LET US HAVE PEACE.

Will our friends, the other republican candidates for a place on the state ticket in the Fifth congressional district, permit us to make a few well-meant suggestions apropos of present conditions? The republican party of the Fifth district is in an enthusiastically aggressive temper and with unanimity of action can elect their congressman and also secure a place on the state ticket. While the editor of this paper is a candidate for Commissioner of Public Lands and Buildings, he is also a republican with all that that implies, and would not willingly permit his name to be used as a candidate to the extent that the republicans of the district would get into a rivalry that would injure the republican cause after the convention. And assuming that the three candidates for Secretary of State in this district are just as good republicans as we are, we wish to suggest that Messrs. Fuller of Chase, Piper of Harlan, and Cruzen of Frontier, get themselves together, settle their differences, and agree upon which one of them shall ask the support of the republicans of the Fifth district for that office. While we are in earnest in our candidacy for Land Commissioner, we are willing to abide by an agreement of that kind, and if the state convention endorse the candidate for Secretary of State, we shall pull off our coat and help elect the nominee. It is impossible that more than one candidate for Secretary of State can be nominated and they ought all to be shrewd to discover the methods that crown ambition with success. And it surely is not by each candidate going into the state convention with a few counties at his back. Let there be an end to factions or to personal followings. Let the republicans of the Fifth get together. Let the movement to get a place on the state ticket be a unanimous movement of all the candidates, and all alike they will have due honor throughout the entire state.—Hayes Center Republican.

REPORTS from different parts of Nebraska indicate a decidedly increased interest in irrigation problems as the result of the drouth that has recently injured the corn crop in various localities. The people are looking with more favor upon plans for irrigation and are discussing what legislation is necessary to encourage enterprises of that kind. This activity is noted with pleasure by the friends of the irrigation movement. Irrigation is bound to occupy the attention of Nebraska farmers more and more during the next few years and the demand upon the legislature for favorable legislation will be almost irresistible.

Reports are to the effect that hundreds of people and thousands of head of stock are flocking into the Dismal country just now to winter. This seems to be the only locality in this part of the state that affords any feed for stock, and the probabilities are, from the way the people are flocking in, that that country will soon be overstocked.

After the close of the Casey trial, Tuesday afternoon, in Lawyer Rittenhouse's office, the complaining witness, James Harris, felt a strong impulse to annihilate the lilliputian attorney for Casey, Mr. Moore; but he didn't. After going down stairs onto the street and thinking the matter over the little lawyer felt a resistless inclination to return and "wind" his mammoth assailant; but he didn't. And the incident wisely closed.

FUND FOR BOOMING.

A Thoroughly Practical Method For Encouraging Manufactures.
A scheme novel in itself, yet practical and businesslike in its operation, has been adopted by some towns that have boomed their business and population to an unusual degree. The method is a strictly fair one and possesses no drawbacks so far as experience teaches or the skill of promoters can detect. Few towns like to give money outright for the establishment of manufacturing enterprises, and it is a mooted question whether or not it is commercially right for a concern to thus handicap itself by accepting an absolute consideration for the transfer of a business from one city to another. Certain it is that no town can afford to give a bonus sufficient to induce a manufacturing firm to change its location if it is not for the firm's interest to change, irrespective of the good will offering that may be made, and it may be set down as a fact that any enterprise that will move its plant solely to secure the cash that a town may give it is not a desirable enterprise nor the one that a town wants.

Granting, however, that there exist advantages in the way of railroad facilities, convenient sites, low priced fuel, cheap living, good schools and the like, of sufficient importance to attract a manufacturer, it is but proper that the tradespeople, landowners and citizens generally who are directly and indirectly benefited by his advent in their town should generously bear the expense attached to moving and the loss incident thereto.

A fair sized town whose citizens are reasonably liberal and awake to the public interest would be able to raise a sum of perhaps $10,000 as a nucleus to a permanent fund to encourage new manufacturing. This money raised by voluntary subscription is best placed in the hands of trustees and its expenditure given over to a board of trade. When opportunity offers, the whole or a part of it may be given, without interest, to induce a manufacturing concern to locate, the stipulation being that 10 per cent of it shall be paid back each year until the entire sum is refunded. The 10 per cent received is expended in the same manner, and eventually a fund is created of magnificent proportions. The first year, as will be seen, the revenue from the investment is $1,000, the next year $1,000 from the original and $100 from the previous $1,000 installment, and the next $1,000 upon the original, $100 upon the loan of $1,000 and $10 upon the loan of $100, and so on ad infinitum. Should this fund be added to, as is usually the case, the advantages accruing to a town engaging in the method of fostering industries will be manifold and far-reaching.

