

R. P. High of Red Willow county is said to be a candidate for land commissioner, subject to the approval of the republican state convention. He is regarded as a dangerous competitor. — Lincoln Journal.

AS THE time approaches the logic of events points more and more clearly to the nomination of Hon. M. L. Hayward of Nebraska City for the office of governor on the Republican ticket. In fact his nomination is by many conceded. With Judge Hayward as the nominee the Republicans will enter the campaign with an able, clean and aggressive candidate at the head of the ticket, and with the battle half won. The judge is a "living epistle, known and read of all" Nebraskans, and needs no introduction or defense. He is magnificently equipped for the honors and duties of the governorship. He will be supported by Republicans with enthusiasm and fidelity. The rank and file of the party will take pride in voting and working for a man of high character, worth and ability like the judge.

IT is with mingled satisfaction and pleasure that THE TRIBUNE learns that R. P. High of Lebanon is being urged by his friends for the nomination of public lands and buildings, and that he has decided to allow his name to be used in that connection. An acquaintance with Mr. High covering more than a dozen years, a close observation and careful remembrance of his political career during that time, enables us to bear willing and reliable evidence to his stalwart Republicanism, which has been and is of the unswerving sort that has helped mightily in Red Willow county to hold the party in line during the years of fusion ascendancy. Mr. High is thoroughly equipped for the office, for, although a farmer by occupation, he is a business man par excellence and has carried his business methods into his farming with success. He is an energetic, wide-awake, up-to-date, business-like farmer; a man of individual force and independence of thought and action. He is not a patriot out of a job and seeking to get a place at the public trough because the party or country owes it to him. However, if he secures the nomination and is elected, he will give the state of Nebraska a fair, unbiased and business-like administration of the office of commissioner of public lands and buildings. There are no frills on Bob High, and by the same token there are no flies.

THE Anglo-Saxon character is being mightily developed for good by the present war for the independence of Cuba. The world is discovering that in the commercial American resides the latent material for the making of the most valorous and chivalrous knights that the world has ever seen. And the exhibition of the invincible efficiency of the American navy is a revelation that is simply paralyzing the average European. But back of the efficiency of the machine, be it army or naval, is the personnel of the American, the liberty-loving, God-serving, law-abiding citizen of the great republic, who loves to do justly and to walk humbly. The present war will bring the American out into the large, honorable and useful place that the American character and destiny have long deserved, and will give the Anglo-Saxon race an immeasurable impetus toward world-wide supremacy, commercial, governmental and linguistic. The America idea, its free schools, civil and religious liberty, the high moral character of its citizenship, the integral power and alertness of its people, its manifest destiny, all point to the fact that is but dawning on the world, namely, that America has a great and immortal message and lesson to bring to mankind, a message of better and nobler things for the people in all avenues of activity. Thus are we being revealed to the astonished world. It has never been more glorious to be a true American than just now.

R. P. High of Red Willow county, lately mentioned as a candidate for commissioner of public lands and buildings, is a farmer who has succeeded at his calling. He began life as a shoemaker and by his own exertions has made himself what he is. He is a good speaker, a man of fine appearance, and his friends believe he would make a splendid campaign. — Lincoln Journal.

THE cowardly action of the Cubans so far in the war for their own liberation and freedom proves the unerring wisdom of President McKinley in refusing to recognize them as belligerents. The president has not so far made a mistake or sounded a false note. His information has been uniformly accurate and events have but proven that his course has been correct in every detail. The Cubans have not only proven themselves to be cowards, but have shown the utmost unconcern and ingratitude in the face of the heroic deeds of their liberators. The Cuban is evidently unfit for full liberty and freedom or self-government. Uncle Sam has a greater task before him than many have thought. No man can be truly free who is unfit and unprepared for the enjoyment of that great boon, and the Cuban has not shown his preparedness for the blessing. His highest ambition now is to work out his revenge upon the captured Spaniards, and in this effort he will be effectually checkmated by America.
