

An eloquent essay on "Edmund Burke and His Abiding Influence," by J. O'Connor Power, constitutes one of the most interesting numbers in the North American Review's table of contents for December. This year, which marks the centenary of the death of Edmund Burke, seems a fitting occasion to draw renewed attention to one who may be styled "the greatest of imperial statesmen," and whose influence has been a constant and increasing force in British politics.

"MY WIFE'S LIFE."

How I was the means of saving it.

When the lungs are attacked and the symptoms of consumption appear, then begins the struggle between affection and that destroying disease which slays its thousands annually. It is a happy issue to the struggle when disease is conquered and health restored. Such an issue does not always end the struggle, but it did in the case of Mr. K. Morris, Memphis, Tenn., who saw his wife wasting and weakening and physicians helpless, and then suggested the simple remedy that brought the cure. He tells the story thus:

"Seven years ago, my wife had a severe attack of lung trouble which the physicians pronounced consumption. The cough was extremely distressing, especially at night, and was frequently attended with the spitting of blood. The doctors being unable to help her, I induced her to try Dr. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and was surprised at the great relief it gave. Before using one whole bottle she was cured, so that now she is strong and quite healthy. That this medicine saved my wife's life I have not the least doubt. I always keep Dr. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in the house. Whenever any of my family have a cold or cough we use it, and are promptly cured."—K. MORRIS, Memphis, Tenn.

"The boss doesn't seem quite himself today." "Yes, he's all right; I just now asked him for a raise in salary and didn't get it."—Chicago Record.

The Last Man On Earth
To recklessly experiment upon himself with hope of relief is the dyspeptic. Yet the nostrums for this malady are as the sands of the sea, and presumably about as efficacious. Indigestion, that obstinate malady, even if long perpetually, is eventually overcome with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, an appetizing tonic and alternative, which cures constipation, fever and ague, bilious remittent, rheumatism, kidney complaint and febrility.

The Boy: "I've got you on a string at last." The Kite: "Yes, that's what makes me soar."—Chicago News.

SONG WAS INAPPROPRIATE.

Choir Sang Hymn at Variance With Pastor's Sermon.
From the Brooklyn Eagle: In one of our largest churches last evening the pastor, one of the ablest and most eloquent preachers in the United States, delivered a sermon based on the following text: "How precious are thy thoughts unto me, O God! How great is the sum of them! If I should count them, they are more in number than the sand; when I awake, I am still with thee."—Psalms cxxxix, 17-18. The sermon seemed to make a deep impression upon the attentive congregation, and the closing words of the speaker were peculiarly solemn, having reference to the uninterrupted presence of God, even through sleep and at waking in the morning. The musical director, who regards himself as a large quantity on the philosophy and dramatic effect of music, instead of improvising a selection suited to the spirit of the sermon, simply and with unintelligence, accorded to his programme and the quartet sang in excellent style, "How long, O Lord, wilt thou forget me?" This inquisitive sentence, varied by the more solicitous inquiry, "How long wilt thou hide thyself from me?" was the musical wail that followed the profound pastoral assurance of God's omnipotence, goodness, omnipresence, omniscience and perfect holiness, attributes that are ever active and at no time nor under any circumstances beyond the vision of man. And yet if that pastor would hint at such a ludicrous picture he might be accused of meddling.

PLOVERS RESTING AT SEA.

Pacific Coast Captain Sees Several Swimming Far from Land.
From the San Francisco Call: Up to within a few days of the arrival here from Honolulu of the Oceanic Steamship Company's steamer Australis, Captain Houdlette was the owner of a plover that came aboard while on its way from Alaska to Hawaii. These birds are not web footed, and the captain seems to have solved the problem as to whether they ever rest on the water during their long flight. Captain Houdlette says they do. "It was during the run from San Francisco to Honolulu that I saw several plovers in the water resting," says he. "When the steamer came too near they would rise out of the water with a few flaps of their wings, but, being very tired, they would soon settle back into the water again. In its efforts to get away one of them came on board and I lived until a few days ago. I always thought the birds made a continuous flight of over 2,000 miles, but I am now satisfied that the birds rest on the waves when tired."

