

The Foundation Stone of Success.

The one great rule of business is that of honesty, absolute and unqualified honesty. All the rules of business are worthless if they are not founded on that one and only foundation stone to true commercial success. Honesty is not alone the best policy in business; it is the one and only policy. Upon it, and upon it alone, can a good reputation be built, and a man in business without a reputation for honesty might just as well stop. Any deviation from the rule of honesty in business may bring temporary gain, but it invariably means permanent loss. On the other hand, a strict adherence to an honest policy may mean a temporary loss, but it is sure to result in permanent gain.

Almost Cheaper Than Walking are the low rates offered by the Burlington Route (C. & Q. R. R.) Tuesday, June 11th, when round trip tickets to points in Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado, Wyoming, South Dakota and Utah will be on sale at half the regular tariff.

Think of it—half the regular tariff. Travelers to whom economy is an object—and that means everybody—will take advantage of this money-saving opportunity. For a time-table of the Burlington Route as well as for full information about rates and trains, apply to the nearest ticket agent or write to

The June Atlantic contains installments of the two leading serials by Mrs. Ward and Gilbert Parker, also a short story of frontier garrison life, by Ellen Mackubin, entitled Rosita. Another bit of fiction of unusual character and interest is, Through the Windows; Two Glimpses of a Man's Life. Lafcadio Hearn contributes a delightful paper entitled In the Twilight of the Gods, which, with Mary Stockton Hunter's poem, A Japanese Sword-Song, gives this issue a distinct flavor of the Orient. Percival Lowell continues his readable papers upon Mars, discussing in this issue the Water Problem. Houghton, Mifflin & Co., Boston.

The Nickel Plate's New Trains.

The new train service of the Nickel Plate road, which went into effect Sunday, May 19th, has met the approval of the traveling public. On all sides are heard expressions of universal satisfaction regarding the efforts which this popular road is making in the interests of its patrons. These fast trains are now run in each direction daily. Superb dining car service; no change of cars for any class of passengers between Chicago, New York and Boston. City ticket office, 111 Adams street. Tel. Main 389. Depot, Twelfth and Clark streets. Tel. Harrison 200.

The Highest Type of Hunting.

In my estimation, the pursuit of the mountain sheep is the highest type of hunting our continent affords. To "collect" an old ram requires good legs, good lungs, good judgment and good shooting. In the doing of it you are bound to rise in the world, to expand mentally, morally and physically, and to come under the spell that nature always lays upon the hunter who once sets foot upon her crags and peaks. I regret the disappearance of the mountain sheep even more than the passing of the buffalo and elk, for it is an animal of finer mould and stronger and more interesting character every way. It is much more alert than the mountain goat, and therefore more difficult to shoot—so say the men who have hunted both.—W. T. Hornaday in St. Nicholas.

Are You Going East This Summer?

Don't forget that the great summer tourist route is the Michigan Central. "The Niagara Falls Route," a first-class line for first-class travel, the popular line to Niagara Falls, Mackinac Island, the Thousand Islands of the St. Lawrence, the White Mountains, the Adirondacks, Portland by the Sea, Boston, and New England points, New York and the seashore.

Send ten cents postage for "A Summer Note Book." It will tell you all about these places and how to reach them.

The Century Company has issued a new poster by Eugene Grasset for the June number of The Century Magazine. It illustrates Prof. Sloane's Life of Napoleon, and is no less striking in its way than Grasset's famous "Sun of Austerlitz," which has already become so well known in this country. The subject is Napoleon in Egypt, just preceding the Battle of the Pyramids. Napoleon is seated upon his white charger, which has rich barbaric trappings of red and gold. The arm of the conqueror is extended, pointing to the Pyramids, as if uttering his ringing address. "Soldiers, forty countries look down upon you from the summit of the Pyramids." Past him march the troops. The yellow glare of the desert, the dun-colored sky and the brilliant uniform of Napoleon make an unusual harmony of color.

A Month Among the Mountains.

Teachers, and their friends, too, for that matter, who want information about the best, absolutely the best, way to reach Denver at the time of the National Educational Association meeting next July should write to J. Francis, Omaha, Neb., for a copy of a little book recently issued by the Passenger Department of the Burlington Route (B. & M. R. R.). It is entitled "To Denver via the Burlington Route" and contains 32 pages of interesting information about the meeting, the city of Denver, the state of Colorado, special trains, tickets, rates, hotels, side trips, train service, etc.

The book is free. Send for it.

He who reads twice over the same ad is not far from being a purchaser.

An Accomplished Fact.

