The large barn of Church Howe & Son at Walnut Grove stock farm was totally consumed by fire last week with all its contents except the horses, which were saved. Between sixty and seventy tons of hay, 500 bushels of corn, some twenty carriages, buggies, sledges and carts, twenty sets of harness, saddles and blankets, together with wagons and farm implements which were stored in the barn, were consumed. The fire extended to the large granary adjoining, which contained about 2,000 bushels of wheat which was destroyed. Origin of the fire is not known. The loss is about $14,000, with $8,000 insurance.

WILLIAM WYOGENT, a Valley county farmer, has fed a good deal of wheat to his horses and hogs, at one time and another, and has learned that it should be fed sparingly. It is a strong feed, and if given to the stock in generous quantities they will not chew it properly and loss of grain and injury to the stock are the consequences. Back in Michigan he had learned that hogs turned onto wheat stubble did well and when he came to Nebraska and found corn high priced and wheat plentiful, he began feeding it and shoveled the grain out bountifully, just as he would corn. But his hogs did not do well. By and by the supply of wheat got low and he began to be more sparing, and his hogs picked up amazingly.

A Beatrice correspondent of the Lincoln Journal relates how a Gage county farmer demonstrated the benefits to be derived from irrigation. J. M. C. Jones is one who proposed last spring to resist a drought and is now reaping a harvest. His place is irrigated by pumping water from the river to a hill from where it is allowed to run back over the land. Some of the results are so large that many doubt them when told. He raised tomatoes for the canning factory which have averaged twelve to sixteen ounces in weight, and on one vine were counted 310 tomatoes in various stages of development. He estimates his crop will yield an average of two tons per acre.

JAPAN'S NAVAL FIGHTERS.

THE HEROES OF YALU ARE ANNAPOLIS GRADUATES.

ADMIRAL ITO SECOND GRADUATE.

Washington Naval Experts Declare That the Japanese Cadets Outclass Two-Thirds of the Cadets of This Country - Superior to All Others in Swordsmanship and Athletic Work.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25. - Admiral Ito, who commanded the Japanese fleet in the battle in the Yalu river last Monday when a far stronger Chinese fleet was disastrously defeated and nearly all of the other commanders of the Japanese warships engaged, were educated at the United States naval academy at Annapolis. The admiral was the second Japanese cadet to graduate from the school. Naval officers declare that the Japanese cadets outclass two-thirds of the Western cadets of this country and were superior to all others in swordsmanship and athletic work. The Japanese at Annapolis number eleven. All of them took high rank for scholarship and seamanship and displayed rare skill in acquiring knowledge of naval tactics.

Few of the ordnance officers of the navy accept the recent engagement between the Japanese and Chinese fleets in the Yalu river as a demonstration of the superiority of fleet armored cruisers over heavily protected but moderate speed battleships. One of these officers declared yesterday that he believed that later reports would show that the Chinese warships were not badly damaged. He made an elaborate argument in defense of the armored ships.

CHINA VERY MEEK.

Reparation to Be Immediately Made for the Assassination of Missionaries.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 25. -The steamer Rio Janeiro, which arrived today from Hong Kong and Yokohama, brought advices to September 9. These report that the murder of two missionaries by Chinese soldiers has been followed by the assassination of a French customs officer on the frontier of Tonquin. These acts of violence are embarrassing the Pekin authorities, and it is announced reparation will be offered in the case of the Rev. Mr. Wylie, by beheading his assassins, rebuilding the wrecked chapel, paying a sum of money to the family of the victim, and the English newspapers Shanghai report, by expressing regret in an imperial edict—a form of atonement which assuredly would never have been vouchsafed in less troubled times. As regards the outrages on Frenchmen, ships of war of that nation will demand reparation.

The work at strengthening the defenses along the Chinese coast is continued, mainly by posting floating batteries at points of supposed danger. The trophies captured at Kong-Hwan and Asan will soon be exhibited in Tokio. The collection is large and varied, consisting of over fifty battle-flags, arms of all descriptions, an immense quantity of clothing, personal adornments and musical instruments.

RAILROAD LAND PATENTS.

Claims for Many Thousand Acres Still Pending—Prompt Action Favored.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25. -There is still pending in the interior department claims for over 30,000 acres of land granted to railroads and wagon roads many years ago. There are various reasons why these have not been patented in the various companies, the chief of which is that they have not all been surveyed.

