McCOOK, RED WILLOW COUNTY, NEBRASKA, FRIDAY EVENING, SEPTEMBER 6, 1895.

NUMBER 16.

The "Straights" Have a Convention

Pursuant to call appearing in the T.-D. of this city, at two o'clock last Saturday afternoon, a few faithful followers of Groverius, The First, assembled in the city hall in county convention.

J. W. Hupp read the printed call and James Harris was summoned to the chair, J. F. Forbes to the secretary's desk. The chair appointed J. W. Hupp, A. C. Clyde and E. C. Ballew as a committee on credentials, and he was really in earnest about it, perhaps. The committee reported the following persons entitled to seats in the convention, either in person or by proxy:

WILLOW GROVE PRECINCT—J. W. Hupp, E. C. Ballew, Otto Ballew, J. F. Forbes, J. F. Kenyon, J. E. Robinson, W. B. Mills, F. A. Thompson, J. S. LeHew, Samuel Strasser, A. C. Clyde, L. R. Clyde, J. S. McBrayer, Barney Lewis, D. M. Osborn, C. H. Meeker, Cal. LeHew, Howe Smith.

DRIFTWOOD PRECINCT—James Harris and John W. Jones.

GRANT PRECINCT—William Storks and D. H. McMurran.

GERVER PRECINCT—Samuel Ellis.

BOX ELDER PRECINCT—Geo. Younger, James Doyle and B. Nations.

LEBANON PRECINCT—D. F. Hupp and F. S. Soverns.

RED WILLOW PRECINCT—Jesse Welborn and Taylor Quigley.

MISSOURI RIDGE PRECINCT—W. M. Nutt.

EAST VALLEY PRECINCT—V. Sells and Morgan Duncan.

NORTH VALLEY PRECINCT—Lyman Jennings.

It was decided not to place a county ticket in the field. This was doubtless done to prove to an unfriendly world that the "straights" do not live by pie alone. A few delegates favored nominating a ticket.

The following gentlemen were elected delegates to the state convention: J. W. Hupp, E. C. Ballew and James Harris.

The delegates to the judicial convention are: J. W. Hupp, A. C. Clyde, Jesse Welborn, J. F. Forbes, J. S. LeHew.

The chair deciding that such a course was according to Hoyle, J. W. Hupp was chosen chairman of the county central committee, and J. F. Forbes secretary of the same. The following precinct committeemen were named:

BOX ELDER PRECINCT—James Doyle.

DRIFTWOOD PRECINCT—James Harris.

WILLOW GROVE PRECINCT—J. F. Kenyon.

GERVER PRECINCT—Samuel Ellis.

The committee were authorized to appoint the remainder of the committeemen later.

With this the serious business of the convention was concluded, but not all of the amusement.

Chairman Harris here took occasion to review the history of Red Willow county Democracy, picturing its remarkable victories in the past and holding out tempting and highly imaginative inducements for future glory. He admitted that there were only a few of them left—that is of the real, genuine, blown-in-the-bottle brand of Democracy; but that those left were like Gideon's band of old, chosen of the Lord, and can "lap like a dog". The speaker explained that the original might be properly translated to mean whiskey or water to suit the fancy, and that perhaps the word water might just as well be eliminated from the text as it had been from the fact. The speaker deified Grover and canonized J. Sterling in a most felicitously unrecognizable manner, in a burst of quite masterly eloquence and piquant wit. After which the speaker retired to the chair amid a perfect Niagara of applause, covering his face with his hands to hide his blushes. The convention then adjourned.

The convention will go thundering down the corridors of time as a model of harmony, thus challenging the admiration of generations unborn.

That was the Democratic party of Red Willow county born again some.

All Had a Jolly Time.

The members and friends of four South Side Sunday schools held a picnic on last Friday afternoon in Hammell's grove on Brush creek. There were about 150 persons present, old and young. There was an interesting program well rendered. Everybody was delighted.

Last week's TRIBUNE has been quite warmly commended by a number of readers.

The business all seems to be done on Dennison street since Drew moved The Fair Store into the west room of the A. O. U. W. building.

The city authorities are discouraging driving across lots by erecting obstacles across these short cut roads. All of which is proper and right.

Monday, September 9th, Grace Torbert will open her dress making shop in room over the postoffice. Price for wool dress $3.00. All other work accordingly.

"Don't do a thing"—until you clean up around your premises. Use lime freely. There are a number of stench producing places in the city. Clean up!

There was a complete eclipse of the moon visible on Tuesday night, commencing about 10 o'clock. It was an unusually interesting sight, agree all who witnessed it.

The tent that has been used during the Baptist revival meetings here, the past few weeks, was on the first of the week, shipped to Wauneta to be used during the camp meeting there this week.

