

The early vegetables will come late this season.

There is some talk of the establishment of another bank in our city.

Dr. A. T. Rice has purchased the Libbie dwelling in north McCook.

The article on "Primitive Western Houses" which appears in this issue is from the graceful pen of John Cordeal, and first appeared in Harper's Weekly.

A splendid shower visited the section of country lying southeast of the city, Saturday afternoon. The rain did not come as far north as the river, however. Light shower prevailed in the county also on Sunday.

He is a most miserable failure who cannot afford to take his home paper. The greatest trouble in this respect is to find out which of the many papers is the best, excepting here in Red Willow county where everybody admits THE TRIBUNE is in the lead.

It will take exactly $15.10 of a visitor's money to see all the side shows and special exhibits, which added to the regular admission fees foot up $15.60, besides which there are nine special exhibits, the price of admission to which have not yet been fixed.

Street Commissioner Spotts put down a stone crossing on Main between Dennison and Dodge, this week, in order to test the durability of the stone from Troxel's quarry. If it proves hard enough it will make a cheap material out of which to construct crossings.

A slight accident occurred at the pump house, Saturday afternoon, which at one time threatened to give them considerable trouble. But by dint of hard work the pumps were set in motion about two o'clock Sunday morning again, and a good supply maintained throughout the day.

Mr. Noland who came out here about a year ago from New York City but who has recently been at McCook, has purchased Mrs. Etzier's stock of groceries. He will put in a fresh stock and continue the business at the old stand. We wish him success and believe that he has a good business opening.—Akron Republican.

THE TRIBUNE would be glad to have the proper officers or members of the various secret societies of the city furnish it with such items of interest in reference to their societies as may properly be made public. A short item each week from each society would be read with interest by the members of the other societies, who have no other means of knowing what the societies of the city to which they do not belong are doing.

Commissioners Graham and Young were in this section of the county, last Friday, viewing the proposed Carson road, southwest of the city, which has been long in controversy. The probabilities are that they will not recommend the establishment of the road asked for, on account of the expense to make said highway, and for other reasons, but will recommend a road leading from the Carson place southeast to connect with a good road already established. This, of course, is not satisfactory to Mr. Carson, who has long sought diligently to secure a road on the line prayed for, without success.

Little Frances Ritchie and Lillian Campbell had a runaway experience on Sunday afternoon, which although remarkably fortunate in its results, they will never wish to duplicate. Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Ball had driven in from the farm and were enjoying a Sunday dinner at T. B. Campbell's, their horse being tied to a post in front of the residence. While the grown folks were at dinner, the two little girls above named untied the horse and got into the vehicle, bent on having a drive. The animal is of runaway proclivities, and soon started on a run, the speed being increased by screams of terror uttered by the frightened girls. On the slope in the northeastern part of the city the little ones were thrown out, and the runaway continued its wild career as far east as S. P. Hart's farm. Other than a few cuts and bruises the little ones received no injuries, and the animal and toposug buggy came out of the marvelously fortunate accident without any damage to speak of. The horse is the same animal which ran away with John McAdams, some weeks since, and injured him quite severely.

A Distinct Success.

The May musicale given in the opera hall, last Friday evening, by the Dorcas society of the Congregational church, was a delightful affair, and was enjoyed by a large and appreciative audience. The program was slightly long, but the various parts were rendered meritoriously and to the evident enjoyment of all.

The several efforts of Reizenstein's orchestra were splendid as usual.

The empire drill by eight girls in white and the same number in red empire garments was decidedly pretty, and they went through the evolutions in good form, under the orders of Miss Ona Simons.

Grace Strasser and Judd Kay made a decided hit of their piano duet, a portion of which they had to repeat in response to loud and continuous applause.

"Where is Heaven" was very sweetly rendered by Mrs. C. B. Gray.

H. P. Sutton's cornet solo was up to his usual high standard of excellence.

The twenty little folks wound the May pole with charming effect.

The serenade club acquitted themselves with credit upon their first appearance before a McCook audience.

Amy Stasser and Norma Noble played their difficult piano duet very effectively.

The "Courtship of Mother Goose" was a pleasing diversion, and the eighteen costumed characters each and all appeared advantageously.

F. A. Pennell won new laurels in his taking baritone solo.

The quartette rounded off the evening's program with much merriment.

The entire affair reflects much credit upon the performers, as well as the ladies of the society.

R. M. Snavelly, formerly county attorney here, now located in Denver, had the pleasure of seeing his name in print in Saturday's Denver papers. While returning to his home at a late hour Friday night he was knocked down and robbed of $12.50, but the thieves did not take his watch. Though badly bruised Mr. Snavelly was not seriously injured. We are indebted to Robert Welborn, of Denver for this item.—Indianola Courier.

Elmer, the 18-year-old son of Eugene Dunham, died on Monday morning of typhoid fever, after a very brief illness. The funeral was held on Tuesday afternoon, interment being made in Longview cemetery. The parents and family have great sympathy in their sudden bereavement.

The convention sermon was delivered by Rev. W. C. Stevenson of McCook, one of Evangelist Moody's converts. Mr. Stevenson's sermon was a spiritual treat in every respect, and was listened to with the greatest attention by a crowded church.—Lincoln Journal.

Prof. Rowland of Indianola was a city visitor, Saturday, circulating freely among his independent friends. It is just quite possible that the Professor is erecting a few poles in his back yard in the fond hope that lightning may strike one of them in the fall. "I don't know?"

John F. Collins arrived from Salt Lake City, last Friday evening. His two little daughters accompanied him and will remain here, the guest of their sister Mrs. Larry McEntee, until their father's return from Chicago, whither he went Wednesday of this week, to see the fair, and to attend the meeting of the Catholic Knights of America.

Edgar Howard, the clever and debonaire editor of the Papillion Times, spent a short while in the city, Tuesday on his way home from Benkelman where he has been looking after his interests. The Colonel carries a cane and is somewhat lame, the result of an accidental shooting, but his charming drawl of voice is unimpaired, and his good right arm wields a facile pen full of acidity when occasion demands. The Colonel also enjoys the distinction of being a money-making newspaper man.

Mrs. A. W. Thomas of Utah, Ills., died at her home Friday night, May 12, from a protracted illness caused by measles, aged 77 years and 8 months. She was the mother of Miss A. H. Thomas of this city, R. H. Thomas of Indianola and Mrs. H. M. Blackfan of Alliance precinct. Miss Thomas closed up her business affairs here a year ago in order to go back to the old home and assist her parents in their declining years, and has been with them since that time. Mrs. Thomas spent a short time in McCook while visiting her children three years ago last fall.
