

The McCook Tribune.

FOURTEENTH YEAR.

McCOOK, RED WILLOW COUNTY, NEBRASKA, FRIDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 28, 1896.

NUMBER 41.

BOUND OVERTO DISTRICT COURT

Edward Lorenz Held to Answer for Murder of Michael Travers.

The preliminary trial of Edward Lorenz, charged with the murder of Michael Travers on the 18th instant, which has been in progress before Squire H. H. Berry, since Wednesday morning, concluded last evening, resulting in the accused being bound over to the next term of district court in and for Red Willow county, without bail, to answer for the heinous crime of murdering Michael Travers, a full account of whose horrible death was given in these columns, last week.

County Attorney Harlow W. Keyes conducted the prosecution, while Farington Power defended the accused. Many witnesses were examined on both sides and keen interest was and is being manifested. While public sentiment may be in a measure divided as to the guilt or innocence of the young man, yet the squire felt that ample testimony, though circumstantial, had been presented to make it necessary to bind over the accused to district court. And the state feel confident indeed that they have the guilty party now in clutches of the law.

The preliminary trial attracted a large crowd. The morning session, Wednesday, was held in the city hall, but the weight of the crowd that packed the hall caused a number of floor joists to break and the audience to stampede from the building. The remaining sessions were held in the Menard opera house, which better accommodated the throng.

The prisoner was taken to Indianola, by Sheriff Neel, the same evening, to await trial, which will doubtless be held as soon as possible on account of the great expense to the county.

An Ugly and Painful Cut.

While cutting wood on James Campbell's farm up in Coleman precinct on the Willow, Joseph Sanders on Wednesday afternoon had the misfortune to inflict an ugly and painful wound upon his right foot with an ax. The wound extends from the big toe up into the center of the foot, and Mr. Sanders was in a fainting condition from heavy loss of blood when he was discovered. The wounded man was brought to the city and the wound dressed. Unless some unexpected complication arises he will be about in due season without any serious results, although the injury is quite a severe one and in a part of the body where permanent damage may be expected from so extensive a cut.

Our Hopes and their Fears.

The Indianola Reporter expresses itself in this wise concerning the county seat now pending in the supreme court: "The county seat case was finally submitted, (last Thursday) yesterday. The court will hardly reverse its former decision, unless it can give a clear and logical reason for so doing. Upon the real point at issue there is a California decision favorable to McCook, and a Connecticut decision favorable to Indianola; and the Nebraska court has already decided in favor of Indianola. But it should be remembered that McCook has the powerful influence of the B. & M. R. R. Thereon hangs McCook's hopes and Indianola's fears."

Pleasure, Plenty and Profit.

A very profitable and successful undertaking was the New England dinner given on Washington's birthday by the energetic Ladies' Aid society of the Methodist church in the Babcock building. The ladies were accorded a very generous patronage and realized a handsome sum from their excellent culinary efforts and hard work.

The society also served a supper and conducted a plain and fancy work bazaar on the side, both of which added to the sum total of profitable success.

Death of Mrs. John M. Ford.

On last Friday, Mrs. John M. Ford of Gerver precinct was called away from earth in the 64th year of her life by apoplexy. The deceased was the wife of the well known and aged veteran of the late war of that precinct.

Rev. Mason conducted the funeral services over the deceased, Saturday morning, burial following in the Fowler cemetery.

The bereaved ones have much genuine sympathy from many friends and neighbors in their sadness.

Congratulated the Firemen.

The work of repairing the Lowman store building is being pushed vigorously. The damage was not so heavy as might have been expected. Mr. Spearman, during his short visit here, first of the week, took occasion to congratulate the fire department upon their efficient work in keeping the fire within bounds that they did, especially under the circumstances against which they labored.

THE PEOPLE.

S. E. HAGER and wife are up from Indianola, today.

P. H. MUNSON is here on a visit to his sister, Mrs. H. P. Sutton.

MR. AND MRS. FRANK GOCKLEY visited his parents at Holbrook, last week.

H. W. SIPE was up from Cambridge, Wednesday night, to secure a burial casket.

F. H. SPEARMAN came out from Omaha, Sunday night, on some important business matters.

T. J. FLOYD of the Trenton Register was drawn hither on a business mission, Saturday evening.

P. A. WELLS is up in Cripple Creek, looking after his mercantile interests in the great gold camp.

JACOB STEINMETZ has received word that his application made last January for an original pension has been allowed.

MRS. CHARLES L. DEGROFF gave a charming Thimble party, Wednesday afternoon, to a company of lady friends.

GEORGE METZGER of Ohio was the guest of Jacob Steinmetz, Tuesday, on his way to Cripple Creek, on mining business.

MISS LOTTA STOVER of Republic, Kas., will shortly open a millinery store in the room formerly occupied by J. W. McKenna.