Telegraph in the Suez Canal.
A most ingenious system is employed by which the director of the Suez canal can tell at a glance the exact position of all vessels passing through it. A model is placed in the office at Port Said and the whole canal is worked from headquarters by means of the telegraph, the position of each ship being marked by a figure on the model. It is thus made easy to arrange for vessels passing each other.

Seven Million Dollars in Fish Waste.
In the United States the fisheries are worth about forty-five million dollars a year. The fish refuse is so economically and ingeniously utilized in the preparation of oils, glues, fertilizers, etc., that these conquests of waste realize about one-seventh, or fourteen per cent., of the total income from the fisheries.

All Royalty Related.
Nearly all the royal personages of Europe are cousins, and not very far removed, as it has been laid down by a German genealogist that every crowned head of Europe, excepting Turkey, is descended from one or other of two sisters, who lived about 150 years ago.

An Indication.
"Has Dr. Pillington much of a practice?" "I guess not. The books in his reception room are almost as clean as they were when they came from the shops."

Polar Fox Changes Its Color.
The summer coat of the polar fox is dark, almost black. In winter it is so white that the animal can hardly be seen as it runs over the snow.

POPULAR SCIENCE.
A procession of icebergs sent against the surface of the sun would melt at the rate of three hundred million cubic miles of solid ice a second, and its heat is estimated to produce a force of about ten thousand-horse power to every square foot of its surface.

Every child born alive one-fourth die before eleven months, one-third before the twenty-third month, half before their eighth year, two-thirds of mankind die before the thirty-ninth year, three-fourths before their fifty-first year, and of about twelve thousand only one survives a whole century.

DIPHTHERIA IN WISCONSIN.

Fifty-Three Deaths in One Small Town in Less Than Four Weeks.
A preventive and cure for diphtheria, croup, tonsillitis, quincy and all throat troubles recently placed upon the market has achieved such marvelous success as to greatly stir up the medical fraternity. Its power over diphtheria seems almost miraculous, as it stops its spread as it by magic.

Grantsburg, Wisconsin, population less than four hundred, was visited by a terrible epidemic of diphtheria, during which fifty-three of its inhabitants died in less than four weeks. After much urging by the friends of Mucosolvent, the authorities decided to use it, and thereupon telegraphed for a large supply, which arrived the next day at 4 o'clock, and by 6 o'clock every man, woman and child in Grantsburg were taking Mucosolvent, with the result that not another death occurred, whereas, up to the very hour its use was commenced, not a day, for two weeks, had passed without from one to five deaths. Many other epidemics have been quickly stamped out by Mucosolvent, notably at Madison, Polaris, Winneconne and Neenah, Wisconsin.

We earnestly advise every mother to procure Mucosolvent and keep it in the house ready for prompt use for every ill, however slight, especially if accompanied with sore throat, cough or cold, and thus, in many instances, prevent diphtheria or some other serious ailment the presence of which is not even suspected. Pleasant to take. It can be procured by sending the price $1.00 per bottle to the Mucosolvent Company, 356 Dearborn street, Chicago, upon receipt of which they will send it, charges prepaid.

They will upon application, send free a book of forty pages entitled "Chats with Mothers," which every mother should read. They desire agents and the right person (woman preferred) can secure exclusive agency in their town.—Chicago Opinion.

A number of Chicago clergymen are strongly urging Miss Jane Adams of Hull House, in that city, to become a regularly ordained minister. In speaking of the matter Miss Adams says: "I do not see the advantage to my work if I were ordained. I help pulpits on Sunday, and this does not interfere with my work here. I have spoken at Jenkin Lloyd Jones' church, I have helped Dr. Thomas and others. I can do this any Sunday and am glad to be able to help. But I am not certain about the advantage to be gained if I were ordained a preacher."
