Badly Hurt.

A bad runaway took place on Commercial street last night about 9 o'clock. Dick Hanlein was out riding with Misses Edith Knittle and Barbara Schottler; and, as he passed the Sixth avenue corner of Commercial street, their horse became frightened and plunged down the street at a furious rate. When just in front of Newman & Co.'s store, the horse jumped up into buggy belonging to a farmer named Spencer and smashed it to pieces. Hanlein and the two girls were thrown out of their buggy on to the sidewalk. Hanlein was stunned and the girls were both badly injured. Miss Knittle, in particular, sustained very severe injuries about her hips and shoulders. The young ladies were carried to the Mit-Way and medical aid was immediately summoned. They were later removed to their homes and are now resting easy. They will both recover.

The report that Hanlein deserted the girls when the smashup occurred is entirely without foundation. He was stunned so that he didn't know what he was doing for about ten minutes and while in this condition he walked away from the scene of the accident. This probably gave rise to the report that he had deserted the girls.—Emporia (Kan.) Republican, May 30th.

Enforce the Law.

The writer witnessed a scene in the Clyde saloon on Wednesday evening, that made the blood run swiftly and hot. It was the spectacle of a lad five or six years old dancing to exhaustion to the music and patting of a gang of scamps that ought to be on the stone pile. The father of the boy was among the gang, and the price the little fellow received for his dancing was a glass of beer, he being placed on the bar to drink the stuff, while the gang urged him on in the drinking. THE TRIBUNE calls attention to the fact that this was an open violation of the express language of the Slocum law and an outrage on humanity and a disgrace to this community.

Our Soldier Boys.

"Battalion" is the way the First Tennessee spelled it on the banners on their cars.

Knud Stangland and Earl Ludwick are applicants to enter the Third regiment band.

"Swipes" sends his photograph from San Francisco to J. H. Bennett. He is in full uniform and makes a fine looking soldier boy.

"There were more enthusiastic people to greet us at McCook than there were at our own home in Nashville, Tenn., when we left for the west," is the testimony of a number of soldiers.

T. B. Harris, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. James Harris, has enlisted in the regular army and is now at San Francisco, a member of the 23d infantry. He writes that he is all right and well treated.