J. A. RESH, manager of the Stewart ranch over on Dry creek, is visiting his aged parents in Freeport, Illinois. His mother is in ill and failing health.

PATRICK SWEENEY came out from Chicago, Friday night, to attend the funeral of his murdered brother-in-law, Michael Travers. Mr. Sweeney formerly resided here with his family.

MR. AND MRS. J. T. BULLARD came down from Palisade, Saturday evening, on their way to Omaha and Lincoln on a visit, Mrs. Bullard remaining, and Mr. Bullard returning home, Sunday night.

R. Q. STEWART, of Campbell, chairman of Republican congressional committee of this district, is in the city today. Committee will meet in Hastings, March 10th.

J. W. HUPP's parents spent the early part of the week in the city. They have been out from Illinois a number of weeks visiting their sons, James and Daniel, and were on their way back to the Illinois home.

E. R. STEPHENS of Crete and J. H. Stephens of Bartley were city visitors, Tuesday, and transacted some nursery business on the side. E. R. was up helping to make proof on a timber claim up in Chase county.

MR. AND MRS. C. W. KNIGHTS and Master Harry passed through our city, Saturday evening, on their way home to Denver from Iowa, where Harry was sick with scarlet fever, from which he had recovered completely, however.

REV. A. S. HOUSTON, pastor of the Congregational church, Indianola, occupied the local pulpit of that denomination, last Sunday morning and evening, in an enjoyable and profitable manner. The evening sermon was a missionary talk, which was the more interesting and instructive for the reason that the speaker spent some time in missionary work on Ponape island, one of the Caroline islands group in Micronesia. He had a few curiosities from the islands with him.

Hard Times and Easy Morals.

With the hard times has come a corresponding easing up of moral stamina. In early days thievery was practically unknown in this county,—residents leaving their homes open, and doors unbarred. But is different now. Cases of petty robbery are numerous all over the county. This matter of robbery and looting has gone to such an extent in some localities as to demand severe redress and prompt punishment. This is a humiliating state of affairs—especially as viewed from the early days standpoint.

BARN AND CONTENTS BURNED

Two Fine Horses and a Cow Were Also Destroyed.

About 11 o'clock on Wednesday night, C. B. Rowell's stable and contents were completely destroyed by fire. The family had retired, but Mrs. Rowell was awakened by the last frantic efforts of the horses in the barn to escape from the burning building. The alarm was carried down into the city by Elmer Rowell, and in the meantime a few neighbors arrived on the scene and assisted in preserving the dwelling from destruction. The arrival of the firemen and their apparatus at once relieved all anxiety about the dwelling and they soon had the barn under control, although there was no hope of saving the structure or any of the contents when the fire was first discovered.

Both of Elmer Rowell's fine driving horses were burned, and the cow and many other personal and household goods stored in the barn were entirely destroyed, the total loss being between $600 and $700, upon which there is an insurance of $375, divided as follows: Barn $200, horses $100, buggy and harness $75, so that the loss in a financial way is considerable, besides the death of highly prized animals and loss of articles which cannot be easily replaced, if at all. The family have no idea how the fire originated.

A Costly Crack.

On Monday morning the large plate glass in the front of the north half of the Phillips-Meeker building cracked with a loud report like that from the discharge of a revolver, and without any apparent cause. There has been a small check in the glass for some time, at the lower edge in the middle, and efforts had been put forth to save the costly plate from further damage by relieving all apparent strain; so that the serious and extensive break, extending on up and forking, was in the nature of a surprise, besides being a very considerable loss. Precautions against accident and possible extension of the break were taken at once.

Buds Not Swelling Much.

Considerable alarm has been felt by those having fruit trees that the continued warm weather might cause the fruit tree buds to swell, and be injured by cold weather later.

While in the city, Tuesday, E. R. Stephens informs us that he took pains to examine a number of fruit trees. The only buds that seem to be swelling are the apricots.

It is evident that some concern is felt everywhere on this same account; and the danger is quite real.

A Murdered Man's Burial.

On Saturday morning last, the mutilated remains of Michael Travers were buried in St. Patrick's cemetery of this city, services being conducted by Rev. J. W. Hickey at ten o'clock, in the Catholic church.

The funeral was quite largely attended by people from country and city, and was in some respects an unusually solemn affair. A number of relatives of the deceased attended from other states.

The Phonograph Concert.

The Menard opera house was well filled, Tuesday evening, to hear the phonograph concert by Laing Bros., under auspices of the Star of Jupiter. The various selections of the phonograph, vocal and instrumental, were warmly applauded, and as a whole the concert was well received and enjoyed by the large audience.

Doing Penance in Hock.

