George Scott, an old Burlington employe at Tecumseh, has been transferred to McCook.

Mrs. Adolphus Mangless went down to Indianola, last Saturday evening, to visit relatives and friends.

R. D. Pollard, tax agent, of Omaha, was out on the Western division, first of the week, on business of his important office.

J. G. Dole of the round house force spent Thursday with the family in Bartley, going down on Wednesday evening.

V. H. Solliday went out on No. 5, Monday evening, as conductor, in place of Bronson, who was out on a short hunting expedition.

The Santa Fe road is the first to light its cars with electricity. The electricity is generated from the journals.

The directors of the Burlington company have declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1 per cent, payable December 1.

Agent George Leming and wife of Gillette arrived in Red Cloud, Monday of last week, and are visiting relatives and friends there.

Extra brakeman J. F. Custer returned from Superior, Saturday, from filling a lay-off of a few days for a switchman down there.

A. J. Washburn has returned to Alliance and gone to work for the company in his old position of section boss of the section east of that place.

Of the Burlington company's 38,000 freight cars, 24,000 are already provided with the patent couplers and air brakes as provided by the inter-state commerce law.

Mrs. C. M. Bailey and the children arrived home on No. 5, Saturday evening, from Illinois, where they were called some weeks since by the illness of her mother, an account of whose death was given in last week's TRIBUNE.

On the first of the month the headquarters of the Burlington Voluntary Relief will be moved into the rear rooms upstairs in the old Farmers and Merchants bank building. Dr. Waters thinks he will have quite convenient and roomy quarters.

To a Santa Fe engineer who believes that brevity is the soul of wit, the origin is attributed the honor of producing a parody on Finnigan's celebrated report to the roadmaster. The engineer's effort is: "Engine Two, Busted Flue, What'll I do, Donahue."

John McNeff was down from Sheridan, Wyoming, first of the week, where he has been located for the past four or five weeks. While here he placed his children under the care of Mrs. Tim. Hannan. He is now an engineer running between Sheridan and Billings. He left for Sheridan Wednesday morning.

The tourist sleeping cars that have been so popular on Pacific coast roads for many years are gradually making their way toward the Atlantic coast. A few of them have been run as far east as Chicago for some time, and now a line has been opened through to Boston and New York. There is nothing in the tourist car to draw patronage away from the palace cars except the price. That is an important consideration on journeys extending as far as half way across the continent.

Engineer Harris' family is back again from Republican City.

The repairs on the Episcopal parsonage are rapidly approaching completion, and the same will soon be occupied by Night Agent Scott.

Mrs. C. O. LEHEW and children and Miss Fannie Montague departed on Monday evening for Hastings, where they will reside in the future.

Engineer McKay has moved over into his West McCook residence. His Marshall street house is now occupied by Mr. Spencer, a late arrival from Oxford.

The Mexican Central has just put on the road a very heavy and powerful new freight engine. It is intended for mountain work and is one of the heaviest on any American road. Its cylinders are 21 inches in diameter with a 20-inch stroke. The heating surface is 2,803 square feet. The steam pressure is 180 pounds. The total weight is 193,450 pounds. Its drive wheels are 49 inches in diameter. The length of tender and engine is 61 feet and 4 1/4 inches. It will haul 210 tons up a 3 per cent grade, representing a total weight of 355 tons.

Collier's Weekly, Nov. 25.

The editor of this excellent illustrated journal announces that the distinguished novelist, Mr. Henry James, has completed a serial story, "The Turn of the Screw," that is shortly to appear in its columns. The story, it is said, is to be one of Mr. James' most powerful works, while preserving the distinction of style that has made him famous. It deals, it is said, with some of the aspects of the supernatural. The regular staff of Collier's includes already a brilliant array of literary names: Edgar Saltus, Julian Hawthorne, Edgar Fawcett, and John Habberton are a few of its regular contributors. During the coming year this journal, according to its editorial announcement, is about to enlarge its already sufficiently varied and ambitious scope. The illustrations are to be put on a higher level than before and several new literary departments to be inaugurated. Such a programme will undoubtedly attract the attention of the intelligent reading public, who are quick to seize upon what is best in both literature and art.

Collier's Weekly, Nov. 18.

The current number of Collier's Weekly is replete with matter of interest to lovers of literature. The staff of this able journal is composed of writers of the first rank. The editorials are always forceful and scholarly, the fiction excellent, the illustrations timely and artistic. Edgar Saltus and Julian Hawthorne contribute paragraphic comments of incisive interest, and Edgar Fawcett writes from London of the topics, literary and social, that agitate the English capital. The cartoon by Sonntag illustrative of the Cuban Situation and our stand with regard to filibustering throws graphic light on this much-mooted question. The editor of Collier's announces a new short story by Henry James as soon forthcoming, with others by Zangwill and writers of like prominence to follow. Also weekly articles on Books, the Drama, Fashion, and Finance. We look forward with interest to these developments of this ambitious and entertaining weekly.

The City Council.

The city fathers were in session, Monday evening, and disposed of the following business: L. W. McConnell was appointed, confirmed and took the oath of office as councilman for the first ward, vice E. C. McKay, who has removed from the ward and whose office was declared vacant. Salary claims of Ed. Jor-560 and C. G. Coglizer $50 were allowed, and the fire department claim of $22 was also allowed. The report of street commissioner was accepted and placed on file. $300 were transferred from the fire fund to the general fund and $74.74 from the city hall fund to the general fund. The city hall fund was discontinued. Ordinance 71, for the general government of the city cemetery, was passed.

Christmas With an Emperor.

The Ladies' Home Journal tells how the German Emperor, with the Empress and the Royal family, spend Christmas Day with their children. The article is written by Mr. Nagel von Brawe, an attaché of the Court, who was permitted to be present at the celebration last Christmas in order to write this article. The pictures were made "on the spot" and approved by the Emperor.
