A brakeman on the west end had to flag four miles through the blizzard, Wednesday. And railroad men agree that they never had a tougher storm to go through on this division.

The Kenesaw-Kearney branch was pretty well cleared of snow and sand, yesterday, by hard work. Also the Aurora-Hastings branch. On both of which the storm was severe enough to make a blockade.

Parts of the high line and of the sunflower line are in bad shape with snow drifts, especially Assist. Supt. Harman's division, the western part of which has some long and heavy drifts. In fact both branches caught more snow than the main line.

Trains 151 and 152 up on the high line had a slight collision at Loomis, Wednesday, during the blizzard, in which, however, the damage was very small. The storm is described by railway men as being one of the very worst ever experienced in this section of Nebraska.

Tom Wilkinson arrived home on Tuesday evening from his visit to his wife down in Oklahoma. His wife will return in a few weeks. He states that Colonel Peterson, whose meteoric life in our city will be remembered, is now working on a Pond Creek paper.

No. 2, Thursday morning, was about five hours late, on account of the snow and sand which had drifted the western part of the division, during the blizzard, Wednesday. The snow had packed so solidly with sand in some places that the engine left the track. So great care and labor had to be used, hence the delay.

At three o'clock Thursday morning Conductor J. J. Curran walked into the station at Republican City and sent a message to headquarters here to the effect that the engine on which he started from Republican City to go out on the St. Francis line, to see the condition of the road, had bursted a flue at Woodruff. Jack had flagged all the way back from Woodruff to Republican City, about sixteen miles, with the thermometer between 20 and 30 degrees below zero, through quite a heavy snow. Which speaks volumes for Jack's fidelity to the company and his nerve.

A store house will be opened at Sheridan, Wyoming, on the first of February, with James Ritchie as storekeeper and George Rule of Holyoke as assistant. . . The anti-scalper law has been declared unconstitutional in Texas, the judge holding that when a railroad company sells a ticket it personally gets all it is worth, and that a scalper has the same right that dealers in other second-hand articles have.—Alliance Grip.

The lecture courses are open to everyone. Applicants for registration must matriculate as students in the university (that is pay the fee of $5 which will entitle them to take this and other special work in the institution for a period of four years) and make the usual deposit for breakage and other laboratory expenses. The latter will not exceed $6 for the entire course.—Lincoln Journal.

Opening a watch case with a knife or finger-nail is needless in our day. The Keystone Watch Case Company, of Philadelphia, Pa., furnishes free a handsome watch case opener which makes, besides, a pretty charm for the watch chain. If you can't get one from your jeweler, send to Philadelphia. This Company is the largest of its kind in the world, and makes all kinds of cases. Its specialty is the Boss filled case. Jas. Boss invented and made the first filled case in 1859, and many of the cases then made and worn since are still intact. Later the Boss patents passed into the hands of the Keystone Company, which has the sole right to make these cases. It has also the sole right to use on its cases the patent Non-pull-out bow or ring, which prevents loss of the watch by theft or injury to it by accident. The Keystone Company does not retail, but all jewelers sell the Boss and other Keystone cases.

The Burlington broke all its previous records, Monday afternoon. This road has an enviable reputation for speed, and now that there is so much rivalry between it and the Northwestern, the Burlington officials decided to give a new record to the western railway world, and to the world at large. The distance from the depot in Creston to the transfer in Council Bluffs is 104 miles, and this distance was covered yesterday by the fast mail in 105 minutes. This is the fastest long distance run made by a regular train in the west. The engine was one of the big Roger's make and the crew say that it was not overworking the machine to make the remarkable run.

Not a great deal of moisture falls in this state in the average February. The weather bureau, basing its statements upon the records for twenty four years, gives the average precipitation as seventy-seven hundredths of an inch. The greatest precipitation recorded is 3.09 inches in 1881, the least, .04 inches, in 1873. The greatest snowfall on record for the month is eight inches on February 9th, 1894. The normal temperature is 26 degrees above zero. The warmest February on record was 1877, with an average of 37 degrees, the coldest in 1875, with an average of 13 degrees above zero.—Lincoln Journal.

There's Always a Reason.

It is an easy thing to account for the wonderful growth of the DAILY STATE JOURNAL recently. Its price has been reduced to 50 cents per month without Sunday, or 65 cents with Sunday. THE JOURNAL has always been reliable and honest, printing the news without fear or favor. The people of Nebraska realize that they need a paper published at the capital, and when the price of THE JOURNAL was reduced the subscription list grew at a phenomenal rate. THE JOURNAL is a Nebraska paper through and through.
