

THE fact that the anti-trust proposition was not incorporated in the tariff bill does not mean that the Republicans are going to omit its active support.

WHEN you see a man who is at all times full of partisan enthusiasm; who never loses an opportunity to glorify the organization and explain how essential its success to the general welfare of the country, you need not be surprised when the time comes, as it surely will, that he will want a fat office as a reward for his fidelity to imperishable principles.—Lincoln Journal.

THE recent statement of Colonel Mitchell that all opponents of fusion are either Republicans or Anarchists rests hardly upon the mid-roadites. Some time since the Populists were bewailing that their organ "said nothing." And now they are wishing in the names of all the gods large and lilliputian that their organ would in the future confine itself to saying nit exclusively.

It is melancholy to observe the attacks of little minds upon a castle of intellect. Because Hon. William Jennings Bryan was found lately by a wandering reporter before breakfast, the supremacy and even the plutophobic sincerity of Mr. Bryan are questioned by men who ought to know better.

According to this reporter, as often as Mr. Bryan "would rise (sic) up in bed the light would fall on his elegant silk nightshirt, all covered in front" with embroideries, 16 to 1 in raised letters, and so on. The populists don't like the description. Many popocrats are shaking head and ear over it. A friend of the people is in an elegant embroidered silk nightshirt! A plain, simple young man, vowed to the hatred of everybody who makes more than $5,000 a year, detected in a soft light and an elegant silk nightshirt? Did Jack Cade wear an elegant embroidered silk nightshirt? Did Jack Cade wear any sort of night-shirt? Are not nightshirts, although very cheap as the result of combinations and monopolies, distinctly plutocratic?—N.Y. Sun.

THERE is nothing to be gained by Republican editors by going into deliriums of impotent rage and disappointment, or by exhibitions of partisan hate on the part of Republican politicians, over the temporary eclipse of the party in the state of Nebraska. Neither will it avail much to call the opposition nincompoops, anarchists etc. Our condition is at least measurably self-imposed, and the remedy is simple: Punish those who have brought disgrace on the party, loss to the state; hurl from power the leaders that have admittedly dragged the party down to disaster and disrepute in the furtherance of their own selfish ends; let the rank and file of the party take an effective hand in the nominating of clean, able and untrammelled candidates, which abound in the Republican party; and soon the star of Republican success will be in the ascendant. No party or combination in this state is superior to the Republican party in personnel, if its equal. Wise and honest leadership will make it invincible.

No doubt Church Howe will pray that the "old ship wont leak" while he is en route to Samoa.

It is expected that the final vote on the Dingley tariff bill will be taken in the senate today.

WITH a new 12,000 bushel capacity elevator to go up at once, prosperity is measurably coming our way.

THE Hastings Democrat admits that Judge Post is the strongest man for supreme judge that the Republicans can nominate. "He's all right."

ALMA is to have a new newspaper. It will be called the Harlan County Journal, and W. S. Wetherell of the Republican City Democrat will be the publisher.

THE hero of the hour seems to be Speaker Reed, who is now wearing the scalps of the sugar senators at his belt. He is the only power found able to break into the nest of trust conspirators and scatter them since the trust took possession of the upper branch of congress. And he undoubtedly relishes the performance. He has no love for the senate.—Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

COLONEL MITCHELL says that the person who "misinformed" him about the Populist county convention "should have known". But the Colonel's "misinformant" says that he told the Colonel that the central committee would meet on that date, but that it would not be necessary to publish the fact, as personal notification had been given each of the committeemen. But the Colonel was bound to have the item, so he stupidly announced a convention when a committee meeting only was called. But it is difficult to take the Colonel seriously. His facetious vein is something overpowering.

PROSPECT PARK. Charlie Boatman and Clint Kelley swapped teams, Saturday.

J. H. Wade and wife visited at O. L. Thompson's, Monday afternoon.

The rain, Monday morning, was all right and we all feel very thankful.

Frank Fitch and Earl Ludwick of McCook attended Sunday-school at this place, Sunday.

Andrew Anderson had a little runaway, Friday; a broken wagon tongue was the damage.

Jacob Crocker lost a horse, last Friday. It came near falling in the well in its death struggle.

