I have been troubled with chronic sore eyes for forty-five years, and during that time have used many different remedies, but have never found any that seemed to do me any good, until I procured a box of Chamberlain's Eye and Skin Ointment. I have used only about one-third of the box, and can truthfully say I have never had my eyes feel as well, or look as well as they do now. I expect to cure them entirely with the ointment. BEN HEATH, Dow City, Iowa. 25 cent boxes for sale by McConnell & Co.

Rail Road Notes.

J. Hailey of Batavia, N. Y., conductor on N. Y. C. railway, and one of the best known men on the road, says of Parks' Tea: For ten years I have suffered from constipation. Tried everything and found nothing of lasting value. Hearing so many talking of Parks' Tea I tried it without much hope. The first dose moved my bowels easily and now I am cured. It works like magic. Sold by McMillen.

During an epidemic of whooping cough at DeWitt, Iowa, a prominent family there bought a fifty-cent bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for their children. It proved so satisfactory that they recommended it to their neighbors; and they in turn to others. In less than a week's time the druggist, Mr. C. V. Baxter, was having an immense run on it. The medicine is still the main reliance in that vicinity for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. Mr. Baxter says: "It sells on its merits." For sale by McConnell & Co.

REGION OF WONDER.

SOME OF THE NATURAL MARVELS TO BE SEEN IN OREGON.

Illustrations of Both the Dead and the Living Past—Precognitions In Abundance of Something Strange to Come—In the Valley of Desolation.

Nowhere on the known globe is there another region of the same extent representing the weird and grotesque as well as the sublime and grand in nature as in a long and wide strip lying a considerable distance inland from the western coast of the United States. Here can be found an abundance of illustrations of both the dead and living past—that strange past of physical violence preceding the age of man, and that solemn past when the forces had gone to rest and the imprint of chaos lay everywhere. There are precognitions in abundance of something strange to come in the counties of Snohomish, Okanogan, Douglas and Yakima in Washington, but this is not fully emphasized until the Oregon counties of Morrow, Gilliam, Grant and Lake have been considered, and the marvelous receives a wonderful accession in the long line of eastern California counties, southern Nevada, a considerable region in Utah west of Great Salt Lake, southern New Mexico and a region of no small dimensions in northern Texas. Here, to the mental and the ocular sight, are unsolved problems in geology, paradoxes in physical formation and numberless instances of what may be termed inversions of established geographical order.

In Oregon we are confronted with the still and silent Sagebrush desert, hemmed in by a wildly picturesque yet as dreary and inhospitable a region as can be found anywhere. In the midst of this desert, as if to reflect the surrounding awfulness, is Fossil Lake, and all the surrounding region is one vast and wide cemetery of the fauna of a precatolymal world. Here are massed together more fossil specimens of a greater variety of early animal life than can be found anywhere on the earth, excepting the immense fossil islands northward of Siberia—horses of rare form, different species of camels, llamas, mammoths, sloths of huge proportions, wonderful birds, and the evidence that primitive man at some time was there is indicated by the presence of arrowheads chipped from volcanic glass. But what long ages have been entombed since these tropical animals in their untamed strength trod the soil of Oregon and what mighty changes have swept over the earth since then! How came they there in such amazing numbers, and what were the causes of such universal and evidently such simultaneous death? No conditions on the earth as we know them now could bring this about. Yet here nature chose to locate one of her remarkable mortuary establishments and to enshroud it with the gloom of unrelieved desolation. Commencing in this region and extending down into California, the mountains are freakish. They are not constructed on the chain or continuous system. The earth did not wrinkle her crust, but she erupted into huge boils; the peaks stand isolated, sometimes interrupting an otherwise comparatively even plain.

And now the valleys, rivers and considerable lakes take on a habit of becoming lost. The streams, after considerable underground meandering, find themselves again on the surface, and after a succession of reappearances and disappearances either stay found or are lost entirely. Chasms, with almost a mile of depth and faced with perpendicular walls of solid rock, now begin to appal both sight and sense, and in Mariposa county the tremendous canyon of the Yosemite exceeds anything of the kind on the earth. Before this hot springs have become common, lakes of soda water abound, and San Bernardino valleys where the soil is hot and boiling geysers obtrude. Lava fields, covering immense tracts, have exhibited vitrified scoriae from northern Oregon down, and Nye county, Nev., has lava beds in profusion. In Inyo county, and taking in a portion of San Bernardino, Death valley, grim, hot and repellent, presents itself, and the surrounding region constituting, not in the mind only, but in reality, a region bordering more on the human conception of the infernal than can be furnished by any other locality on the globe.

In this valley of desolation the summer temperature reaches 140 degrees, rivaling that of the Sahara. It is some hundreds of feet below sea level, entirely destitute of water, although the Amagosa river discharges into one end of it, and in the interior has an atmosphere as of burning sulphur that neither human nor animal lungs can long inhale without great risk to life. Embracing hundreds of square miles, it affords not a sign of either animal or vegetable life in its interior, while its fumarolic heat renders it one of the hottest spots on the globe. In the same system is Soda Lake, into which the troubled Mohave river finally enters, discharging its brackish waters as into a sieve. The country abounds with sinks, streams suddenly plunge into subterranean depths farther south to furnish hot water, hot mud and sulphur volcanoes, dotted in miniature over an immense area, hissing and spitting and loading the air with most disagreeable fumes. The Utah section duplicates many of the remarkable features common to the other localities mentioned and affords indisputable evidence of having been involved in the throes of the mighty disturbance that once prevailed throughout this singular region, and which must have been still potent long after the other surface that is now embraced in the United States was quiescent.

Whatever the nature of the violence may have been, Great Salt Lake lowered its level 940 feet, and a vast region partook of great and sudden topographical change.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

The reader of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists.