Prof. H. R. Esterbrook, assistant dean, and Miss S. Rudora Marshall, principal of the conservatory of music, of Orleans college, were united in marriage in Milford, Illinois, August 20th.

Mrs. H. Stern will teach German to a class of adults; lessons twice a month at the residence of Mrs. S. Strasser. First lesson on Saturday, Sept. 7th, from 7 to 9, p. m. Terms, 25c. per evening.

Colonel Hatfield took THE TRIBUNE into his confidence, this week, and divulged the fact that they will raise 9,000 to 11,000 bushels of corn on the ranch, this year. And that they will likely buy some stock cattle and do considerable feeding during the fall and winter. They insist upon doing a little business on the Hatfield ranch right along, every year.

We understand that there was a meeting held in the city hall, Wednesday evening, in which the committee recently selected at a meeting held in the hall of Council 100, after adjournment of lodge, were discharged; and that a motion was carried to the effect that delegates from the several voting precincts of the city be selected at meetings of the voters of the precincts in such manner as the voters thereof may elect. That looks Republican-like, some. It would be more Republican-like if all public meetings of a political character were publicly announced in some fitting manner.

Between the hours of three and four o'clock on Tuesday morning, one of James H. Cain's residences in East McCook was entirely consumed by fire. The fire evidently originated from the cooking stove, from what we can learn. The house was insured for $400. Henry Jeffries occupied the premises, and he only succeeded in saving a portion of his household goods. As the water service does not extend into that addition, the fire department was not called out for duty; and with the facilities at hand little could be done to save the house, although quite a number of people gathered notwithstanding the early hour.

The editor of the Benton, Ill., Standard gives the following unique description of the new women: Paul was a crusty old bachelor and he got off many impertinent things about women. The new women's bibles will treat Paul as he deserves. The new woman intends to wear pants and hatch her offspring in an incubator. She will give milk out of a bottle with a Jersey label on it. She will lecture and ride astride and never marry unless she wants to. She will have her own bible and fight man until he is extinct, and when the world comes to an end and Gabriel comes to toot his final horn he will only find a lot of red-headed old maids riding on bicycles through the lonely world, with no berries in the patch, no fruit on the trees, no babies in the cradle, and the man in the moon a howling maniac.

TWICE NOMINATED.

Barngrover of Stockville the Nominee of Both Factions of the Distracted Democracy of 14th Judicial District.

TWO CONVENTIONS—DOUBLE ORGANIZATIONS—ALMOST A ROW.

The free silver and gold bug factions of the demoralized Democracy of the Fourteenth judicial district of Nebraska each held conventions in this city on Wednesday evening. The free silver fellows were first on the battle field. The hour named in the call was 6:30 p. m., and shortly before 7 o'clock Delegates A. J. Rittenhouse of McCook, L. W. Smith, T. F. Welborn, Thomas Duncan, Dennis J. Fitzgerald of Indianola repaired to the appointed place—the city hall—and at once organized for business, naming a candidate and transacting the customary business. [See verbatim copy of the report of this convention given by the officers.]

"McCook, Nebraska, September 4th, 1895. Pursuant to call for Democratic judicial convention for the Fourteenth judicial district, the Democrats met in delegate convention at the city hall in the city of McCook on the 4th day of September, 1895, at 6:30 p. m., and on motion D. J. Fitzgerald was chosen temporary chairman and L. W. Smith, temporary secretary. On motion temporary organization made permanent. On motion ruled that all delegates and Democrats present be seated.

W. W. Barngrover of Stockville was nominated by acclamation as candidate for district judge.

On motion Thomas Duncan of Indianola was chosen chairman of the judicial committee, and L. W. Smith of Indianola as secretary. Chairman and secretary appoint committeemen in the several counties of the district; after which the convention adjourned.

L. W. SMITH, D. J. FITZGERALD, Secretary. Chairman.

Just about the time this convention was about to adjourn and retire on their rapidly and easily acquired honors, the napping and indignant gold bug faction rushed into the hall, and then ensued an exciting, hot and noisy scene, with J. W. Kelley, editor of "For Revenue Only", of Beaver City, in the leading role. Mr. Kelley has a hard earned local reputation as a bruiser; he removed his coat, played a vigorous, if not musical, tune on the table, worked his vocal organs with marvelous celerity and power, and indicated an over-mastering disposition to annihilate somebody. Judge Rittenhouse was not born in the woods to be thrown into a spasm by the hooting of an owl, and he promptly informed "For Revenue Only" that he is "one of that kind of people himself in cases of emergency like this", which put something of a wet blanket on the prospect for shedding of gore; and after the exchange of a number of red hot speeches between these gentlemen, convention number one adjourned, and convention number two promptly organized and proceeded to business. [Below we also give a verbatim report as made by the officers of this convention.]

