MOORE A FREE MAN.

THE OPINION OF THE SUPREME COURT HANDED DOWN.

The Charge of Embezzlement is Dismissed and the Ex-Auditor is Given His Liberty—A Majority of the Justices Concur, Judge Sullivan Alone Dissenting.

The Moore Case Settled. The supreme court on the 16th handed down a decision in the case of ex-State Auditor Eugene Moore, reversing the judgment of the district court of Lancaster county, in which he was held to be guilty of embezzling $23,208.05 money received by him as state auditor as fees from insurance companies, and which he had failed to turn over.

Moore, after serving for four years as state auditor, was short some $28,000 when he went out of office in January, 1897. He paid $4,500, reducing the shortage to the first named sum. The money had been received as fees from insurance companies.

The syllabus of the majority opinion is as follows: Moore vs. State, syllabus—Article 5, section 24, of the constitution providing that the officers of the executive department "shall not receive to their own use any fees, costs, interest on public moneys in their hands or in their control, perquisites of office, or other compensation, and all fees that may hereafter be payable by law for services to be performed by an officer, provided for in this article of the constitution, shall be paid in advance into the state treasury," not only prohibits such officers from receiving such fees to their own use, but also prohibits all executive officers except state treasurer from receiving fees at all, and requires the payment in advance into the state treasury by the persons by whom they are payable.

Second—Compiled statutes, chapter 43, section 32, adopted in 1873, and relating to fees paid by insurance companies for services performed by the auditor, was so far modified by the constitution of 1875 as to require such fees to be paid in advance into the treasury and to prohibit the auditor from receiving them.

Third—When the penal statute is made to apply only to a certain class of persons, the description of the class is so far descriptive of the offense, and that the person charged is within the class is a substantive element of the crime itself.

Fourth—Section 124 of the criminal code, relating to the embezzlement of public moneys, applies only to officers or persons charged by law with the collection, receipt safe keeping, transfer or disbursement of public money, and those who aid or abet such officers or persons.

Fifth—The auditor of public accounts is not as such officer charged with the collection, receipt, safe keeping, transfer or disbursement of any part of the public moneys, and he is, therefore, not within the descriptive terms of section 124 of the criminal code.

Sixth—In order to punish one for a crime, the offense must be within the plain import of these words of the statute creating or defining the crime. An offense not within the words cannot be adjudged a crime because within the reason or spirit; and this principle cannot be evaded by holding that one performing acts which are denounced as a crime when committed by a particular class of persons, is stopped from denying that he is within that class.

The court holds that the doctrine of estoppel is not rightly invoked in the present case. The decision also emphasizes the rule that executive officers of the state have no right to collect fees for services performed by them as such officers, but that these fees must be paid to the state treasurer.

Judge Sullivan dissents from this, and in his opinion agrees with the others that the constitution which prohibits executive state officers from receiving fees not only repeals that part of the old statute which authorized the auditor to appropriate the insurance fees to his own use, and that it also repeals that portion of the statute which authorizes him to receive such fees for any purpose.

Charged With Horse Stealing. Gordon dispatch: Sheriff Joz Haezen of Converse county, Wyoming, is here in search of Lish Casbolt, wanted on the charge of stealing horses. Casbolt escaped three weeks ago, when wanted for counterfeiting, but returned and has this latter charge against him. Mastin Burnett, a brother-in-law, is said to be implicated and the sheriff has wired his deputy at Lusk, Wyo., to arrest Burnett there. The horses were stolen there, brought here and disposed of. The others were stolen here from Robert Trleson and taken up to Wyoming. Casbolt cannot be found. The horses in each instance have been located.

New Supreme Court Rules. The supreme court has announced and published several important changes in the rules governing the practice in that court. One of the most important, probably, and that of the greatest interest to attorneys and litigants is the addition in section 3 to rule 2 by which defendants in error can obtain an advancement of cases brought up for delay.

A Bank Robber Confesses. St. Paul dispatch: Otiss Anselen, the man arrested in Kansas City several months ago on suspicion of being implicated in the robbery of the Howard bank at Boelus last summer, was arranged in district court and pleaded guilty to the crime of burglary as charged in the complaint. He was sentenced by Judge Kendall to three and one-half years in the penitentiary and will be taken to Lincoln at once. Detective Tillotson, who made the capture is still camping on the trail of Anselen's accomplices and expects to bring them to justice shortly.