Mrs. E. E. Hayes and daughters of Danbury visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Wade, a few days last week.

Frank Holbrook, who has been visiting his parents for the past week or two, returned to Kansas City, first of the week.

O. L. Thompson was looking over the eastern part of the county, this week. We understand that he will be a candidate for the nomination for county treasurer on the Republican ticket, this fall, for which he is well qualified. Mr. Thompson has been a resident of Nebraska for eighteen or twenty years, and of Red Willow county for the last five years, and has shown himself to be a thorough Republican and an honest, upright gentleman.

It heals everything but a broken heart may be said of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Piles and rectal diseases, cuts, burns, bruises, tetter, eczema and all skin troubles may be cured by it quickly and permanently. A. McMillen.

DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve Cures Piles, Scalds, Burns.

Burning, itching skin diseases instantly relieved by DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, unequalled for cuts, bruises, burns. It heals without leaving a scar. A. McMillen.

DANBURY.

Jesse Sewell of Rook county, Kansas, is visiting relatives here.

J. E. Dolph received an elegant upright piano, last Wednesday.

E. B. Lister and father were McCook business visitors on Monday.

A. Barnett of McCook is in town today looking after his extensive lumber interests.

W. A. Minnear had two valuable horses and one cow bitten by a rattlesnake, last Friday morning.

It has been reported that the grasshoppers that have been bothering the farmers along the Beaver valley, are leaving.

It was claimed that 1,000 people attended Dr. Cann's show, Saturday evening. Special attraction was the rock breaking.

J. P. Schoolfield has purchased the Topics plant from Mrs. Alice McNeil of Sparland, Illinois, for a consideration of $250.

We were visited by copious showers, Monday, followed by cool weather, which greatly improves the prospect for a corn crop.

Fred Greenway, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Greenway, living north of town, died, Saturday afternoon, July 17, of typhoid fever. The remains were interred in the Hamburg cemetery, Sunday.

Quite an enjoyable time was had in our little city, last Saturday afternoon, the special attraction being high rope walking and the band concert given by Dr. Cann's show. At 4 o'clock the people went to the ball ground to witness a game between Danbury and Lebanon. The score stood 12 to 22 in favor of the home team.

ON THE ROAD.

The Bicycle Bills are still alive and having a high-old time.

On Tuesday, the 6th, we left Danbury early in the morning for Pueblo, Colorado, with a strong south wind to ride against all day. We got into Oberlin about 10 a. m., and after dinner we struck out for Colby, but getting about 7 miles out we had to commence climbing the hills out of the Sappa valley which made us walk considerable as our motor power was limited. From about 3 p. m. on we went pretty slow. Every now and then we would stop at a farm house for a good drink of milk or water. About 7:30 we reached old Hawkeye, the half-way place between Oberlin and Colby, and got permission to stay there all night, making about 46 miles for the first day.

Next morning we struck out for Rexford, about 10 miles straight south, the wind blowing hard as ever, and we began to think that our luck was not of the best kind. So arriving there about 8 a. m. we concluded to take the train as far as Brewster and cut across from there to Wallace, then to Tribune on the Missouri Pacific, then on to Pueblo, but after getting 5 or 6 miles out southwest from Brewster we got into a country that we named "No Man's Land", for there was not a soul to be seen anywhere. Then Russian thistles had taken the land and the natives had gone to seek refuge among their wives' folks. We began to get thirsty, and fearing that our chances would be slim for water if we kept on, we changed our course and made for the Rock Island, thinking it would be better for us to travel in civilization than where man, beasts, birds, squirrels, etc. had ceased to stay.

About 2:30 p. m. we came to a station on the Rock Island, called Edison, with nothing but a postoffice and a small general store, where we were lucky enough to get a good dinner of the proprietor. After taking about three hours rest and scraping the thistle thorns off of the tires, that had accumulated there as thick as the needles on a music box, we started on to Goodland with a good level road, but the hot winds blowing this time. Before we got there we were caught in a shower, something I guess that hardly ever happens in this part of the country, and soaked us through to the hide. This indeed was more refreshing to us than any thing we had struck so far, packing the dust in the road and making wheeling good.

