COLONEL MERWIN, this is Colonel Smith.

WHAT has become of the good roads crusade?

THE iron hand of oppression never wielded a more brutal club than the boycott.

THOSE Oriental Vegetarians need a vigorous and exclusive diet of cold lead, a la Krupp.

THE ghost of Know-Nothingism has taken to wandering up and down our land, to the alarm of the many timid.

THE department stores—those greedy and conscienceless pirates of modern merchandising—are casting their eyes upon the electrical supply trade, and are cutting into that branch of business with their customary impudence and abandon. The department store is another blighting evidence of the curse of modern centralization.

If the democrats go outside of Ohio and take up a western candidate, next year, Morton, the present secretary of agriculture, will be the focus of all eyes before the convention adjourns. He has shown remarkable executive ability and strength of character, and the very economical administration of his department, from which he turned back into the treasury many thousands of dollars, is very big feathers in his cap. Morton of Nebraska will need as much watching as Morton of New York when convention time comes.—Ashland (Ohio) Press.

Last Saturday, after F. H. Hodgkin of Bartley had threshed about 600 bushels of oats for J. W. Bush, near that place, a fire started suddenly in the straw near the separator. There was a strong wind blowing at the time and they were unable to extinguish the flames, which consumed the separator, the threshed straw and a stack of oats near by containing about 600 bushels of oats. It is thought that the fire originated from a spark from the engine. The loss is quite heavy upon both Hodgkin and Bush.

Last night's storm was promising for rain. But its fulfillment was but wind and dust; not enough rain falling here to settle the dust. And rain is badly needed.