BOARD OF REGENTS.

Business Transacted at the Session Held in Lincoln.

The Board of Regents of the state university were in session at Lincoln last week. There were present President C. H. Morrill of Lincoln, Thomas Rawlings of Wakefield, Charles Weston of Hay Springs, H. L. Goold of Ogallala, E. von Forell of Kearney and George F. Kenower of Wisner. Regents von Forell and Kenower, the successors of Messrs. Kaley and Hadley, sat for the first time.

The committees of the board were appointed as follows: Executive, Morrill, Weston, Rawlings; finance, Goold, Kenower, von Forell; courses of study, Rawlings, Weston, von Forell; building committee, President Morrill, Chancellor MacLean, Regents Rawlings and Goold and J. S. Dales; university and library, Goold, Kenower, Watson.

Prof. Card, having received a call to the College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts in Rhode Island at a great increase in salary, presented his resignation, which was accepted by the board.

In the matter of hog cholera experiments on the station farm, protests and petitions were presented from residents near the farm. After deliberation the regents decided that, as no diseased animals were to be taken to the farm and as there was good authority to believe that no hog cholera would ensue from the experiments inasmuch as proper quarantine precautions were to be used, they would proceed with the experiments.

The co-operation of the United States and the importance of these experiments to the people of the state made this seem to be a just case as well as a safe one. Regent Morrill and the chancellor were continued as a committee upon the subject and were authorized to confer with Mr. Charles Walker as to conducting a part of the experiments.

Upon the recommendation of the faculties concerned, the regents voted the following degrees: For bachelor of arts, Mrs. Kittie Shackleton Holmes, Lincoln; Otto William Meier, Crete; Alvin Eugene Peto, Red Cloud; Albert A. Reed, Crete; Clara Schueller, Clay Center; Anna Lucille Taylor, Lincoln; Robert Milton Thomas, Wilber; Charles William Wallace, Lincoln. For bachelor of science, Harold Townsend Weaver, Schuyler. For bachelor of science in electrical engineering, Daniel Crosby Hale, Paid City, S. D.

For master of arts, Mrs. Ada Irwin Atkinson, B. L., '79, Lincoln; Albert David Brewer, A. B., '95, Iowa college, Grinnell, Ia.

It was ordered that the same preparatory studies that have been carried this year on account of the suspension of the free attendance high school law be carried during the succeeding year.

Regent von Forell introduced the subject of the further organization and development of the School of Agriculture. A special committee, consisting of Regents von Forell, Kenower and Goold and Prof. Lyon, was appointed to report upon the subject at the next meeting of the Board of Regents.

It was voted that 1 cent, St. Louis receive $500 a year from the university.

Peculiar Disease of Hogs. Rising City dispatch: A farmer three miles west of this place, who has about 200 head of hogs, has been losing three to four of them daily for a number of weeks from a disease with some peculiar characteristics. On taking the disease the hog discharges urine of the color of tobacco juice and of a slimy consistency. This continues for a short time, when the hog ceases to eat, becomes listless and mopy, and finally about a day before dying gives away in the back and lies down, apparently enduring more or less pain till death comes. So far as known other herds in this vicinity have not been troubled with the disease and no explanation as to what it is has thus far been forthcoming.

Hanged in a Prison Cell. Falls City dispatch: Sheriff Tinker met with an unexpected surprise when he opened the jail doors last evening to feed his only prisoner for the day, hanging by the neck, dead, was Joseph Holecek, who was awaiting trial for the murder of his wife near Humboldt a short time ago.

Holecek was 52 years of age and the crime that he had committed was of such atrocious character that he could not hope to escape the severest penalty of the law, and he seized the first opportunity that presented itself to take his own life.

A Curious Suit. A case being tried in the district court at Lincoln involves a curious claim for damages. John Lefterdink and A. E. Vanderburg were walking toward each other on a street and as they approached both turned aside in the same direction and collided with each other. Vanderburg was the heavier of the two and came out of the collision in the best shape. Lefterdink is bringing suit for $5,000 damages.