"Goldie" Harlan, a somewhat notorious member of the local half-world, was taken down to Indianola, Saturday, by Sheriff Neel, and will do penance in the county jail for fifteen days—all on account of her superabundant meanness and robust thirst for the cup that intoxicates.

Are we Patriotic Enough?

The banks, post office, land office and the railroad offices and shops had pretty much a corner on the local celebration or observance of Washington's birthday, last Saturday. A few business houses displayed small national flags. But for the most part everybody followed his usual and ordinary avocation.

About March 3d, Maybe.

The supreme court has adjourned till March 3d, about which time some action may be expected in the county seat case. Maybe.

Evening subject, "The Power of Prejudice". Sunday school at 10 o'clock. Endeavor society at 7 o'clock; topic, "Loyalty to Christ"; leader, Minnie Rowell. Prayer meeting and Bible study on Wednesday evening at 7:30. A cordial invitation is extended to all services.
HART L. PRESTON, Pastor.

A NOVEL SOCIETY, TUESDAY.

The Dorcas society of the Congregational church will give a Palette social in the church on next Tuesday evening. The ladies of the society are especially desirous of having a large attendance of the gentlemen at this entertainment, which will be replete with amusement for all. The following refreshments will be served: Creature cheer, country cousin's comfort, and compound mixture; and the whole combination for one dime. All will be welcome.

The Ladies' Guild of the Episcopal church are preparing to hold a grand art exhibition at their chapel after Easter.

Rev. G. P. Fuson was called to Wauwata, Wednesday morning, to preach the funeral sermon of the father of John Selby of our city.

The musical announced by the Dorcas society of the Congregational church has been declared off, and the social on next Tuesday evening will take its place.

Rev. A. W. Clark of Omaha was in the city, Tuesday, in conference with the pastor and members of the Baptist church, with reference to a church building. The outlook seems quite favorable.

A Rousing Meeting.

The meeting of McCook lodge No. 1, Star of Jupiter, Monday evening, was a lively one in point of interest and attendance.

The high water mark of applications for membership was reached at this session, 44 applications being read and passed upon. A fact which aroused much enthusiasm among the membership of the growing order.

There were also eleven initiations of new members. This, with the other business of the session, took up the entire time of the meeting, and the excellent program prepared for the occasion had to be dispensed with.

The order is growing at such a rate as to greatly encourage and inspire the supreme officers, and in fact all connected with the success of the order.

Ben Hur by Lantern.

On March 17th, Rev. J. M. Cromer, pastor of the First Evangelical Lutheran church of Kansas City, Mo., and western agent of a leading slide importing concern in the east, will favor this community with his lecture and lantern exhibition of Ben Hur, General Lew Wallace's famous novel.

Rev. Cromer brings his own double lantern and light, and the entertainment will be highly absorbing and instructive. It will be given in and under auspices of the Congregational church, and fuller particulars of this interesting event will be given in due time through the press. Remember the date and place, however.

A FARMER INSTANTLY KILLED

Solomon Shott Meets Death in a Runaway, Wednesday.

A German farmer by the name of Solomon Shott, living about six miles southeast of here in the Ash creek region of Bondville precinct, was instantly killed on Wednesday afternoon on his farm in that precinct, accidentally, in a runaway.

He was seen about noon by a neighbor, William Knappe, driving down a hill on his farm, but at the time noticed nothing unusual. After dinner in walking down the direction Shott had driven, Knappe observed signs of a smash-up down the hill, and hurrying to the scene he found Shott under the wagon box dead, with his neck broken. The horses had run up a steep embankment, the wagon overturning. Shott's right foot was fast in a hole in the bottom of the box. The side of the box had caught the man across the neck, dislocating and crushing the same and causing instant death. The running gear of the farm wagon stayed with the box, making the weight very heavy on top of the imprisoned driver.

The horses tore themselves loose from the overturned wagon and were caught some distance away by another neighbor by the name of Baumback. They were uninjured.

County Coroner Brown, who was in this city in attendance upon the preliminary examination of Edward Lorenz, was at once summoned to the scene of the fatality, and he rendered a decision of accidental death in accordance with the above stated facts.

The deceased was about 30 years of age and unmarried, though expecting soon to be married. He was working a rented farm, having some entailed personal property. His brother was summoned by telegraph from Hitchcock county, arriving here on Thursday evening. The funeral was held at Ash creek, Friday afternoon, by Rev. August Guebert of this city, burial taking place at that cemetery.

Death in Search for Health.

B. F. Bowen, senior, died at the residence of his son B. F. Bowen, junior, about midnight last Thursday.

The deceased was about 67 years of age, and has been in ill health for some time. He came out from his home in Iowa, a few months since, for the betterment of his health; but it was not to be so.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. W. Hickey of St. Patrick's Catholic church at 10 o'clock on Sunday morning, interment following in the parish cemetery, by his request.