In the past four years about 10,000,000 acres have been passed by patent to the companies claiming them. At present there are in the course of examination in the general land office a great many lists of land, which will no doubt be patented in a short time. Commissioner Lamoreaux believes that all grants where there can be no question as to the right of the company to the land should be passed to patent as soon as possible and it is understood that Secretary Smith is also of the opinion that it would be well to have these unquestioned selections of grants patented and disposed of. The records show that during the fiscal year ending June 30 not much more than 500,000 acres were patented in railroad grants. With the mineral land difficulty settled and the proposition for the survey of the railroad lands as fast as the companies desire, there is a possibility of large increases in the amounts passed to patent in the next few years.

OFFICERS AS INDIAN AGENTS.

Many of the Details Anxious to Retire - Civilians Ready for the Jobs.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25. -There are now pending in the interior department quite a number of cases where army officers who have been serving as Indian agents have applied to be relieved from their present positions. It is probable that upon the return of Secretary Smith quite a number of cases will be prepared and sent to the president, naming civilians as their successors. There are, however, many applications on file by army officers, and it is probable that some of these may be selected.

The Indian authorities are satisfied that the Indian service taken as a whole is neither improved or injured by the appointment of army officers as Indian agents. In some instances the work has been performed better by army officers and in others not so well, it depending upon the character of the man and not upon his military or civil life.

"The Indians are no longer warlike," said an officer of the interior department, "and we can control them by civil as well as by military agents. To some officers the duty of Indian agent is extremely distasteful, while others are anxious to serve in that capacity. It is often found that the former class are efficient, while the latter are the kind of men we don't want. Good business men who are clear headed and have discrimination will make good Indian agents. Plenty of such men can be found outside of the army."

An army officer discussing the subject of officers as Indian agents, says there are many officers who are very much opposed to details as Indian agents because they do not have the opportunity to keep themselves in complete military training and ready for examinations or promotions when ordered. There are others, he says, who have become disappointed in the service and are eager to accept positions which separate them from the active army life.

CHICAGO CONSTABLES HOT

An Organization Formed to Boycott Justices Employing Outsiders.

CHICAGO, Sept. 25. -Eighty Cook county constables held a meeting last night and perfected an organization for the protection of their craft from so called invaders. The meeting was mainly brought about by the cutting into what the regular constables consider their vested rights by outside constables who have figured largely in the writ of replevin business in connection with the gambling house raids. The session was a lively one. Officers were elected, but not without considerable electioneering. The following was passed:

Resolved, That it is the sense of this meeting that we take away, if possible, the power of a justice of the peace who unlawfully authorizes persons outside of regular constables to serve writs.

The constables will decide at their next meeting, it is said, not to serve any writs for any justice who hires outsiders. They will boycott him.

A MOTHER'S STORY.

HAPPINESS COMES AFTER YEARS OF SUFFERING.

The Terrible Experience of a Well Known Official's Wife - A Story That Appeals to Every Mother in the Land.

From the Chattanooga, Tenn., Press.

No county official in East Tennessee is better known and more highly esteemed than Mr. J. C. Wilson, Circuit Court Clerk of Rhea County, at Dayton, the home of Mr. Wilson. He enjoys the confidence and respect of all classes, and in the business community his word is as good as his bond. Just now Mr. Wilson is receiving heartiest congratulations from his numerous friends because of the restoration to robust health of his estimable wife, who has for years been a helpless invalid. Mrs. Wilson's high standing in society, and her many lovable traits of character have won her a host of friends, and her wonderful recovery has attracted widespread attention.

As the Press was the medium of bringing to the invalid lady's attention the remedy that has effected her remarkable cure, a reporter was sent to Dayton to interview Mrs. Wilson, in order that the general public might have the benefit of the sufferer's experience and be made aware of the treatment that wrought such a marvelous change in her condition. The reporter was welcomed at the Wilson home, and the enthusiastic lady with becoming reluctance gave the history of her affliction and the manner in which she was relieved.

"Yes," said Mrs. Wilson, "I was for 8 years an invalid with one of the most distressing afflictions woman can suffer. For 8 years I moped around, dragging myself with difficulty and pain out of bed. My little ones went untrained and were greatly neglected, while I looked listlessly and helplessly at the cheerless prospect before me and then I suffered the most intense pains in the small of my back, and these seemed even greater in the region of the stomach, extending down to the groins. I suffered agony sleeping or awake. Despair is no word for the feeling caused by that dreadful sensation of weakness and helplessness I constantly experienced.

