Tom McCarl has been enjoying a visit to Denver, this week.

Some of the boys are kicking because they can't get a lay-off; others because they get them too often.

Cheaper rates to the world's fair are still expected, but not an accomplished fact.

Engineer Finch is down from Denver after 237 which is in the shops for a complete overhauling.

Lena Coy was up from Holdrege to witness the commencement exercises, and visited McCook friends a few days.

A fence now encloses the old eating house grounds, which in due time promises to become quite an attractive little park.

Supt. Campbell has sold the three lots north of his residence to M. Althuler, who expects to build thereon in due time.

Engine 83 from the Lyons branch which was so badly mashed up recently in disputing the right of way with No. 6 in Denver yards is in the shops here being overhauled.

Charlie Ward came in Monday night from visiting in his old home in Ohio and the world's fair. He says that the only objection he has to file is that there is entirely too much to see.

In order that their employees may have an opportunity to see the fair the Burlington has classified the men, giving each class certain dates within which to attend the great exposition.

The passenger rate from here to Chicago has been lowered a notch. Round trip tickets are now $28.62, and the one-way fare is $17.60. To St. Louis the round trip rate is $26, one way $17.

Tom Wilkinson's ill fortune procured him a rest of five days, first of this week. Tom says that he would like to feel the thrill of pleasure of being able to put in one complete and uninterrupted month, just once.

Harry Tyler arrived home on last Friday night from visiting the world's fair. The family will remain there a while longer. He reports the array of attractions as endless and the exposition in general out of sight.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Thomas of Thomas, Pennsylvania, arrived in the city, last Friday and were the guests of Engineer and Mrs. J. H. Moore until Monday afternoon. Mr. Thomas is an extensive oil man in Washington county.

The contract has been let by the B. & M. company to Kilpatrick Bros. & Collins for the construction of their Sheridan branch line from Sheridan, Wyoming, to Great Falls, Montana, where connection will be had with the Great Northern, which will give them a through line from Chicago to the coast.

A new time card is announced to go into effect on Sunday at noon. About the only important changes in time will be in the running of No. 4 and the Imperial train. No. 4 will then arrive here at about 7:35 mountain time. The train for Imperial will leave at 8 and return at 6:30 o'clock, mountain time. A very slight change will be made in one or two other trains.

Speaking of the graduates at the late commencement exercises of their high school the Alliance Grip has this to say concerning the former pupils of our city schools: "Misses La Vaughn and Eda Phelan wore lovely empire suits of fine white China silk. White rosebuds and smilax. No city has ever shown a graduating class of more good looking and intelligent young ladies than were there presented."

Two masked men held up a train on the Burlington road at Nodaway station west of Corning, Wednesday night. They detached the baggage and mail cars and compelled the engineer and fireman to leave the engine and ran it and the baggage and mail cars a few miles down the track. Entering the baggage car they asked the baggageman what train it was. On being informed that it was only a local passenger, they exclaimed with an oath that "they were after the Denver express," and immediately disappeared.

There will be a special train from Hastings to this point on Sunday.

REPUBLICAN.

Al. Adams is visiting at this railroad headquarters for a few days.

Brakeman Clugh has resigned his position on the B. & M. and has sought more congenial climes.

Engineer Crosby is back on No. 141 and 142 with the 52, the former radiant with smiles the latter with a new coat of paint.

No. 13 is not very heavy at present, but when you get in on No. 164 you feel like seeking your downy couch and holding it down for 24 hours.

Only one brakeman on the Orleans and St. Francis mixed train now. This makes it pleasant for the crew when they get 15 or 20 box cars between the engine and coaches.

W. S. Perry was looking over the Oberlin branch on Tuesday. One of the station boys at Oberlin asked if he was the new section boss, when he got off the train at that place.

One of the section men left a tie on the track a few days ago just to see if No. 13 would knock it off. Fortunately she did knock it off and the said section man is looking for a soft snap on a farm.

They are Dead.

A private telegram received here this morning announces that both of County Clerk Roper's boys who were so fearfully burned with phosphorous at Indianola, Wednesday, died this morning. The affair is one of profoundest sadness and every heart impulsively goes out to Mr. Roper in his overwhelming affliction and great burden of grief.

THE supreme court of the state of Nebraska in the decision rendered by Justices Post and Norval on Monday afternoon acquits Messrs. Allen, Hastings and Humphrey of the charges preferred in the impeachment cases, and now it were perhaps just as well to drop this unfortunate matter right here. The war is over. The state officers involved have been exonerated—Chief Justice Maxwell dissenting let us have Peace.

THERE is a probability that the opera house project in connection with the A. O. U. W. temple building will not materialize on account of lack of funds, and that it will be two stories high and be used for business and lodge purposes only. We sincerely hope that such may not be the case, as there is an imperative demand here for a better and larger opera house; while the need for more business houses is not quite so urgent.

THE bimetallist league held an interesting session, Tuesday evening, and perfected arrangements for a thorough work of organization over the state. About a dozen new members were present last evening, including Judge Broady, H. W. Hardy, ex-Congressman Laws, Representative Cornish and others—Lincoln Call.

Taylor's elephants caused a lively runaway over on east Dennis street, Wednesday morning. The frightened horses run through three fences in their mad flight.
