Pay day, Monday.
Brakeman McCarl has a new bicycle. Leach sold it to him.
Auditor Foreman has been checking up the local office, this week.
R. B. Archibald has been in Lincoln, this week, attending a meeting of master mechanics.
Mr. and Mrs. Orville Burnett went down to Hastings Sunday morning, on a visit to relatives of a few days.

Miss Rosa Catt, of McCook, has been visiting Mrs. Jennie Volk a few days this week.—Cambridge Kaleidoscope.

Supt. Campbell was over the Cheyenne line, first of the week, on a tour of inspection with a company of officials.

John Humphreys is resting five days for not throwing a switch over far enough, and letting a few wheels off the track.

The conductors' ball, next Tuesday evening, promises to be one of the events of the year. The boys will not stop short of a complete success.

W. A. Davis of Cedar Bluffs, Kansas, formerly B. & M. telegrapher at Beverly, was in the city last week attending to matters of business.—Culbertson Era.

A cablegram received from Manchester, England, Tuesday of last week, announces the death of the mother of Frank S. Granger, late conductor on this road.

Terry McAloon returned, the fore part of the week, from his eastern trip, where he was called on account of the dangerous illness of a brother.—Akron Republican.

Mrs. J. R. Circulumb and children, of McCook, while enroute to Lincoln, stopped off at Oxford Monday and spent several days with her sister, Mrs. S. W. Lee.—Oxford Standard.

The supper for the conductors' ball, next Tuesday evening, will be served in one of the store rooms of the Temple. It will be under the supervision of Col. George Etter of the Commercial house.

Lon Raymot, a tramp, was horribly mangled by the cars at Hyannis, Neb. Wednesday night. First he was dragged a quarter of a mile by train 41, and was afterwards run over again by train 42. He was literally cut to pieces and fragments of his bones and flesh were scattered the entire distance.

Some sneak thief stole into the B. & M. depot Monday noon, while the employes were at dinner, and relieved the cash drawer of $11.60. The drawer was cut into from the under side by means of a hatchet. The work is evidently the work of a novice who knew where to find things and when to act. Mr. Kemper, the agent, suspicions the guilty party.—Alma Record.

The attendance upon the playing of "Home Ties" by the Amateur club, last evening, was not what the play deserved. The company handled the play with splendid effect, and it is to be regretted that a large and appreciative audience was not present to enjoy it. The orchestral work was also fine.

Billy Davis is assisting at "The Fair," this week.

A Trifle Interesting.
The council met in adjourned session on Thursday evening with a full board present. Minutes of previous meeting approved. Bills allowed as follows:
Larry Rooney, crossing $ 40 00
Luke Tully, rent 6 00
The vote of the late city election was canvassed and the result declared, being in effect as published in last week's TRIBUNE.

Under suspension of rules ordinance No. 54, regulating the rates to be charged by electric light companies for incandescent and arc lights within the city of McCook, Nebraska, was passed. Section one of this ordinance provides for the following rates: Business lights, incandescents, 15 candle power, per month, 75 cents. Residence lights, 16 candle power incandescents, first light, 75 cents per month, second light 50 cents a month, and 35 cents for each additional light, for all night service. For 32 candle power lights, $1.50 per month.

After the passage of this ordinance the council adjourned.

At this juncture J. E. Kelley appeared before the clerk and requested to be sworn in. The clerk refused to do so on the grounds that the certificates of elections had not been prepared, that the action was unprecedented, and that Mayor Brewer refused to vacate until the next regular meeting.

After some heated debate, Mr. Kelley took the oath of office before H. W. Cole, notary public.

And the question now agitating the public mind is, has McCook two mayors?

Slight rain fall, Thursday night. Enough to settle the dust.

This weather is not favorable for the display of that "love of a spring bonnet," sad to say.

The remains of the seven months old son of John Flood of Trenton were brought down from the west, Tuesday evening, and buried in the Catholic cemetery here.

It is quite probable that the ordinance passed, last night, regulating electric light rates, will not stand. There should be a material reduction—but the cut is doubtless pretty deep.

The Workmen are preparing for quite a blow out here May 7th, we understand. Some of the supreme officers will be here, and it is expected to be an eventful occasion for the order.

Our Russian friends have a new system: One of them called at H. Thompson's, the other day, telling Mrs. Thompson that Mr. Thompson had sent him up to spade around the trees in the yard. She put the Russian to work, not knowing that her husband had never seen him. The next morning when the Russian called for his money, Mr. Thompson was at home—and it was different.
