Shannon was in bed at an uptown hotel, and claims O'Connor struck the fatal blow.

CHARLER S. ALLING, postmaster of Seward, died last week of inflammation of the bowels after a short illness. Very few knew that he was ill until it was announced that he was dead. Mr. Alling went to Seward sixteen years ago from Dutchess county, New York, and settled on a farm, but has resided most of the time in Seward, where he was engaged in the loan and real estate business. He succeeded E. A. Pol-

After following him about two blocks Waceke lost sight of him and gave up the chase. He lost a valuable watch.

YESTERDAY, says a Blair dispatch, Cyrus Dann and William Taylor, both residents of this county, quarreled at a Sunday ball game. They afterward buried the hatchet and together attended church. At the close of servi-ces Taylor started homeward and was followed by Dunn, who had armed himself with a heavy club. Dunn over-took Taylor and without warning struck him on the head, fracturing his skull. After dealing the blow Dunn carried his victim to the roadside and threw him over into a cornfield, after which he fled. Taylor is dead and his murderer is pot to be found.

W. B. VAN SANT, says the South Omaha Journal, came in from his place on Oak creek in Saunders county, two miles east of Touhy, and brought with him substantial evidence that there, at least, they will have good corn, although the yield will be below the average. Billie says they will have all of thirty bushels to the acre and that all up and down the creek from his place the corn is good. He had about ten ears of early and late corn fully a foot in length and well filled, about as good corn as is ever seen under any circumstances. In regard to farms, the conclusion is that 27.01 per cent of the farm families hire and 72.99 per cent own the farms cultivated by them; that 51.99 per cent of the farm-owning families own subject to incumbrance and 48.01 per cent own free of incumbrance. Among 100 farm families twenty-seven hire their farms, thirtyeight own with incumbrance and thirty-five without incumbrance. On the owned farmes there are liens amounting to $47,678,132, which is 32.39 per cent of their value, and this debt bears interest at the rate of 8.22 per cent, making the average annual interest charges $89 to each family. Something over a year and a half ago the 13-year-old son of Henry Graves, living two miles southwest of Odell, became subject to a jerking sensation in his left eye. Although doctors were consulted and treatment had by oculists, the eye grew worse, until he was totally blind, and has not been able to see out of the member since last February. Last, week, so the boy says, he dreamed for three nights that if he would fire a gun off twice his eyesight would be restored. He told his parents of his dream, and his father told him to try it, which he did, and after firing the second shot sight returned to the afflicted eye, just as he had dreamed it would. A great many people think it a miracle. No one can explain or understand the cure.

WHEN Governor Crounse went into office he revived the old statute requiring the superintendents of the various state institutions to make a semi-annual report. The reports for the first half of the present year have been received and make an admirable showing. In the nine institutions there are 1,800 inmates, and the compiled report shows that these have been cared for by a saving of $42,000 over that of the first half of the year 1892. At the asylum for the incurable insane, located at Hastings, of which G. W. Johnson is superintendent, the report shows that for the first half of 1892 the cost per capita was $131, and the second $138: for the first half of 1893 the cost per capita was $100, and for 1893, $76.49. At the soldiers' home, at Grand Island. the cost per capita for the first half of 1892 was $168.23, and for the same time in 1894 it was $112.64. SECRETARY FURNAS and other officers of the State Agricultural society are putting forth strenuous efforts to make the coming exhibition equal if not superior to any former Nebraska fair. This is a dry year, but Nebraska has produced much that ought to be seen as an evidence of the versatility no less than the productiveness of the soil, and it is to get a move on these samples that the state fair, management is bending its best energies. Let producers this year make a special effort to crown with success the coming exhibit and let attendance from all over the state be such as to show an abiding faith in its agricultural possibilities.

PULLMAN TESTIFIES.

Falace Car Magnate Before the Strike Commission. CHICAGO, Aug. 29. - George M. Pullman was before the labor commission for nearly three hours yesterday afternoon. He dwelt at great length on the motives which actuated the company in building homes for the workingmen at Pullman, declaring that the town had been made so that the best class of mechanics would prefer to live there than in any other place.

In reply to queries by Chairman Wright, Mr. Pullman told of the contracts for work undertaken by the company at a loss, in order that the men might be kept at work.

Judge Worthington asked: "As to this reported declaration of yours that you had nothing to arbitrate, were you correctly reported?" "I have already explained my views on that subject."

