

LET the dead (democracy) and the beautiful (Bryan) rest.

Is Rosewater a good republican, is he just Rosewater? Don't all speak at once.

ACCORDING to the Alliance Grip there are about 100,000 anarchists and socialists in Nebraska. Perhaps. There is certainly one fool, simon pure, at least.

It's hardly allowable to assume that the democracy are special objects of that noble passion, because the Good Book says that "whom the Lord loveth He chasteneth." It doesn't harmonize with the facts, you know.

WITH the prospect of an intense contest over the selection of a U.S. senator in the next legislature, the probabilities are that little or no desirable legislation will be secured in the coming session. This is one of the good reasons why the people should choose their senators by a direct vote.

THE wood is full of senatorial aspirants. Thurston, Cronse, Manderson, Lambertson, Whedon, and others being already in the list of active seekers after the distinguished honor. The old north and south Platte fight seems to be on an exciting, if not a bitter contest may be expected to be waged on both sides.

McKEIGHAN comes out from in under the snowdrift quite cheerful considering: He was noticed by a democratic friend, Monday evening, on a freight train bound for Hastings. He was asked by his surprised friend if he was going to the Andrews ratification. To be sure, replied McKeighan, a funeral without the corpse wouldn't be complete, at all. And Mac, sighed softly—so softly.

AFTER taking the facts developed in the hearing of the maximum freight rate law injunction under consideration for nearly six long months Justice Brewer, who presided over the judicial proceedings in conjunction with Judge Dundy, has at least reached a decision. That decision gives us the apparently paradoxical ruling that the legislature was perfectly within its constitutional authority in enacting the maximum freight rate law and exercised that authority in strict conformity to the constitution, but that in fixing the particular schedule of rates it was mistaken in judgment as to what constitute reasonable rates for the transportation of freight rates in Nebraska.—Bee.

A MAN cares infinitely more for a little thing which is present than for a great thing afar off, and, as he thinks, contingent. A man will be set wild by sand in his shoes and give no thought to the question of a final place of punishment for the wicked. A man will be deeply outraged by a bug in his cup and give no heed to a thunderstorm lowering black in the distant sky. But when the thunderstorm breaks and capsizes his tent as this one has, beats him black and blue with hail, and leaves him damp and shivering, he realizes the difference between a storm and a bug. Therefore, I believe the working-man this year and hereafter will say to his employer: "You and I will adjourn our fight; we will go together to get something to divide and after that we will fight on the divide, for we can no longer fight when there is nothing to fight for."—Thomas B. Reed of Maine.

THE SPEAKERSHIP.

Naturally some interest has already centered in the speakership of the lower house of the coming legislature, and the claims and qualifications of several candidates are being canvassed and discussed.

In this connection there are reasons why the speaker of the next house can properly be selected from the representatives in this section of Nebraska. Southwestern Nebraska has for the past four years been a populistic stronghold and has had but slight recognition in the past two sessions. Now that this portion of the state has swung into line in such grand shape it is very desirable and will be good policy to give it proper and full recognition in the coming session.

The speakership requires a fair knowledge of parliamentary rules and practices, good judgment, and prompt, firm action. A man of affairs. And THE TRIBUNE feels like strongly urging the candidacy of Hon. John J. Lamborn, representative-elect from Red Willow county.

As to peanut politics, well they are decidedly below par.

The log-rolling for the United States senatorship is under way.

Who killed Tom Majors? I said Rosewater. With my little Bee. I killed Tom Majors.

Of course, the democrats and populists can at least be thankful that it was no worse.

It is Major General Alexander McDowell McCook now; he succeeds Howard, retired.

The probabilities are that the republicans will not be able to organize the next senate.

Who says that W. E. Andrews was a weak candidate? Compare his vote with others before you answer.

GREAT grief, won't Silas have a high old time of it dishing up the offices for the hungry populistic patriots?

The country at large overwhelmingly agrees with President Cleveland's conclusion as to the "perfidy and dishonor" of the late congress.

McBRIDE'S majority for representative of Frontier and Gosper counties is 360. He will be one of the ablest men in the next legislature.

The state's credit is all right. It never was in danger, the calamity howling portion of the republican press to the contrary notwithstanding.

The report of the strike commission just issued is one of the sensations of the hour. Its recommendations are in the main excellent and favorable to labor.

The first official act of the new czar of Russia was a good one. It was an order suspending an order issued by Alexander for the expulsion of 125 Jewish families from one of the provinces. This is an indication that the religious bigotry of Alexander has not been transmitted to Nicholas and that the latter may be a real product of the Nineteenth century.

AMONG other things the result in Nebraska on the governorship shows that the people—or quite a respectable portion of them at least—feel that the legitimate province of railway managers is the managing of railways, not the exploiting of their towering intellects in politics. In fact the people of Nebraska are quite willing to give the railways fair and generous treatment, but the late election returns indicate that they prefer to reserve the right to manage their own politics a little. And THE TRIBUNE is not surprised at their exhibition of this reasonable and very proper preference.