Fruit Growers Should Be Active. While the fruit growers of other states, says the Omaha Bee, are making great preparations for displays at the Trans-Mississippi Exposition, the horticulturists of Nebraska must be hastening themselves, Nebraska fruit, though not as well known in the markets as the fruit of some neighboring states, is much finer than it is given credit for and this fact can easily be made plain at the exposition.

Differences All Adjusted. At the annual meeting of the Grand Army of the Republic posts and Relief Corps, held in Norfolk, the differences between the members of Sedgwick post No. 1 and the Women's Relief corps of Kearney seem to have been adjusted, and Mrs. Anna Bell, president of Sedgwick Relief corps No. 1, is in receipt of an order from the department president countermarching the order to revoke their charter, and the corps has been again placed in good standing. It is believed now that the whole matter has been amicably settled and finally disposed of.

NOT A JOINT INQUIRY

UNCLE SAM WILL LOOK AFTER THE MATTER.

The Authorities at Havana Will Be Accorded Facilities to Examine the Wreck on Their Own Account—Capt Sigsbee Will Direct Operations—Authorized Divers Will Do the Work.

Investigating the Ship. WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Secretary Long and Assistant Day of the State department had an interview with the president which lasted nearly an hour. Mr. Day read a telegram from Consul General Lee at Havana transmitting a request from the Spanish authorities in Cuba that the Spanish officials be permitted to join with our people in making an investigation into the cause of the disaster to the Maine. The matter was discussed at considerable length and the conclusion was reached that while this government is willing to afford the Spanish authorities all reasonable facilities for conducting an investigation, yet it is thought best the first inquiry shall be made by our own commissioners. The request of the Spanish authorities therefore will be respectfully declined.

The request of the Spanish government for permission to examine the wreck of the Maine reached the State department through the following message from Consul General Lee at Havana: "Sigsbee begins tomorrow with divers sent him from the United States to recover all the bodies still left in the wreck of the Maine, as well as personal effects of officers and men and whatever else can be obtained that way. After that is completed the Spanish government would like to unite with ours in having the bottom of the ship and harbor in the vicinity jointly examined."

The following is the answer sent from Washington: "The government of the United States has already begun an investigation as to the causes of the disaster to the Maine, through officers of the navy especially appointed for that purpose, which will proceed indefinitely. This government will afford every facility it can to the Spanish authorities in whatever investigation they may see fit to make upon their part."

The apparent difficulty attending the sending down of the divers to the Maine was relieved, if not entirely removed, by a statement today by Senor du Bose, charge d'affaires of the Spanish legation, that a complete and harmonious understanding between Captain Sigsbee and the authorities at Havana had been reached on the matter of divers and that the Spanish authorities viewed the Maine as extra-territorial, that is, a part of the sovereign territory of the United States, the same as a United States legation situated in foreign territory. With the Maine holding its status as extra-territorial, all doubts as to the work on the wreck was removed.

The waters of Havana harbor are, of course, Spanish territory, and some confusion has been aroused by the idea that this jurisdiction over the waters attached also to the wreck in its present helpless condition in the bottom of the bay. It appears, however, that there is no disposition to extend this jurisdiction to the ship and that the Spanish authorities freely assent to the Maine being regarded as extra-territorial, and under the immediate direction of Captain Sigsbee, as representative of the United States. According to the view taken by the Spanish authorities there can be no trouble attending the work of the divers.

Captain Sigsbee will be recognized as the one to direct operations and to send down the government divers for such inspection as he sees proper to make. Mr. du Bose feels assured however, that Captain Sigsbee will extend equal facilities to the Spanish divers, so that the inspection will proceed together. As to what divers Captain Sigsbee will employ, the feeling among the Spanish officials here is that this will be wholly a matter of discretion with Captain Sigsbee as the one in charge of a piece of property having the attributes of American soil. But at the same time the feeling is expressed that this discretion will lead to the choice of authorized divers of the navy department rather than those representing newspapers.

Feeling Bitter for Alaska. ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Feb. 21.—It is predicted that at least ten carloads of burros will be shipped out of New Mexico for the Alaskan gold fields on the opening of spring. It is learned that Steve Naughton, otherwise known as "Gummy sack Riley," has made a trip to the village of Igloolik for the purpose of buying up all spare burros of that village from the Pueblo Indians. "Gummy sack Riley" is a character, but he is popular among the Indians. Yesterday C. T. Brown, a liverman of Socorro, bought a carload of burros from Eutimio Montoya and will ship them to Alaska.

