NORTH STAR GLEANINGS.

Hay making is in vogue now. Bessie Endsley is attending school in McCook. Clara Pickering is attending school in Indianola. Mr. Hume marketed some hay in McCook, last Friday. There was a large attendance at Sunday school, Sunday. Ada Burns commenced teaching out near the Driftwood, Monday. Laura Pickering commenced her school in Fowler district, Monday. Rev. Crago of Indianola delivered an able address at this place, Sunday at 3 p. m. Mrs. Kilgore of McCook was out looking after her real estate, last week. Mr. Korn and Ernest Carter of Indianola attended services here, Sunday. Mr. Dodd and Miss Wright and Rev. and Mrs. Morris of Laurel Dell attended services, Sunday. A pleasant party of young people consisting of the Misses Rose and Ada Burns, Bessie and Nettie Endsley, Mary Dudek, Nellie Kellog, and Messrs. Ernest, John and James Carter, Ira and Frank Neel, Al and George Kellog, Bert Dudek and Mr. Miller, spent last Friday evening at Mr. Pickering's. Various games and music were the amusements. A happy occasion is reported.

RED WILLOW.

S. L. Miller put up the hay on the Clark farm. Mrs. John Longnecker has been suffering again from the old trouble—neuralgia of the stomach. Mr. Knox, an old friend from the old home of James Woodworth, together with his family, made the Woodworth family a brief visit, one day last week. The schools began at the Willow and in district 72 on Monday. Mrs. Eliza G. Nettleton teaching at the Willow and Maude Cordeal in the south part of district 72. Ida and Mary Canaga last week departed for their new fields of labor. Each of the girls have secured long term schools, and their old neighbors wish them success. The watermelon thief is abroad in the land, and the old saying, that there is honor among thieves, is disproved. Vines are stacked, melons plucked and destroyed, boys get the old time thrashings, and the old, foolish fathers wind up matters by recounting their own exploits in watermelon patches during the period when they were sowing their wild oats. We need not blame the boys if they rob widows and orphans.

INDIANOLA.

W. R. Starr was also a McCook visitor, Tuesday. Marion Powell had business in McCook, Tuesday. The bank and postoffice enjoyed a monopoly of observing Labor day. The Misses Beardslee and Happersett were the guests of McCook friends, Saturday and Sunday. The question now is, "Will Sam Smith's bear story secure him the Populist nomination for district judge?" Miss Nellie Holland was in McCook, Tuesday, in the capacity of stenographer in the court martial case. Also, Judge E. S. Hill, who was a member of the court martial. D. J. Fitzgerald, Thomas Duncan, L. W. Smith and T. F. Welborn went up to McCook, Wednesday evening, to assist Judge Bittenhouse in holding the free silver judicial convention. And they did it like mice.

PROSPECT PARK.

Mary Marsh visited with Mrs. J. H. Wade, Saturday. School began in district 48, last Monday, with Anna Hill, teacher. Road Overseer C. S. Ferris is doing some good work on the roads this week. Charlie Boatman went over in the Fowler neighborhood, Saturday, to participate in the base ball game. Mr. Burns was over from Ash creek, Sunday. He brought his daughter over to her school in the Cain district. One night recently Mrs. R. M. Wade, while down in the cellar, was startled by a sound of rattling on the steps from which she had just walked. It proved to be a rattlesnake, and as it was quite dark, she was kept in the cellar about half an hour, until her husband came and gave his snakeship his quietus. There was a Sunday school picnic held in Hammell's grove on Brush creek, last Friday. It was participated in by the following schools: Pleasant Ridge United Brethren Sunday school, Henry L. Goodenberger, supt., James Phillips, sec. Fairview Methodist Sunday school, R. M. Wade, supt., Mattie Shears, sec. Union Valley Sunday school, A. C. Marsh, supt., J. S. Brittain, sec. After prayer by Rev. Mason, the picnicers proceeded to devour a bountiful dinner. After dinner there were addresses made by the several superintendents, and very interesting programs were rendered by the different schools. The exercises closed with a few well chosen remarks by Rev. J. E. Tirrill. A short time was spent in friendly chat, after which all returned to their homes, feeling that they had spent a very pleasant day.