We got to Goodland about sun-down that evening, being the end of the second day. We rested until about 10 o'clock the next morning, having previously decided that life was to be short to "potter" along at this rate, so we took the flyer for Colorado Springs. About daylight we commenced riding through the land of the prickly-pear cactus and sand-hills all the way to the Springs. Occasionally we saw a field of grain and a farm house to match it; also a few skin-poor Texas cattle feeding on the sand-grass that grows in between the cactus of the prairie.

At Limon, Colorado, we changed cars a little after sun up, and after riding about an hour we came in sight of the Rockies, they looking something like great rain clouds fixing up for a storm. 8:30 a. m. we were in the Springs, and after walking around and gawking at the signs we found a 15c. meal house. After breakfast we rode out to Manitou, about 5 miles distance into the mountains. This is a beautiful city situated at the foot of Pike's Peak. The buildings are mostly of stone and of the type of those we read about in the old country.

We secured a room soon after arriving, paying for it alone one day what it costs for board one week at home, and that afternoon started to climb Pike's Peak up the cog road. About four o'clock we came to the half-way house and inquiring the distance on up we were told that it was 6 miles before we could reach the summit of our ambition, having only come 2 1/2 miles in three hours. So this rate discouraged us again and we took the back track, thinking maybe that some day in the future we would be able to make the top in a more easy way. Being the evening of the third day we rested.

Next morning (Friday) we started for Pueblo, about 55 miles overland. We got along all right until about 14 miles from our destination when we were again caught in another rain, making the roads so muddy that we had to ride the center of the Rio Grande track from there in. We were mud from head to foot, arriving at 8 o'clock.

The next morning we gave a boot-black his regular fee to clean us up, then we hunted up some of our relatives, who took us in, fed us and showed us around the city of Pueblo. This is quite a manufacturing town, having three large smelters, two iron foundries and one Bessemer steel plant, employing in all about 3,500 men, (since McK's election.)

On Wednesday, the 14th, with an uncle, we made a trip to Canon City, about 45 miles distant. In going we left the road about 7 miles and rode part of the time on a desert of sand, seeing a few of those long-horned cattle, which would stare at us at first, then strike out over the hills bellowing as if they had never seen a human being before. Traveling along here and climbing over some of the foot-hills made us somewhat thirsty, and finding a pool of water we all partook of a large quantity, then went on our way rejoicing. About noon we came to Florence, another mining town situated at the foot of the hills, and then took the main traveled road to Canon City, passing through some of the finest fruit country in the west, all irrigated from the Arkansas river.

At 2 p. m. we rode into the city, got dinner and started back on the good road to Pueblo, on which we were able to coast for two and three miles at a time without touching a pedal, arriving home at 8 that evening, making a 99-mile trip in one day, up hill half way.

That night one of the outfit became alkali on the water that we drank out of the pool in the morning and spent most of the night in a weakly condition.

To Subscribers of the Tribune.

Readers of THE TRIBUNE will please remember that cash is an essential in the publication of a paper. The publisher has been very lenient during the past few years, on account of crop failures and hard times, and as a consequence many hundreds of dollars are due on subscriptions. We are now compelled to request all who can to call and make settlement in full or in part. In view of the facts, our subscribers must feel the justice and urgency of this request. THE PUBLISHER.

To California, Comfortably.

Every Thursday at 11:40 p. m., M. T., a tourist sleeping car for Salt Lake City, San Francisco and Los Angeles leaves Omaha and Lincoln via the Burlington Route. It is carpeted, upholstered in rattan, has spring seats and backs and is provided with curtains, bedding, towels, soap, etc. An experienced excursion conductor and a uniformed Pullman porter accompany it through to the Pacific coast. While neither as expensively finished nor as fine to look at as a palace sleeper, it is just as good to ride in. Second class tickets are honored and the price of a berth, wide enough and big enough for two, is only $5.00. For a folder giving full particulars, call at the nearest B. & M. R. R. ticket office, or write to J. Francis, Gen'l Pass' Agent, Burlington Route, Omaha, Nebr. December 26-31.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is positive evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO. There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar. You may have a sample bottle and pamphlet both sent free by mail. Mention THE TRIBUNE and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The proprietor of this paper guarantees the genuineness of this offer. April 2-1 yr.
