

SCOTT'S BODY FOUND.

NIobrara's Deep Waters Give Up Their Dead.

Corpse of the Murdered Ex-Treasurer of Holt County Found Under the Ice Near Where He Was Killed—A Rope Still Fastened About His Neck Shows Conspicuously How He Was Made Way With by the Avengers—A Dastardly Crime in Nebraska's History.

Barrett Scott's Body Recovered. O'NEILL, Neb., Jan. 20.—(Special to the Omaha Bee.)—Niobrara river has given up its dead and the body of Barrett Scott has been rescued from its icy waters, a silent but effective witness to an awful crime.

The body was found in the Niobrara river about 130 feet from Whiting's bridge, just before 10 o'clock last night. The discovery of the quilt during the day had incited the searchers to increased efforts and they were not stopped by darkness.

It was about ten feet from the north bank of the river, and in seven feet of water. Sanford Parker assisted him to bring the body to the bank, when a messenger was dispatched for the coroner of Boyd county, who had jurisdiction at that point.

He arrived at daybreak and even in that sparsely settled country a score of citizens had soon gathered. A jury was summoned, and all the evidence that could be gathered was heard.

State of Nebraska, County of Boyd: At an inquisition held at Whiting's bridge on the Niobrara river in Boyd county on the 20th day of January, 1895, before me, J. B. Hoover, coroner of said county, upon the body of Barrett Scott, lying dead, by the jurors whose names are hereunto subscribed, the six jurors upon their oath do say that from the evidence produced before them they find that on the 31st day of December, 1894, by shooting and hanging with a rope by the neck until he was dead, in the county of Holt and state of Nebraska, that George D. Mullan, Moses Elliott and Mert Roy, and other citizens of Holt county to the jurors unknown, were guilty of the killing.

The remains were then carried to O'Neill, where they arrived at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The body was taken to the undertaking rooms of O. F. Biglin, where it was seen by hundreds of people. The corpse still lies on a stretcher, just as it was taken from the river.

about three miles from Parker, and the searchers now claim that they have absolute proof that these four men are among the guilty parties.

HAWAII'S UPRISING.

Minister Willis' Report to the State Department. WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—This morning Minister Thurston received a telegram from President S. V. Dole, sent by way of San Francisco, and reading as follows: "Rebellion broken. Leaders and remaining followers fugitives in the mountains."

Another telegram received by the minister was from Hawaiian Consul General Wilder at San Francisco, and announced that the steamer Australia, whose regular sailing day was today, would postpone her departure until Monday and that Mr. Hatch, the Hawaiian minister of foreign affairs, would return to Hawaii aboard her.

HONOLULU, Jan. 11, 1895.—To the Hon. W. Q. Gresham, secretary of state, Washington: At Waikikaei Beach, five miles from executive building, night of January 6, uprising of Hawaiians. Reported several hundred well supplied with arms and ammunition. Commanded by Captain Nowlein and R. W. Wilcox.

Soon after he reached the state department Mr. Gresham sent to the navy department for Secretary Hervey and the two cabinet officers engaged in a close consultation for half an hour as to the advisability of sending a United States cruiser to the islands.

After consulting for some time the two secretaries came to the conclusion that nothing should be done toward sending a ship to Hawaii except by the direction of the president and they went directly to the White house to learn the president's wishes in the matter.

Later Secretary Gresham requested Secretary Herbert to dispatch a vessel to Hawaii immediately. The vessel chosen is the Philadelphia and she will have on board Admiral Beardslee, the commander of the naval station.

STEAMER MISSOURI SUNK.

THIRTY-FIVE LIVES REPORTED LOST IN THE WRECK.

COMPANY CLAIMS ONLY TEN LOST.

She Struck a Rock in the Ohio River Near Alton, Ind., and Soon Went to the Bottom—Story of the Disaster as Told by Captain Whitehead—Nothing Was Saved and the Loss Is Total.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 23.—The Cincinnati and New Orleans Packet company's steamboat State of Missouri, which was built for Kansas City merchants for use on the Missouri river, but was sold before it made its first trip, was sunk in the Ohio river just below Alton, Ind., at 5:10 o'clock Saturday evening, and according to some reports, at least forty lives were lost, while according to others, among them the company's officers, only a few negro roustabouts perished.

This added to the terror and passengers and crew began to jump into the water. The upper deck broke away and floated away. Thirty-five of the persons on board swam to a clump of willows opposite Hardman's Landing and clung to the trees until Mr. Hardman came out in a boat and took them to his house on the bank. Four were rescued on a mule, which swam ashore.

In telling the story of the wreck Captain Whitehead said: "We were coming down the river and making good time. I was in the pilot house and was just starting down to supper. When I reached the cabin deck I noticed the boat heading too much toward shore, as I thought, and stopped to see what was the matter."

Then Arthur spoke, and when the nobles heard his simple, stirring words of true knightly valor, filled with sudden fervor, they approached and swore to be true to him and the vows that he had proposed.

Through the land spread the tidings of all these things, of the mighty king, who, some said, was sent by heaven and who, Merlin had foretold, would pass from them when his mission was complete, but would never die.

At 5 o'clock yesterday morning the rear end of the hull of the steamer was caught at Troy, and thirty-five drowned mules securely tied to the guards, were found. The piano of the boat was hauled in, together with several books of music.

ALL PASSENGERS PROBABLY SAFE. At the office of the packet company a dispatch was received from Captain Newton of the steamer State of Kansas, stating that all the passengers of the State of Missouri had been picked up at Alton and other places.

OUR BOYS AND GIRLS.

THE STRANGE STORY OF KING ARTHUR'S REIGN.

The Baby That Was Laid on Britain's Shores by the Waves, and When His Life Was Done Carried Out Again Into the Night by Old Ocean.

It has been so long since King Arthur lived that history is inclined to look doubtfully upon him and his exploits, but the beautiful legends surrounding his name have a life quite independent of their historical accuracy.

In the middle of the night they left the dead king and went out on the stormy sea-coast. There they saw wave after wave rear itself and dash with fury against the shore.

The child thus laid at the door of the king's castle by the arms of the sea, was Arthur. The wise Merlin gave him to a knight, Sir Anton, who raised him to manhood as his own son.

Arthur came as a deliverer, who made the land one under him, who drove the barbarians from the boundaries of the kingdom and freed Britain from Rome.

In Camelot, the wonderful city of spires, was Arthur crowned. Merlin had proclaimed him to the people as heir to Uther; some believed, but many mocked and came to the coronation only to jeer at the new-made king.

Then Arthur spoke, and when the nobles heard his simple, stirring words of true knightly valor, filled with sudden fervor, they approached and swore to be true to him and the vows that he had proposed.