"McCook, Neb., Sept. 4th, 1895.

The Last of Earth.

A large concourse of sympathizing friends attended the funeral of Mrs. Louise Kuhule, wife of the Rev. C. F. Kuhule, at the German Methodist church, Sunday afternoon, August 25th, presiding Elder L. Allinger delivered an eloquent discourse in the German language, followed by Rev. E. L. Semans with some appropriate remarks in English. The singing by the choir of the church was exceptionally fine and impressive. Rev. Cramblet, Fryberger, Royer, Riggs, Leas and Mueller were the pall bearers.

Mrs. Kuhule's sister and her husband of Nebraska are here, and we understand that the former will remain with the bereaved family for some time.

The parting scene at the church was peculiarly solemn, and many tears of sympathy were shed for the mourning family and friends. Death is the lot of all, but it is more distressing under some circumstances than under others. The blow never falls harder than when a young wife and mother leaves—leaves so suddenly—a husband and small children. But Mr. Kuhule has the consolation of the words so feelingly uttered by Elder Allinger in his prayer, "Allein, doch nicht allein, bin ich". (Alone, yet not alone, am I.) He has the further consolation, so far as that will go, that the whole community sympathizes with him in his bereavement.

Mrs. Kuhule was a most estimable lady. She was highly educated and entertained deep religious convictions. She was a conscientious helpmeet to her husband in his pastoral work, and had endeared herself very much to the church here. Her death is a loss to the Methodist church and to the circle in which she moved, as it is to the family and friends.—Goshen (Ind.) Daily Times.

Summed Up the Evidence.

The court martial case of James Laird Post, G. A. R., against Dr. J. E. Hathorn, commander of the post at Bartley, was summed up by the court at a session held in this city, Tuesday and evening. Lawyer Smith, of Hastings, was judge advocate, E. S. Hill of Indianola, H. H. Berry, J. A. Wilcox and J. H. Yarger of our city, being the members of the court present.

This unfortunate case is the result of the aid business, and is perhaps familiar to our readers, having been quite thoroughly ventilated in THE TRIBUNE by both parties.

A finding was arrived at by the court at a late hour on Tuesday evening, and the same was forwarded to the state commander at Lincoln for approval or rejection.

As it is contrary to Grand Army rules, we are unable to give the finding of the court, but those posted seem to be satisfied that Commander Hathorn will not be convicted of the charges preferred against him by the post.

At one of the cases has been an unfortunate one for the village of Bartley, which has been divided and much exercised over the matter, and especially so as all persons involved are prominent and leading citizens.

The Credit System.

There is a millennium in the financial world that everybody would profit by having occur and many business men would rejoice exceedingly to have, if it were possible. That millennium is the universal payment of cash by everybody.

It is far from being reached yet, therefore people who do pay cash are compelled to pay more than they should to make up for the loss incurred by those who fail to pay at all or delay a long period. Thus injustice is worked. Thus men who don't pay their debts manage to live by the exercise of a superabundance of cheek, and live more cheaply than do those who pay cash. Thus do men who delay paying their debts get work to do that they wouldn't otherwise get if the creditor could get his money any other way. Because the cash system is not in use everywhere and by everybody, our meat costs more, our clothes cost more, our houses cost more, our county papers would have been cheaper long ago, and all men would get their just dues in a financial sense. Money uncollected goes down in the lost column in every business house. It makes the grocer charge more of every customer to get even on what some customers fail to pay in six months or more. Cash paid by everybody would bring lower prices and better satisfaction generally. These thoughts were not suggested by what the Industrial World says below, but its remarks are so applicable to the subject in hand that they are presented. The World asks: "Why do merchants encourage the credit system? You answer that you don't. Yes, but you do. If the system were not encouraged by the merchants it would not be in existence today. Did you ever stop to think that the mercantile community are the only body of men who tolerate the credit system? Let's see you buy postage stamps, postal notes, money orders, etc., on credit; try it and see what you'll be told. Go to the theatre and you pay money. Express companies demand cash, and railroad tickets are cash on delivery to the purchaser. Why should the merchant not demand and receive cash? Simply because he encourages the credit system. It may be an impossibility to completely eradicate the system, but strict limitation on credit is a step on the right road, and the evolution will be practically a cash basis system of doing business. It is worth a trial and should be begun at once. It would spread like measles in a country school, and when it does it will solve the great problem for all time. When sifted down it would be found that the credit system is the originator of and responsible for more evil that effects the financial and business world than all other agencies combined. Not only this, but it fosters extravagance—the purchase of goods which can be very well done without".
