He names the following witnesses to prove his continuous residence upon, and cultivation of, said land, viz: Colburn P. Vland, of McCook, Nebraska; William E. Ketch, of Box Elder, Nebraska; Hubert Beach, of Box Elder, Nebraska, and James Spaulding, of McCook, Nebraska.
 J. P. LINDSAY, Register.

SEVENTEEN railroads have been foreclosed upon in the United States since the beginning of the year. They represent a total of about $37,000,000 of capital. This is not an alarming record, but it must be remembered that the foreclosures represent bankruptcies that may have commenced years ago. The real test of the prosperity of the roads is found in the new receiverships created since the first of January. According to the Railroad Age the record is not a cheerful one. The Age explains: During the six months twenty-seven railway companies, with 5,242 miles of operated lines and aggregate debt and capital of $370,831,000, have been forced to confess inability to meet their obligations and have been taken possession of by the courts. In respect to amount of investment the half year shows a larger total than any entire year since 1885— from to nearly five times as much as any of these years except 1892; while in number of roads and mileage the six months also exceed each of these years except the last, when the new era of bankruptcies appeared to have set in.

For some weeks the railroad companies have been figuring up the rates established by the interminable maximum rate bill passed by the late unlamented legislature and the result is rumored to be so astonishing, that the responsible officials will probably refuse to make their schedules in conformity to the law until they are compelled to do so by an adverse decision of the courts. They find that instead of the 20 per cent reduction that the framers of the act pretended to make, the average cut is 33 per cent, and they will therefore be compelled to fight or go out of the local business.—Lincoln Journal.

The latest reports from unofficial sources indicate that there will be a loss of 80,000,000 bushels as compared with the wheat crop of last year. The figures are yet to be verified, but if they are correct the statement should have a stimulating effect upon the market. Other conditions being equal, wheat should command a remunerative price within the next twelve months.

THE TRIBUNE has not heard any vociferous demand from the populists for a fusion with democrats this fall, on the supreme judgeship.