May 19th the Nickel Plate road inaugurated a new train service. The new summer schedule affords the same number of trains as before, including through service between Chicago, Cleveland, Buffalo, New York and Boston. The improvements also embrace the shortening of time of trains between all of the above cities. City Ticket office, 111 Adams street. Tel. Main 389. Depot, Twelfth and Clark streets. Tel. GRAND OLD PARTY.

WHY IT IS BEING CALLED TO POWER AGAIN.

Living Truths That Can Not Be Denied—Even the Children Are Tired of Clevelandism—Contrasted Conditions—Few Jobs, Many Applicants.

One evening recently, when out west, I stopped at the house of a friend who read from a Louisville paper that Governor McKinley was going there to speak, and then on to Nashville. He added: "Hurrah for McKinley!"

His wife asked: "Why do you think McKinley will be the next president of the United States?"

"Because he is the foremost man in the nation at this time," was the husband's reply.

"Is he a Democrat, papa?" asked his little 10-year-old Effie.

"No. Why do you ask that question, my daughter?"

"Because I don't want any more Democrats in mine."

"Why," said the father, "don't you get as much to eat and wear as you used to get?"

"No," she said, "we don't get as much to eat. We used to have plenty of beefsteak."

Her little 8-year-old brother chipped in with, "Yes, and we used to have oysters when we wanted them, and now we never see any."

"Yes," said Effie, "and we used to have cheese, and I have not seen any cheese for so long I wouldn't know any if I met it on the road. We used to have lots of things when papa was making plenty of money that we don't have now."

"Well, my children," the father replied, with moisture in his eyes, "I had nothing to do with stopping you from having all the food and things you wanted nor causing the hard times that have been upon us, but the good people of the United States will not stand this sort of thing longer than they can help." B. Thinker.

Contrasted Conditions.

I have not been able to get more than nine weeks' work this year, and have a family of seven to support. This is also the condition of thousands of other laborers. Heretofore there has been a large demand for labor in this state, men being brought here during the latter part of the summer from other states in order to supply the demand. Farm laborers used to receive from $1.50 to $2 per day; mechanics, $3 to $4.50 per day; miners, from $3 to $4 per day; sheep herders, from $40 to $45 per month, including board, which is also included in wages given for farm laborers. This was our condition before the Democrats came into power. Since then all industries have been paralyzed and wages are from 50 to 60 per cent less, and very little work is to be had even at this price. There were thousands of men who were doing well two years ago, but were not satisfied with the wages above mentioned. They wanted "tariff reform," voted the democratic ticket, and wore the democratic badge, the rooster, pinned upon their hats. Today they wear the democratic badge in the seat of their pants, and they are going around looking for a job. The present administration has been a disgrace to this nation and a laughing stock to the civilized world. It has driven honest men to theft and caused many innocent children to lie in their beds at night without even a crust of bread to satisfy their hunger. I can assure you this is no exaggeration.

James H. Evans.

Malad City, Idaho.

Few Jobs, Many Applicants.

An examination of the advertising columns of a recent Sunday issue of one of the New York dailies gave a fair idea of the condition of male and female labor in this city. There were twelve columns of advertisements that had been inserted by females who wanted work, but only three columns of advertisements inserted by people who wanted female help. There was an average of thirty-five advertisements to each column, making 420 female applicants for work with only 105 opportunities for them to secure it. In other words, there were four females to every vacant position.

In the case of males there was the same space, three columns, devoted to advertisers who wanted help, but it took eight columns to specify the wants of those who were out of work. There were 280 male applicants for 105 jobs. Combining the advertisements of the male and female applicants, there were 700 who sought work, but they found only 210 opportunities for them to secure positions, or three and one-half people waiting for every job. It must be remembered, too, that there are not so many idle people now as there were six months ago, also that there are hundreds of applicants for work who cannot afford to pay for the cost of advertising even in those free-trade organs that helped to bring about the people's ruin.

Lessons in Prices.