Oxnard and Annexation Treaty. WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Henry T. Oxnard, president of the Beet Sugar company of Nebraska and California, is considerably worked up over the position assumed by the Nebraska annexationists in relation to the Hawaiian treaty. He emphatically says that they are wrong when they assert that the annexation of Hawaii would not affect the beet sugar interests in Nebraska.

Lawlessness in Alaska. WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Secretary Bliss is in receipt of a letter from Governor Brady, of Alaska, descriptive of the lawless condition of affairs at Skagway and Dyea. It was referred to the cabinet meeting today when Alaskan affairs were under discussion, and was considered sufficient justification by the members for the dispatch of additional military force already authorized to be sent to Alaskan territory.

Leiter has not disposed of his wheat; he is waiting for a rise.

GENERAL NEWS AND NOTES.

Some photographic experiments at a distance of ten or twelve feet under water were successfully carried out in the bay of Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. The camera was carried by a diver and the light was supplied by an electric lamp carried in the diver's headpiece. Senator Burrows, while riding to the capitol on a car recently, was looking over a prepared speech, when he suddenly realized that he was delivering it aloud, to the great amusement of the other passengers. Mr. Burrows was so embarrassed that he got off the car and took the next one.

A Washington physician has moved into a new house, one of the finest in that city. He calls it the dotted veil house. When people seemed surprised he explains. The money to build the mansion was accumulated from fees which were earned in the treatment of eyes injured by the wearing of dotted veils.

The roof of the Australian museum at Sydney, which had been destroyed by termites, or "white ants," had to be replaced with a covering composed largely of steel and copper. Recently it was discovered that these destructive little creatures had also ruined the underpinning of one of the important floors of the museum. The work of the termite is peculiar in that it is carried on in the interior of the timber and does not reveal itself until the structure is about to fall to pieces.

Major S. K. Hooper of the Denver & Rio Grande railway, is receiving communications from different parts of Colorado asking him to take decisive steps toward paving the way for a grand patriotic demonstration in Denver in 1903, in honor of the purchase of Louisiana, of which Colorado was a part. He says: "There is no doubt that a celebration will be held. Whether it is held in Denver depends on the people of this city. I will not undertake to assume the responsibility of calling a meeting to consider the subject. The convention and excursion committee of the chamber of commerce is the body which should take the initiative. Of one thing, however, we may be assured, and that is a celebration will be held somewhere within the limits of the Louisiana purchase. It will be a grand affair, and the city that secures the prize will reap large benefits."

The Grosvenor bill for the arbitration of labor disputes has been reported back to the house with amendments by the labor committee. The amendments require the arbitration board to commence their hearings within five days from the date of the appointment of the third arbitrator, and to file their award in twenty days therefrom, and, pending the arbitration, the status existing immediately prior to the dispute shall not be changed. Similar bills, though not as complete in their provisions, have twice passed the house, but too late for action by the senate. The present bill makes the commissioner of labor and the chairman of the interstate commerce commission a board of conciliation in controversies as to wages, hours of labor or employment conditions between a carrier and its employees, to seek to reach an amicable settlement through communication with the parties to the case, failing which they are to bring about arbitration by submitting the matter to a board of three persons, one appointive by each side, the third by these two.

Secretary Wilson, of the agricultural department, has returned to Washington from a visit to Florida, where he went at the suggestion of the president to study the production of that crop. The secretary says: "The most striking development I found in Florida was the growth of the tobacco industry. Within the last few years 40,000 Cubans have come over from their native country, many of whom had been lifelong tobacco growers. I also looked upon the orange industry and believe that there is no tropical belt in Florida. Frost will come occasionally and injure the fruit, but protection might be had for the Florida orange, as it sells very high, compared with the fruit from any other country." In conclusion, Secretary Wilson expresses the opinion that straight farm work will be of more value to the people than raising tobacco, sugar cane, vegetables, etc., and that the such industries of the state would be dairying, cattle raising, sheep raising, bacon hog raising, etc.