"I was treated for my trouble by several local physicians, but they were able to give me only temporary relief by the use of sedatives and narcotics. I had almost given up all hope of ever securing permanent relief when I saw an account in the Press of a cure which Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had effected. I decided to try them, as I knew the lady who had been cured and had great confidence in her statement. I began to take the pills in October, 1893, and in two months I was doing light household work and attending to the children without any bad effects or weakness, such as I had formerly experienced. Hitherto, I had been unable to retain any food, but now my appetite grew stronger, and with it came back that old healthy and hearty tone of the stomach. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cured me and I assure you the cure has brought a great change in our home. I can now rejoice in my husband's success, for I feel that I have something to live for. Who has a better right to feel this than a mother? One thing more. I have recommended these pills to others, and many of the women of Dayton have taken them with good results, and it is my greatest pleasure to recommend to every suffering woman a remedy that has done so much for me."

An analysis proves that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People contain in a condensed form all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effects of the grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexion, that tired feeling resulting from nervous prostration; all diseases resulting from vitiated humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppression, irregularities, and all forms of weakness. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork, or excesses of whatever nature.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are now manufactured by Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., and are sold in boxes (never in loose form) by the dozen or hundred, and the public are cautioned against numerous imitations sold in this shape at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists, or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company.

A Costly Bit of Rope.

A man who was arrested and jailed in New Orleans told a pitiful tale of injustice to a visitor who talked to him through the cell door. "Why, this is an awful mean country," said the prisoner. "Do you know I am in here for two years for picking up a piece of rope on the sidewalk?" The visitor began to take an interest in the case and to express sympathy. "I won't deceive you any further," interrupted the prisoner. "The truth is there was a fine pair of horses on the other end of that rope." -New York World.

THE POPE AND HIS POLICY.

Bishop Keane Discusses Various Matters Observed by Him in Rome.

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 24. -Bishop J. J. Keane, rector of the Catholic university, Washington, who arrived here last evening as the guest of Cardinal Gibbons, went to Rome July 30 for the purpose of personally seeing the pope and telling him of the Catholic university and the condition of affairs in that institution. He had two audiences with the pope, who expressed himself as delighted with the state of affairs at the university.

In speaking of the relations of the quinal to the vatican, Bishop Keane said that the policy of the pope, in view of the recent overtures in Italy, was the union of the church with the great democratic powers of the future—that is America and France. This was his hope, and toward it all his remarkable energies were bent. He, as a clear sighted statesman, was opposed to militarism and despotism and was consequently in sympathy with France rather than with the triple alliance, of which Italy formed a part. The pope thought that a universal suffrage, controlled by moral and religious influences, should decide the great social questions of the future. The social question the pope recognized as the great one of the future.

Bishop Keane considers the pope the greatest living man to-day. He is 84 years of age, always rises not later than 6 o'clock, does not go to bed before 10 or 11 o'clock in the morning and is consequently a most personable man. "He eats almost nothing," said the bishop, "and is the most ethereal human being I have ever seen. His mental and spiritual nature are so developed and his will power and nerve force are so great that these sustain him, and he is as well as he was the last time I saw him."

Bishop Keane said the pope was interested in American politics, and that he was well informed on these subjects. He was profoundly grateful for the reception of Mgr. Satolli in this country, and of course much interested in his career.

Bishop Keane, in speaking of Italy, says that it was bankrupt and was now sustained by Germany, and that the general impression in Europe was that the Italian monarchy could not last. In the reconstruction of Italian affairs the independence of the pope would be recognized.

GROSSLY MISMANAGED.

The Cook Greenland Excursion De-nounced by One of the Party.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 24. -Ex-Mayor Gardiner, who was a member of the Cook Greenland excursion party, returned yesterday. He says the affair was misrepresented and mismanaged in every particular by Dr. Cook. The Miranda had only arrived in New York harbor with a load of coffee from South America three days before she sailed for Greenland, and was entirely unfit to make the trip. The captain protested vigorously against taking the vessel north, but all to no purpose. Continuing Mr. Gardiner charged Dr. Cook with sending out alluring circulars when getting up the party which proved to be most deceiving, and that the excursion was run for pecuniary benefit to the promoter. The ex-Mayor alleges that while the excursion started out with the intention of remaining north two months, enough provisions were only taken to last two-thirds of that time and the party was soon perishing on short rations, or two meals per day.