DISPOSITION OF GARBAGE.

An Important Matter That Receives Little Attention—English Methods.

The question of the disposition of the garbage of cities and towns is a subject that interests all. While the accumulation of refuse in the smaller towns has not so great a bearing on public health as in the larger towns and cities, neatness and cleanliness are always desirable, and many diseases are directly traced to carelessness in this matter. Typhoid fever is considered by scientists as a filth disease. Ignorance and stupidity are often responsible for outbreaks of disease in localities that with trifling care in the disposition of sink drains and garbage would never have occurred. Kitchen refuse thrown in a heap in the back yard, there to fester and rot, is always a dangerous neighbor. What cannot be burned should be disposed of in a manner that will preclude the possibility of its becoming a menace to public health.

In the district of Ealing, adjacent to London, which has a population of 25,000, the refuse is burned in a patent "destructor" which has four cells. It has a chimney 143 feet in height. The fuel used is a fine coke, and the quantity consumed costs 37 cents per day. The cost of the destructor was $10,000. The quantity of refuse burned is 6,120 tons per year. The heat from the destructor is utilized by a boiler supplying steam for an engine which drives the lime mixing machines and clay mixer for the sewage portion of the works.

In the Battersea division of London, with a population of 150,000, the local authorities have erected a patent destructor with a chimney 150 feet in height. It cost $57,000 and consumes 28,000 tons of refuse a year, and there are no complaints about offensive odor.

Thrift of the Mennonites.

There are about 11,000 Mennonites in Kansas. They prosper every year, and their homes are veritable storehouses of garden and field products. To step into them is almost equal to a visit to the land of the Volga. Curious furniture, strange and peculiar garb and habits impress one that he is in another land and another age. Surrounding the low and squat houses are heavy stone walls and old country fencing. Barns and farming implements are everywhere numerous, but the farming utensils are under shelter and bright as new, while the barns and bins are bursting with a wealth of the previous year's crops, in marked distinction to the American neighbor, whose cribs are empty and whose farm machinery is sheltered by the broad canopy of heaven, while he is off at the county seat town discussing the "circulation per capita" and the down-trodden and oppressed condition of the toiling farmer.—Boston Transcript.

The Antiquity of Advertising.

Fourteen hundred years before Christ street criers went into public places to advertise salable articles or walked through the thoroughfares ringing a bell and promulgating public notices. In the exhumed ruins of Pompeii authentic evidence is found in the crude wall inscriptions depicting the prowess of the gladiators, together with testimonials from citizens, which might really be said to be the birth of the advertisement.

GANADO, TEXAS,

Is now the favorite place for homeseekers. Almost everybody that sees the land buys more or less of it, and all say that here is the best and finest land in Southern Texas. See what those say who visited the country during the last excursion.

GANADO, TEXAS, July 16th, 1894.

By request the undersigned hereby express their satisfaction with the land north of Ganado, Jackson county, Texas. That land is as fine as you can find anywhere, and finer than most of the land we saw during our travels. It is better drained, which is of great importance in Southern Texas, where the land is mostly flat. The land is surrounded by timber and water, and besides this land is from $2 to $4 cheaper per acre than other land in the neighborhood. Crops are looking well, especially along the coast. The climate is very healthy, a fine breeze coming from the gulf almost every day. Signed,

This land costs only $7 per acre. Six years time given with seven per cent interest, and no taxes on the land till 1900. Title to the land is perfect, coming from the state to the company owning the land. Remember that in Southern Texas they know nothing of drouth, crop failure or the excessive heat. Go and see for yourself and you will find these facts true. For information concerning the next excursion see

Going to Buy a Watch?

If so, buy one that cannot be stolen. The only thief-proof watches are those with

Non-pull-out

BOWS. Here's the Idea: The bow has a groove on each end. A collar runs down inside the pendant (stem) and fits into the groove, firmly locking the bow to the pendant, so that it cannot be pulled or twisted off.

To be sure of getting a Non-pull-out, see that the cases stamped with this trade mark, and it cannot be had with any other kind.

Ask your jeweler for pamphlet, or send for one to the famous Bostell Field Case makers.