Judge Worthington then brought out the fact that the company's original capital stock of $1,000,000, in 1867, had increased to $36,000,000; that the company had paid dividends of 12 per cent during the first two years of its organization; 9½ per cent dur-ing the next two years, and 8 per cent annually since, and at the same time had accumulated a surplus amounting to $25,000,000.

Referring to the stock of the com-pany Mr. Pullman said it represented actual cash paid by the stockholders as the capital was needed and the capital stock was increased for the legitimate business of the company. There was no water in it and none of it represented dividends.

Coming back to the question of arbitration Mr. Pullman said he remembered no formal attempt to get him to arbitrate with the men. He had declared his willingness to arbi-

"Yes, but that includes the latter part of the world's fair which was exceptional.' Let me ask you, Mr. Pullman, whether you do not think a company that pays dividends of $2,800,000 could not afford to share the losses of its employes who have worked for it so long? "The manufacturing business is separate from the business of the sleeping car company. I see no reason why I should take the profits of the 4,200 stockholders in the Pullman Sleeping Car company and pay men a higher rate of wages than was paid in other parts of the country for the same work, or than was paid by other companies for the same work "Because we have been careful and accumulated a surplus I do not see that it is a reason why we should take the surplus now and pay it out for exceptionally high wages. "What do you see that is objectiona-ble in submitting a difference like this to arbitration. "There are some matters that are proper subjects for arbitration, but I cannot arbitrate on a question where know the facts to be thus and so. The question as to whether our shops should continue to run at a loss is a thing that could not be arbitrated."

"Why was it impossible?" "Because it violates the principle that a man has a right to manage his own business." Mr. Pullman was then excused and Vice President Wickes was called. He rehearsed the history of the strike and the part he played in it.

He said the discharge of the members of the grievance committee after he had promised that they should not be molested for the part in the committee's work was entirely without his knowledge and was not intentional on the part of the minor officials who had laid them off.

NEW RULES NOT LIKELY.

The Senate Will Work Next Session Just as It Has Done Heretofore.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 .- The senate committee on rules will sit during the recess of congress and attempt to revise the rules, though efforts made during the closing days of the present session to secure senate authority failed because of the steady objection of Mr. Blanchard, who said that he did not want the rules revised so that debate might be cut off and a vote forced upon the bill repealing the sugar duty. The Louisiana senators will fight a change in rules, as will the senators opposed to the removal of the sugar duties. Added to these are the senators who do not believe that under any circumstances should there be a change in the rules which would curtail the liberty of debate. Consequently an effort to change the when the session begins in Dacember probably will not meet with any success.

SHOT DEAD ON THE STAGE.

FATAL ENDING OF AN AM-ATEUR PERFORMANCE.

DIDN'T KNOW PISTOL WAS LOADED.

During the Performance of "The Postal Clerk" at Lee's Summit, Mo., Fred C. Gibbs Kills J. P. Leatherman-The Deceased Was a Well Known Missonsi Pacific Telegraph Operator.

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., Sept. 4.—There is mourning in a little cottage on Grand avenue, this city, caused by the accidental discharge of a revolver during an amateur performance at Lee's Summit Saturday night. As a result of the shooting J. P. Leatherman is dead and Fred C. Gibbs is temporarily insane.

It was a merry company of amateur performers that left Independence Saturday night for Lee's Summit. a grief-stricken party that returned yesterday morning. An eye witness to the affair gave the following version and explanation, but the members of the party were in such a nervous condition that the exact truth of the sad affair is hardly obtainable.

When the play, "The Postal Clerk," had progressed to that point in the third and last act, where it was the duty of the detective to rush in and place the villian, the posmaster, under arrest, Gibbs, who was the detective, rushed from the dressing room and, according to an eye witness, discovered that he had not secured his revolver. He borrowed a revolver from Clarence Mott, a by-stander, which was a No. 44. According to some of the players he was cautioned to be careful that it was loaded. In all events Gibbs drew the weapon down on Leatherman, who was playing the role of postmaster, and everyone was horrified to hear the weapon explode. Leatherman sank to the floor, ex-claiming "My God, I am shot!"

Gibbs, realizing what had hap-pened, rushed headlong from the stage and ran stark mad through the audience, exclaiming, "My God, I have shot Jack!" For a time the audience did not realize what had happened, but, learning of the tragedy, rushed onto the stage.

Another of the performers states that Gibbs and others laid their pistols on a bench in the dressing room and he picked up the wrong pistol. Gibbs himself can give no explanation of the affair owing to the condition of his mind. Surgeons were summoned, but the leaden messenger of death had done its work well. The ball entered the forehead and came out of the temple.