The total export of breadstuffs from the United States during the last ten months has been less by $53,700,000 than during the previous ten corresponding months. The decrease in exports of provisions during the same period is $5,700,000. Compared with the famous years of the McKinley tariff, 1891-2-3, the volume of our exports of farm produce shows a lamentable shrinkage, says Chicago Inter Ocean. All this is in straight refutation of the promise of the free traders, who assured us an increased exportation of farm stuffs in exchange for our increased importations of manufactures. Congressman Bynum, it may be remarked, promised the farmers "dollar wheat" as a result of "tariff reform." We are in the fool's paradise, to which a majority of the voters drove us, lured by the false promises of the free traders. By all laws of nature wheat should be dearer in 1895 than in 1892, when the crop reached the unprecedented magnitude of 611,780,000 bushels, but by reason of the operation of the unnatural law that has removed large measure of protection from home manufactures the price is lower for a small output of grain than for a large one. The purchasing power of the home market is curtailed, and, therefore, the price has fallen. The farmers of America, who were deluded in '90 and '92 by the free trader's cry, "Liverpool fixes the price of wheat," now have painful leisure in which to discern that Liverpool fixes the price in accord with the American demand. When our factories are running full time, and when wages are high, the price of wheat is high in Chicago, and consequently in Liverpool. When our factories are not busy, and when wages are low, the price of wheat is low in Chicago, and consequently in Liverpool. "The buyer fixes the price," is the rule of trade. No one can sell at a higher price than another is able to give. Chicago is the greatest wheat buyer. It buys for 65,000,000 American people. Liverpool is a lesser buyer; it buys for 35,000,000 of Englishmen. Therefore Liverpool does not fix the price. The price is determined in the greater market. Protection makes the greater market brisk; low tariff makes it dull.

Don Quixote Dickinson.

The only Don Dickinson has come to the front again. It seems that his recent tall-twisting speech at Detroit was delivered immediately after another of his confidential talks with President Cleveland. Is it possible that the phlegmatic patriotism of the chief executive of the United States has been aroused to a vigorous assertion of American rights as against British encroachments? Certain it is that the Don of Michigan shows much the same zeal for compelling the British lion to stop the roaring and lashing of his tail on the Venezuelan border that the Don of la Mancha did in redressing the wrongs that appealed to his chivalric sympathy. What coming event casts its shadow before in that fierce onslaught? Some surmise that it portends a change in the Secretaryship of State, but this seems hardly probable, for it will be remembered that not long ago, while the president was gunning for ducks in the Carolinas, Secretary Gresham gave that same tall a most vigorous twist, followed, almost as soon as our Nimrod returned, by a reversal of policy. Secretary Gresham has the spirit of that old campaign cry "54.40 or fight," which, by the way, culminated in 49 and no fight. But let us hope that the United States will, if necessary, insist that the question of boundary between Venezuela and British Guiana will be submitted to the umpirage of fair and impartial arbitration. If there is one thing in the record of the Democratic party of which it may be proud it is the stalwart Americanism of Andrew Jackson and later of William L. Marcy.—Inter Ocean.

The Great Conspiracy.

It is about as necessary for Assistant Secretary Curtis and Logan Carlisle to go to London to deliver United States bonds taken by the foreign syndicate as it is for a Chicago millionaire to go to Washington to pay his income tax. The bond syndicate had its agents so near to the President and Secretary of the Treasury that they were suspected of more influence than the cabinet. The same agents who held Uncle Sam up by the throat until he issued the bonds can certainly be intrusted to take care of these and lock them up in their English vaults. The contemplated trip of Messrs. Curtis and Carlisle is simply a junket at the expense of the government. But it is rather rough on the people to be compelled to stand and deliver and then pay for a picnic party for the formal surrender of the plunder.—Inter Ocean.

Carter Has Had Enough.

Eugene D. Carter, of North Carolina, is another prominent Southern Democrat who has grown tired of the old slave method of using the bogey man to keep white men in the Democratic party. "We have at last reached that point in the south," says he, "where honest, thinking men can no longer be dragged into silly inconsistencies in national politics by any fear of that worn-out bugbear of negro domination." Mr. Carter is not an exception in the South. He is representative of many thousands of intelligent white men who have become disgusted with the use of this once great bogey of the South to prevent them from breaking away from the Democratic machines that enable little rings of corrupt politicians to rule several Southern states.—Ex.

How to Be a Good Mugwump.

To bow before a foreign throne
And toady to a queen or king;
For every country but your own
To lift your voice and praises sing.

To take all insults to our land
With humble heart and manner meek
And when slapped by a foreign hand
To offer it your other cheek!

To humbly kiss the rod that licks you,
And pocket every vicious whack;
And if the British lion kicks you,
By no means think of kicking back!

Leaps of a Mountain Sheep.

No; the mountain sheep does not leap from great heights, and land either upon his horns or his feet. He knows the strength of his materials too well to try it. His horns and skull might successfully withstand the shock, but the weight of his body would break his spinal column in two or three places, to say the least of it. It is true that when hard pressed a herd of them will sometimes plunge down a terribly steep incline, sliding and bounding from point to point, until they plow into the "slide rock" below; but as to leaping over a sheer precipice, I never saw any one who even claimed to have witnessed such a thing. The old rams often fight by butting each other terrifically, and often splinter, or sometimes break off, the ends of their horns in that way.