The deceased leaves an aged and invalid wife in Iowa, who on account of her infirmities and age was unable to attend the funeral of her life companion. Besides there are two children living in our city, Mrs. Steve Dwyer and B. F. Bowen, junior. They have much sympathy in their bereavement.

Irrigation Matters.

The state board of irrigation yesterday passed on the claim of Wilt & Pony, owners of the Naponee mills on Turkey creek, Franklin county, and fixed the date of priority of appropriation at December 31, 1874, when the mill was first operated by water power. The amount of the appropriation is to be determined later. The claim of William J. McGillen on behalf of the Harlem ditch, Chase county, was allowed conditionally. The claim of W. A. Brown and others of Dundly county for water from Chief creek was dismissed because the claimant did not comply with the law of 1889. The claim of the Bartley Canal company, Red Willow county, was dismissed for the same reason.—Lincoln Journal, Feb. 21.

An Old Lesson Retraught.

The Rowell barn fire distinctly retraught a few old lessons on Wednesday night: Firstly, that one of the hose carts ought to be stationed up the hill. Secondly, that a few more alarm boxes ought to be established on the hill. The Rowell residence was saved by the garden hose. It is impossible to pull the carts up the hill and be prompt enough to be of much service at a fire, especially if one has to run clear down town to give an alarm. Thirdly, a little better discipline and organization, so that such unfortunate circumstances as the lack of hydrant wrenches, as Wednesday night, may be avoided.

FOR A CENT.

No council, Monday evening, on account of lack of quorum.

An 11½ pound daughter was born to Paul Miller and wife, Sunday.

The Holmes Bros. are doing the carpenter work on the Lowman store room. The grim reaper has been unusually busy in this vicinity, during past week.

The article in this issue under title of "The Good of the Farm" will repay your reading.

Last week, Hank and Lou Kyle brought a pool and a billiard table down from Stratton.

If you are indebted to the publisher on subscription, many are, bring him in a jag of corn or oats.

Extra papers of our last week's edition were in demand, and the supply was quickly exhausted.

There was a slight fire in a dug-out in "Little Russia", Wednesday evening, about supper time.

Quite a number of farmers are inquiring about Kafir corn. We hope a considerable quantity of seed may be sown, this year.

We are better pleased each week with the amount and quality of our correspondence. It is unequalled in the county.

Last Sunday a week Miss Annie Schmidt was married to John Miller of Culbertson. They will make their home at Trenton.

Sylvester Cordeal has arranged for a comet to pass this way about March 14th. It may not be amiss to take to your cave about that date.

No question is of greater importance to the people of this county than that of impounding flood water, and it must not be forgotten or overlooked.

The Culbertson Era announces that the A. P. A. lodge instituted in that burg, last week, by Messrs. Kelley, Wilkinson, Jordan and Horner of our city, contains 15 or 20 charter members, nearly all of whom are farmers. The townsmen are working the countrymen up there to the queen's taste.

Important, if True.

We learn with sorrow of the approaching demise of three newspapers, which, according to the pronouncement of certain and sundry McCook patriots, will turn up their beautiful pink toes to the daisies before the snows of another winter fall. To-wit: THE McCOOK TRIBUNE, THE Omaha Bee, and THE Rocky Mountain News.

As Colonel Walt Mason would say, this is important, if true.

Sang to a Small Audience.

The Six Cobb Brothers of Holdrege sang and played to a small audience in the Menard hall, Monday evening. The performance can hardly be called an artistic success; in fact there is room for some doubt whether or not the gentlemen composing the concert company have not mistaken their calling, to conclude from the statements of some of those present at the concert here.

To Preserve the Building.

While here, last week, Rev. J. W. Kimmel arranged to have the broken windows of the Lutheran church of our city boarded up. This has been thoroughly done, and it is hoped will keep the building from further destruction or damage until the return of prosperous times, when it is expected to repair and rehabilitate the entire structure and denomination if possible.

Carson's Claim Allowed.

The state board of irrigation has allowed the claim of Andrew Carson on behalf of Carson ditch No. 1, Red Willow county, for water from the Republican river, the water to be applied by September 1st, 1897.—Lincoln Journal.

Camp Fire and Bean Supper.

J. K. Barnes post 67, G. A. R. of our city, are arranging for a Camp Fire and Bean Supper to be given on Friday evening, March 13th. Full particulars will be given in due season.

That Irrigation Meeting.

If McCook is to have that irrigation meeting, next month, arrangements should be commenced to that end and the matter properly advertised. Who will make the move in this matter?

Questions of the Hour.

For mayor, who?
For councilmen, who?
For members of school board, who?
Don't all answer these absorbing questions to once.

Passes Suddenly Away.

P. A. Brower, the well known Box Elder merchant, passed away suddenly, last evening, about five o'clock, with an attack of heart disease.