The deceased has been an operator for years on the Missouri Pacific railway and had charge of the Paola crossing office, west of Independence. His mother received a token of esteem in the shape of $75 from operators along the line last night to assist her. He was also a member of division 125, Order Railway Telegraphers of of his mother. The remains will be shipped to Indianapolis, Ind.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Sept. 4.—The following is a synopsis of the report of the secretary of the state board of agriculture for last month concerning the crop conditions in Missouri: Corn since August reports has declined from 88 to 60 per cent of an average crop, this result being obtained by a reduction of 21 points in Northeast section, 37 in Northwest, 42 in Central, 25 in Southeast and 16 in Southwest. Live stock-Horses show an average condition as to health and flesh of 91 per cent, cattle 90 and sheep 94. Cattle, estimated number that will be corn fed compared with last year, 62 per cent. Hogs estimated at 79 per cent of the crop of 1893.

SOUTHERN DEVELOPMENT.

Work of the Convention-Report of the Plan of the Committee.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 .- The report of the committe on plan and scope was read before the Southern Development convention to-day by W. Seymour White of Virginia. It provides. for a permanent bureau here for the exhibition of the recources of the Southern states and for the general information of capital and labor, theexpenses to be paid by pro rata contributions from the states, and for a subbureau in each state through which exhibits should be forwarded to Washington, to be in charge of the commissioner of agriculture, labor or immigration, who should verify all information filed with the bureau. A small commission would be allowed on sales made through the bureau. A committee of one member from each state and the District of Columbia is provided for to be appointed by the chair, and a meeting is to be held in Washington to which the governor of each state is to appoint delegates, and to which the governors are to be invited, to perfect details of the organization. The bill introduced in the senate by Mr. Walsh for a permanent exhibition at Washington of the re-sources of all the states was indorsed. Mr. Charles Catlett of Virginia declared that the Southern states had taken little advantage of the great opportunity offorded by the World's B. F. Clayton of Florida held that the plan to confer authority upon the governors of the states would give a political character to the organization. Robert W. Hunter of Virginia sustained the report. He said the South did not expect to build herself up in a day and did not care for what was called the tide of immigration of Poles, Anarchists and the like.

Mr. Beasley of North Carolina, in supporting the report, said that what-ever was done must be on an honest and sound basis and there must be an institution upon which capitalists and prospective immigrants could rely.
Colonel Yancey of Florida prophesied that most of the Southern states would make an appropriation for the support of an exposition.

C Irvine of Mobile opposed the machinery proposed by the committee because dependent on the action of the governors and legislatures. proposed as an amendment that a fee of $10 should be paid by all organizations of the south to be paid when $5,000 had been subscribed. The amendment was lost.

Ex-Governor Fletcher is Missouri's representative on the committee of scope and plan of business of the Southern development convention now in session here, Congressman Burnes of St. Joseph is vice president for Missouri, Louis C. Irvine, formerly of Kansas City and laterly of Mobile, Ala., is taking a prominent part in the convention and Mr. Mansur yesterday gave the delegates an interesting review of the natural resources of the state.

CARTHAGE, Mo., . Sept 1.-William G. Kelly, a farmer 70 years of age, living east of here, advertised for a wife and received a reply from Mrs. Mary A. Lee, 50 years of age living at Richville, Ark. After due correspondence she came here to meet her prospective husband, whom she had never children playing with matches in a seen, According to agreement she wore on her left arm five bands of different colored ribbon. The old man was a little tardy in starting and did not reach Carthage till after the train had come in. He also neglected to have a button hole bouquet on the left lapel of his coat, as agreed, and it was well toward evening before the pair met. They departed at once for Dumple, where they were married by the Rev. James D. Whitehead. Kelly is a well to do farmer and his sudden matrimonial venture was a great surprise to his neighbors and acquaintances. The bride-elect was attired in white and wore a sun bonnet trimmed in roses when she reached Carthage.

Arrangements Made for Notable Speakers at the Camp Fires.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Sept. 1.-The general committee on entertainment for the coming national encampment of the G. A. R. have thus far secured twenty-five noted camp fire speakers. In addition there are about a dozen on the uncertain list, including General Sickles, Henry Watterson and Secretary Stewart. A letter from ex-President Harrison, just received, states that he cannot come to the encampment. This is the cause of much regret among the veterans.