PROSPECT PARK.

R. M. Wade is able to be about again.

Harry Wade marketed a load of hogs in the city, Wednesday.

Mary Marsh spent Saturday and Sunday with her parents near the metropolis.

Dr. Criser has been quite seriously ill, but at last accounts was improving.

Mesdames J. H. Wade and J. B. Records visited with Mrs. James Boatman, last Friday.

Gene Dunham has been plastering his house and otherwise preparing for winter's chilly blasts.

Mr. Barr and Charlie Boatman left on the 7th with a bunch of horses to pasture on the ranch near Haigler.

Clifford Dunham and Charlie Burton returned home from Grant county, Tuesday. They have been up there baling hay for the past two months.

S. W. Cunningham departed on No. 4, Wednesday evening, for his home in Afton, Iowa, after an eight months sojourn in the wild and woolly west.

There will be Sunday school and preaching in the school house on next Sunday at the usual hours; Sunday school at ten o'clock and preaching immediately following.

DANBURY.

O. L. Everist lost a valuable jack, Sunday.

Real estate has been on the move, this week.

Republicans are feeling good over the election.

Leisure Bros. are building an addition to their store.

William Stewart and sons started for Oklaboma, last week.

The Danbury News announces an enlargement for this issue.

Gaines and Williams will leave for Yates City, Kansas, next week.

The dance in the hall, Saturday night, was well attended. A good time is reported.

Metcalf & Fish, Ashton Bros., and J. E. Dolph shipped six cars of hogs to Kansas City, this week.

The fence about our cemetery grounds has been repaired, this week, thanks to S. W. Stilgebouer and others.

Mrs. James Wingate of Beaver precinct died on the 6th, and was buried in the Danbury cemetery on the day following.

John Ambler and Howard Wade went on the stock train to Kansas City and from there they will go to Indiana on a month's visit.

It is hardly allowable for the News to say that R. L. Duckworth and wife have a "bran" new boy—even though the father is a miller.

A reception was given for Rev. Webster at the Methodist church, last Monday evening. There was a good attendance and a pleasant time.

Tell your friends and neighbors about our play, "Louva, the Pauper," next Saturday night, Nov. 17. Reserved seats 35c. General admission 15c. and 25c. Everybody invited.

THIS good old democratic administration has found it necessary to issue another call for $50,000,000 worth of five per cent. bonds, they to run ten years, interest payable in gold. And the worst of it all is that there are two years and more between now and 1896, plenty of time in which to issue another batch or two of bonds before the republicans can get control of the government.

A PRETTY thorough house-cleaning may be expected to occur in Lincoln about January first.

BOX ELDER.

R. E. Moore is decorating his house with a fresh coat of paint.

Will Sexson has leased the R.C. Windell farm and will live in our midst another year.

It has been James Kinghorn's misfortune to have to lift his pump the second time this week.

Everything is quiet at Box Elder since the election, because the republicans were strictly in it.

With good republican laws and good crops we will lift all the indebtedness from our farms, next year.

We wonder why the man that received the jug of pop whiskey a few days before election did not pass it around on election day. Did he take the hint that it was better to leave it at home? The people of Box Elder should be proud of the stand that was taken by the church people of this place in the way they knocked out whiskey electioneering. Speed on the good work.

LEBANON.

James Hupp of McCook was in town this week.

County Supt. Bayston is looking over school interests in these parts, this week.

The foot race, last Saturday, was a sender for Porter, Vandenburg was not in it.

Mrs. Bruce Cumming started for Illinois, Monday, on a visit to relatives and friends.

Last Friday evening an oyster supper was held at the residence of Al Johnson, 4 1/2 miles east of town, which was a very enjoyable affair, and realized about $10 for the benefit of the Methodist preacher, Rev. Webster.

TYRONE.

Hurrah for Andrews.

Our new pastor is Rev. Streeter.

The church was replastered and cleaned, last Saturday.

The populists elected everything in this precinct from "Hokum" to clerk of election.

J. C. Moore and brother Frank attended the teachers' association meeting at Bartley, Saturday.

The fifteen true blue republicans of Tyrone stayed by their ticket refusing to a man any proposition to cast any candidate.

The Tariff, Financial, Hawaiian and other questions of the day do not interest the people hereabout as much as the question where can I get the most and best groceries for the money. C. M. Noble can answer the question to the satisfaction of all.

The McCook Commission Co. is making very low prices on flour, feed and hay; and these prices will be good for the next thirty days. Go to them when you need anything in their line.

The McCook Commission Co. has 50 tons of alfalfa—splendid fattening feed—for only 45 cents a bale. Also 150 tons of fine hay at 50 cents a bale.

If you need a road cart or any kind of a wagon, see Cochran & Co. They can fill the bill and at prices to correspond with the hard times.
