DANBURY.

The alfalfa nine plays very well. Hendley plays Danbury at this place June 1st.

Decoration services here were a failure on account of the rain all day.

The nine has erected a grand stand and leveled off the ground, this week.

The Memorial services held here at the church were conducted by Rev. Webster.

A good old soaking rain here, Wednesday all night and Thursday; about three and one-half inches fell.

J. H. Cass is putting up a new windmill in his yard, this week, which will add much to its appearance.

Miss Addie Annis stood the highest in examination here at this school, and also receives a year's course in any studies at the Orleans college, which Dean McBrien has offered at this school.

T. E. McDonald, cashier of the Bank of Danbury, and William Sandon, of George B. Morgan & Co., rode their bicycles over to McCook, last Friday, to see our boys polish off the High School team of the metropolis to the tune of 19 to 11 scores. Alfalfa is the stuff and must prevail.

Dr. W. A. DeMay, manager of the Danbury base ball club, is "well nigh tickled to death" over the success of his team in the recent games with the Cedar Bluffs and High School clubs. He and Frank Everist were among those who went up to see the McCook game, last Friday afternoon, and they held their own against the multitude of metropolitan "roasters".

PROSPECT PARK.

Eugene and Clifford Dunham took in the ball game at Danbury, Saturday.

W. L. Critser and wife took dinner with L. A. Stephens and wife, Sunday.

Everybody has quit listing and is waiting for the weather clerk to send some rain.

Miss Mary Marsh spent the fore part of the week in this neighborhood, the guest of Mrs. J. H. Wade.

Rev. A. G. Forman of McCook preached at the Prospect Park school house, last Sunday; he also administered the sacrament and baptism.

INDIANOLA.

A decision in the county-seat case is expected on the first or the third Tuesday in June.

County Superintendent Bayston visited the public schools in the metropolis, Wednesday.

Miss Crabtree went up to McCook, Friday night, on a visit to friends in the metropolis.

Miss Cora Irvin came down from McCook, first of the week, on a visit to Indianola friends.

J. A. Cordeal, Esq., was down from McCook, Monday, on business before County Judge Beck.

C. D. Cramer had business in McCook, Friday last; E. R. Banks and C. H. Russell on Saturday evening.

O. B. Polk, a Lincoln lawyer, and J. L. Polk of the R. M. S., were in the county-seat, Monday, on legal business.

Misses Nellie Brown and Grace Waldo of the county's metropolis were brief visitors of friends here, Friday evening last.

A fine boy baby was born to E. C. Burkett and wife, first of last week. Mr. Burkett is still in Lincoln seeking employment.

The commencement exercises of the High school will be held on Friday afternoon, June 7th, at 2:30, in Beardslee's opera hall.

F. Tingelhoff has filed his application with the mayor and city council of this city praying for the privilege of selling Tanglefoot to the inhabitants hereof for the next year.

The address by Judge Benson, Decoration day, was a very eloquent effort, and highly appreciated by all. Services were well attended notwithstanding the rain.

A lively company of young people of the city attended the closing exercises of John Beck's school out in District 27, last Friday evening. The exhibition, like John's term of school, was a success.

James Hetherington and E. S. Hill of our city are members of the detail made by A. A. General James D. Gage to act on the court martial which will try Dr. J. E. Hathorn, commander of James Laird post at Bartley, June 20th. We understand that E. M. Wood of Danbury, H. H. Berry, J. A. Wilcox, J. H. Yarger and J. S. LeHew, judge advocate, compose the rest of the detail.

Union Memorial services were held in the Congregational church, Sunday morning, Rev. O. R. Beebe of Minden, Neb., preaching the memorial sermon. The music, which was appropriate in character and excellent in rendition, was provided by the joint choirs of the city. Flowers and "Old Glory" ornamented the interior of the church. It was an interesting, impressive service, and the church was crowded to enjoy it, to drink in the enthusiasm and patriotism of the event. Rev. Beebe occupied the Methodist pulpit in the evening.

TYRONE.

Si. Holcomb's cow "speck" had a fine calf, Monday night.

W. O. Dodds, our blacksmith, made a trip to Wilsonville, Saturday.

The school board has decided to continue the Tyrone school another month, with Frank Moore as teacher.

Mrs. Jennie Allen has gone to her new home in Michigan, and her sister, Mrs. Maud Richard has gone to Montana.

Florence Moore, Mary Vose, Kate Smith and Frank Moore attended the Epworth League convention at Holdrege and report a very enjoyable time.

NORTH DIVIDE NUBBINS.

"Red" Bartlett hyked out of this neighborhood, first of the week.

The wild currant and mulberry time is near at hand, but the cream and sugar are out of sight, as it were.

Now that the assessor has been around, a good many people are out looking up stray horses and the like.

Mike Steltzer expects to leave in a few days for Colorado. He has his good right eye on a job near Denver.

"Long afore we knowed" we we used to wonder what was meant by "the man with an ax to grind". Everything does come to him who waits.

Several of the best plans of the Divide match-making society have been knocked in the head, so to speak. Great changes, Gossie, great changes.

Several of the boys from this place intend leaving for the east in a short time. They have no locality in particular in view, but any place for a change.

Not a few gardens and small tracts of ground are being irrigated here and there on the Divide, and pumpkin pies will not be an impossibility, later on.

A number of young folks whiled away a few hours at the pleasant home of S. C. King, one evening last week, enjoying immensely the ice cream and other refreshments.

Frank Cashen will leave in a week or so for Thayer county, his former home. He will take a number of horses along with a view to using them during the coming harvest.

Fishing is about all the go now, and is carried on a good deal differently from what it used to be. The boys and old settlers hunt up their last summer's clothes and with them on wade and "waller" around in the creek and in a short time have fish enough to fill an ordinary wagon, and then some.

Of late several meetings of a more or less harmonious nature have been held at Box Elder to supplicate for rain. Much difference of opinion evidently exists and a good deal has been said and re-said as to the amount of faith one ought to have on such occasions. The idea of praying for rain may all be very well, and it may not. At any rate it is decidedly painful to have the statement so often repeated that the present dry weather is altogether owing to the wickedness of the people. Just what people (except the writer) or where they are, no one seems to know. Nebraska people, and especially those in Red Willow county, are "about as good as they make 'em".

In the face of all opposition our public improvements still go on with Hamilton Bros. at the helm. Our water tank is about finished and the windmill is ready to pump and fill the same.

Weather dry and hot; farmers lying on their oars watching their crops in the last agonies of dissolution. The all absorbing topic is, "where are we at, and what shall we do to be saved"?

Memorial services were held at the Methodist hall where a large audience enjoyed a sermon by Rev. C. E. Campbell of Cambridge, Nebraska, pronounced by both friends and critics to be one of the best they ever heard on a like occasion. Our people generally attended service and observed the day, with a few exceptions, who, like Grover, went fishing, among whom was our barber and the principal of our public schools. Preparations are also being made to observe Memorial day, when General James D. Gage will teach us patriotism after his own style.

OBSERVER.
